MAMATA PROTESTS 'POST-POLL VIOLENCE'

Trinamool Congress supremo Mamata Banerjee on Tuesday held a dharna in central Kolkata to protest against alleged post-poll attacks on party workers and leaders following the BJP's victory in recent assembly elections. Banerjee asserted that she would not abandon TMC workers after the party's defeat in the recent assembly polls. However, only six out of 78 Trinamool Congress MLAs and five MPs turned up at the protest | P12

Dear Sir,

Sub: Notice issued under Section 13(2) of the Securitisation & Reconstruction of Financial Assets & Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002.

The undersigned being the Authorized Officer of Canara Bank ARM II Branch (hereinafter referred to as "the secured creditor"), appointed under the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002, (hereinafter referred as the "Act") do hereby issue this notice to you as under :

That M/s. Ansari Dyeing and Embroidery Represented by it's Proprietor Mr. Salim Javed (hereinafter referred to as "the Borrowers") has availed credit facility / facilities stated in the Schedule A hereunder and have entered into the security agreement/s in favour of the secured creditor. While availing the said financial assistance, you have expressly undertaken to repay the loan amount/s in accordance with the terms and conditions of the above-mentioned agreements.

That Mr. Mohammed Waseem Riyaz alias Mohammed Wasim Riaz and Late Wazeeruddin Ansari alias Wazeeruddin through legal heirs (hereinafter referred to as "the Guarantors"), guaranteed the payment on demand of all moneys and discharge all obligations and liabilities owing or incurred to the secured creditor by the Borrower for credit facilities (Fund based / Non-Fund Based) up to the limit of Rs. 1,20,00,000.0/- (Rupees One Crores Twenty Lakhs Only) with interest thereon as per sanction terms and condition.

You Mr. Mohammed Waseem Riyaz alias Mohammed Wasim Riaz and Late Wazeeruddin Ansari alias Wazeeruddin have entered into agreements against the secured assets which are detailed in Schedule B hereunder.

However, from 31.12.2018 the operation and conduct of the said financial assistance / credit facilities have become irregular. The books of account maintained by the secured assets shows that the liability of the Borrower towards the secured creditor as on 31.05.2026 amounts to Rs. 4,24,96,763.46 (Four Crores Twenty-Four Lakhs Ninety Six Thousand Seven Hundred and Sixty Three Rupees and Fouty Six paise only) plus further Interest and charges thereon, the details of which together with future interest rate are stated in Schedule C hereunder. It is further stated that the Borrower / Guarantor having failed to keep up with the terms of the above said agreement in clearing the dues of the secured creditor within the time given and have been evasive in settling the dues. The operation and conduct of the above said financial assistance / credit facility/ies having come to a standstill and as a consequence of the default committed in repayment of principal debt/ instalment and interest thereon, the secured creditor was constrained to classify the debt as Non-Performing Asset (NPA) as on 31.03.2019 in accordance with the directives/guidelines relating to asset classification issued by the Reserve Bank of India.

The secured creditor through this notice brings to your attention that the Borrower has failed and neglected to repay the said dues/ outstanding liabilities and hence hereby demand you under Section 13(2) of the Act, by issuing this notice to discharge in full the liabilities of the Borrower as stated in Schedule C hereunder to the secured creditor within 60 days from the date of receipt of this notice. Further, it is brought to your notice that you are also liable to pay future interest at the rate mentioned in Schedule C together with all costs, charges, expenses and incidental expenses with respect to the proceedings undertaken by the secured creditor in recovering its dues.

Please take note of the fact that if you fail to repay to the secured creditor the aforesaid sum Rs. 4,24,96,763.46 (Four Crores Twenty Four Lakhs Ninety Six Thousand Seven Hundred and Sixty Three Rupees and Fouty Six paise only) as on 31.05.2026 together with further interest (as stated in Schedule C) and incidental expenses and costs as stated above in terms of this notice under Section 13(2) of the Act, the secured creditor will exercise all or any of the rights detailed under sub-section (4)(a) and (b) of Section 13, the extract of which is given here below to convey the seriousness of this issue :

13(4)- In case the Borrower/Guarantor fails to discharge liability in full within the period specified in sub-section (2), the secured creditor may take recourse to one or more of the following measures to recover his secured debt, namely;

(a) Take possession of the secured assets of the Borrower/Guarantor including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realizing the secured asset;

(b) Take over the management of the business of the Borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realizing the secured asset:

Provided that the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale shall be exercised only where the substantial part of the business of the Borrower is held as security for the debt;

Provided further that where the management of whole of the business or part of the business is severable, the secured creditor shall take over the management of such business of the borrower which is relatable to the security for the debt and under other applicable provisions of the said Act.

Your attention is invited to provisions of sub-section (8) of Section 13 of the Act, in respect of time available, to redeem the secured assets.

You are also put on notice that in terms of Section 13(13) the Borrower / Guarantor shall not transfer by way of sale, lease or otherwise the said secured assets detailed in Schedule B hereunder without obtaining written consent of the secured creditor. It is further brought to your notice that any contravention of this statutory injunction/ restraint, as provided under the said Act, is an offence and if for any reason, the secured assets are sold or leased out in the ordinary course of business, the sale proceeds or income realized shall be deposited with the secured creditor. In this regard you shall have to render proper accounts of such realization / income.

This notice of Demand is without prejudice to and shall not be construed as waiver of any other rights or remedies which the secured creditor may have including further demands for the sums found due and payable by you.

This is without prejudice to any other rights available to the secured creditor under the Act and/or any other law in force.

Please comply with the demand under this notice and avoid all unpleasantness. In case of Non- compliance, further needful action will be resorted to, holding you liable for all costs and consequence.

Yours faithfully,
for Authorised Officer

INTERNET LOVES ARMY PILOT'S PROPOSAL TO PARTNER POST P.O.P

A newly qualified Army pilot proposed to his girlfriend right after his graduation ceremony in Nashik — with a helicopter as the backdrop

TO NEW BEGINNINGS AFTER TOUGH TRAINING

The video spread quickly online, with people responding to how genuine and unscripted the whole thing felt. Captain Bharat Bhardwaj called it a "love ka salute" — and joked that while officers give and receive salutes at work, back home, the wife is in charge. For the Captain, the day marked the end of a tough professional journey, and the start of a new one

Finally, CBSE heads roll

Board Chairman Rahul Singh and Secretary Himanshu Gupta shifted, replaced with Lokhande Prashant Sitaram & Varun Bhardwaj, respectively; OSM system probe ordered

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

IN a major administrative shake-up following controversy over the CBSE's new digital evaluation system for Class XII board examinations, the Centre on Tuesday removed CBSE Chairman Rahul Singh and Secretary Himanshu Gupta with immediate effect and ordered a high-level inquiry into the procurement of the On-Screen Marking (OSM) system used for evaluating answer sheets. The government also announced the constitution of a one-member committee headed by S Radha Chauhan, Chairperson of the Capacity Building Commission, to investigate the award and procurement of services related to the OSM platform. It directed the committee to submit its report to the Department of Personnel and Training within a month.

According to the official order, Chauhan has been authorised to seek assistance from officials of other departments during the inquiry, while the Capacity Building Commission will provide secretarial support. The action came hours after the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Education held a meeting with senior officials of the CBSE and the Ministry of Education to review complaints surrounding the implementation of the digital marking system.

Later, the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet appointed Lokhande Prashant Sitaram, a 2001 batch IAS officer as the new CBSE Chairperson. Varun Bhardwaj, Indian Information Service officer of 2008 batch was appointed the Board's secretary.

While Rahul Singh was transferred as Additional Secretary in the Department of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Gupta was sent back to parent cadre with the 'extended period of cooling off'.

Controversy erupted after the declaration of Class XII results on May 13, with students and parents alleging widespread discrepancies in evaluation, technical glitches, delays in verification and re-evaluation processes, and lack of transparency in the OSM system.

While student Sidhant Sartak alleged that three tenders were rigged to favour Hyderabad-based Coempt EduTeck Pvt Ltd in the award of the OSM contract, the CBSE in its pushback submitted a report to the committee, defending the implementation of the system. It also said that portal-related glitches had been rectified. The controversy deepened after another student, Vedant Shrivastava, claimed that CBSE had uploaded and evaluated another candidate's answer sheet under his name.

A denial of service attack attempt caused 1.5 mn hits on the CBSE re-evaluation portal within 2 mins and over 1 lakh bids of unauthorised file access

CBSE statement

'OSM tenders rigged to favour firm'

Sidhant Sartak, 17, made a detailed presentation before a Parliamentary Standing Committee, alleging that at least 15 changes were made across three tenders to favour Hyderabad-based Coempt EduTeck Pvt Ltd over Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) in the award of the OSM contract. His presentation was made in the presence of senior CBSE officials | P11

Major cyber attack as revaluation portal for Class XII opens

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

MALICIOUS actors attempted to disrupt services on the Central Board of Secondary Education's (CBSE) Class XII re-evaluation portal through a barrage of cyber attacks on Tuesday, the day it became operational. The Board shared the information after complaints from thousands of students since early morning that they were unable to login to the portal.

An official statement from the Board said that the portal currently supports usage by 8,000 concurrent users and a total of 16,000 had successfully completed their submissions for re-evaluation of marks by 3 pm. "While thousands of students accessed the CBSE re-evaluation portal today, malicious actors attempted to disrupt services through a barrage of cyberattacks. Most recent being a denial of service attack attempt causing 1.5 million hits on the portal within a matter of 2 minutes and more than 1 lakh attempts of unauthorised file access."

Screengrab of students failing to login to the portal

The platform has been further refined by the CBSE based on student feedback, it said. Session time limits have been extended to make the process more convenient and seamless, it added.

There was enormous criticism from students over the need for Aadhaar verification. In another statement, the CBSE said, "Aadhaar Verification has been included for security reasons." It also clarified that in the case of children who do not have this document, the parent's, relative's or guardian's Aadhaar details may be used. "In this case, the Aadhaar Name, Date of birth and Gender must be of the person whose Aadhaar number is used," it added.

The portal was finally opened to begin the revaluation process early in the day with the Board announcing it at 4.42 am on its social media handles.

Stage set for DKS' swearing-in, 10-15 ministers to take oath

PREETHA NAIR & DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @New Delhi/Bengaluru

THE stage is set for the swearing-in of 64-year-old DK Shivakumar as the 18th chief minister of Karnataka at 4.05pm on Wednesday along with 10 to 15 ministers, sources said. The swearing-in ceremony will be held at Lok Bhavan's Glass House where the oaths will be administered by Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot.

The grand ceremony follows a day after Shivakumar and Siddaramaiah held extensive discussions on Tuesday with AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge, Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, Congress General Secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal and AICC General Secretary in-charge of Karnataka Randeep Singh Surjewala, to finalise the composition of the new cabinet.

The meeting saw the Congress high command weighing in various options to ensure equitable distribution of ministerial berths for loyalists of Shivakumar, Kharge and Siddaramaiah. It was last Thursday that Siddaramaiah vacated the CM's chair after a marathon meeting in New Delhi and the message that he had to hand over the gaddi was conveyed to him by Rahul.

Among those likely to be inducted into the cabinet are KJ George, Dr G Parameshwara, Ramalinga Reddy, Krishna Byregowda, UT Khader, Mallanagouda Basanagouda Patil, Satish Jarkiholi, Priyank Kharge, Dr Yathindra Siddaramaiah, Laxmi Hebbalkar and either KH Muniyappa or his daughter Roopakala Shashidhar. Some sources said Hebbalkar may not make the cut in the first list.

The names of former ministers Dinesh Gundu Rao and Eshwar Khandre are also doing the rounds. P6

Preparations under way for the swearing-in of DK Shivakumar as chief minister, in Bengaluru on Tuesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Siddu appointed CWC member

A day before DK Shivakumar took oath as chief minister, outgoing CM Siddaramaiah was on Tuesday appointed a member of the Congress Working Committee (CWC), which is the party's highest decision-making body. AICC General Secretary KC Venugopal announced the appointment on Tuesday. According to the press note, AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge appointed Siddaramaiah as CWC member with immediate effect. Earlier, Siddaramaiah had refused a Rajya Sabha seat offered by the party.

'As a child, he would keep playing till he won'

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

AS a child growing up in Doddalahalli, a village about 80 km from Bengaluru, Shivakumar refused to head home until he won the game he was playing with his friends.

Decades later, that same unwavering spirit has propelled 'Kanakapura Bande' or 'DK-Shi', as he is fondly called, from Doddalahalli to the pinnacle of Karnataka politics, as he sets out to take oath as chief minister on Wednesday.

In Doddalahalli, 85-year-old Shivashankaraiah, sitting under the tile-roofed verandah of his house, remembered that boy playing around on the same village streets. He called Shivakumar a 'chalavadi' (a resolute go-getter), the trait that elevated him to the chief minister's post.

"I have seen Shivakumar since his childhood. He used to roam around the village, playing 'gilli danda', 'kabadi', 'goli', 'mara koti aata' and others. Winning and losing are part of a game. But when Shivakumar lost a game, he would play again and again till he won. He would head home only after winning. I feel he has done the same here by becoming chief minister," he said.

Shivakumar's childhood friends, NB Basavaraju, who is doing sericulture along with dairy farming, and Chikka Swamy, a farmer, said Shivakumar, even after shifting to Bengaluru, would visit twice a month and spend the entire summer vacation with them. P6

Annamalai yet to resign as Shah summons Nagendran

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & SUBASHINI VIJAYAKUMAR @ New Delhi/Chennai

AFTER aggrieved former Tamil Nadu BJP chief K Annamalai met Union home minister Amit Shah on Tuesday, the BJP leadership summoned state BJP president Nainar Nagendran to Delhi, fuelling speculation of a possible mutual reconciliation. With the party leadership requesting him to reconsider his decision, sources said Annamalai hasn't formally submitted his resignation yet.

As for Nagendran, he arrived in the Capital and was scheduled to meet Shah to find an amicable solution. During his meeting, Annamalai spoke about his prolonged differences with the state unit leadership after being removed as president of the TN unit in 2025 to patch up with the AIADMK.

Sources said Annamalai had made up his mind to quit and return to Chennai immediately after his resignation is accepted. He intended to part ways without burning his bridges with the top leadership. But since he was asked to reconsider his decision, he may return to Chennai on June 4, sources said. Though he was offered a Rajya Sabha ticket and a ministerial berth, he declined, preferring to work in TN, sources said.

No role for third-party mediation in border dispute with Nepal, says India

JAYANTH JACOB @New Delhi

INDIA on Tuesday firmly rejected any role for third parties in resolving its boundary dispute with Nepal, responding to remarks by Nepal Prime Minister Balendra Shah in Parliament on Sunday in which he called for involvement of the UK and China in efforts to resolve the border issue.

The Indian response came amid a deepening political controversy in Nepal, where Shah's comments have triggered protests and repeated disruptions in Parliament. External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said India had taken note of both Shah's statement and a subsequent clarification issued by Nepal's Foreign Ministry.

Reiterating New Delhi's long-standing position that boundary issues must be addressed bilaterally, he pointed out that most of the India-Nepal border has already been settled. "While close to 98% of the India-Nepal boundary has been demarcated, there are some unresolved segments. The shifting of the course of Gandak river has resulted in this situation. There are cases of cross-border occupation and encroachment of the boundary which are currently being mapped jointly," he said.

Ex-MLC offers ransom money, traps 'abductors'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a suspicious crime with many holes that have remained unexplained, former MLC and senior BJP leader Dayananda Reddy was reportedly kidnapped in the Attibele police limits on the outskirts of the city around 12.15 am on Tuesday.

The accused demanded Rs 3 crore to release him, while Reddy is said to have got himself out around 4 am, telling the accused that he could arrange the money only after the banks open in the morning. One of the accused gave his phone number to Reddy, who asked them to collect the money from him later.

Soon after his release, Reddy approached the police and filed a complaint. The police made Reddy call the accused asking them to come and collect the money. When they came, the policemen in mufti surrounded and nabbed two of them. The police are now interrogating them.

On Tuesday evening, Reddy was in his multi-purpose vehicle, heading home in Bommasandra from a club in Electronics City Phase II. Two men on a motorbike stopped him, showed him a gift box and asked him to collect it. CONTINUED ON: P5

Malabar's football aspirations manifest in the flesh at 2026 FIFA WC

RONNIE KURIAKOSE @ Kochi

KERALA'S love affair with football has found a moment of history. Tahsin Mohammed Jamshid, who has roots in Kannur, has earned a place in Qatar's 26-member squad for the FIFA World Cup. He has also become the first Malayali to make a World Cup team.

The 19-year-old, however, won't be the only player with Indian heritage at the football gala. Nishan Velupillay, whose roots trace back to Tamil Nadu, will be representing Australia. Born and raised in Qatar to parents from Malabar region, Tahsin was named in the final squad after figuring in the country's probable list. He is also the first player of Indian origin to feature in the Qatar Stars League. He plays for Al-Duhail SC, the country's oldest football team.

"Tahsin may be playing for Qatar, but Malabar's aspirations run through his veins. His parents moved to Qatar in 1996. It was during an inter-school football tournament that he was first scouted," said D Ravi Kumar, a veteran journalist who has covered the football scene in Qatar extensively.

Tahsin trained at Aspire Academy for Sports Excellence, which is globally renowned for its state-of-the-art facilities, and went on to represent Qatar at the Under-16, Under-17 and Under-19 levels. "It is not common that players of different origin feature in a national side, but because of Tahsin's exceptional talent, he was considered," Ravi said.

Tahsin's international debut came during the World Cup qualification campaign against Afghanistan. Though included in the squad against India, he did not feature in the match but later played in Qatar's decisive final two qualification fixtures.

"The boy plays as winger. But under Julen Lopetegui, the head coach of Qatar, we may see him move into a more defined position in midfield," Ravi said.

Tahsin is the second son of Hibasil Jamshid, a Thalassery (Kozhikode) native working as a chief accountant in Qatar, and Shyma.

Tharoor hails selection

In an X post, Congress MP Shashi Tharoor described Tahsin's selection as "a moment of quiet history" for Kerala. "He wears Qatar's colours...but his story belongs to Thalassery and Valapattanam."

SORRY STATE OF SANKEY TANK: UPA LOKAYUKTA TAKES UP CASE

Names 9 engineers as respondents, seeks explanation in person

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TAKING suo moto cognisance of a TNIE report -- Residents protest against poor state of Sankey Tank -- published on May 25, Upa Lokayukta Justice K N Phaneendra on Tuesday issued notice to the engineers of the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) and the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB).

Referring to the report, which highlighted the protest held by environmental activists against the deteriorating condition of the lake due inflow of sewage and blockage of rainwater inlets, the Upa Lokayukta stated that this indicates inaction or failure on the part of the authorities concerned. "Therefore, in my view, the issues raised in the news report and the observations made in the order require immediate attention of the authorities of the state," he said. Naming all nine engineers as respondents to the proceedings, he directed them to take immediate steps to address the issue and submit their explanations along with details of steps taken in person on July 7.

EXPRESS IMPACT

The officials of bodies such as GBA and BWSSB are under obligation to look into the poor state of the lake and make sure that the existing lakes in and around Bengaluru are preserved and developed. Such incidents shows lack of concern by the authorities towards ecology and biodiversity, he added.

He marked a copy of the order to the deputy commissioner of Bengaluru Urban, commissioner of West City Corporation, chief engineer of BWSSB and minister incharge of Bengaluru Urban District for necessary action.

HC issues notice to GBA on reducing SWD buffer zones

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court issued notice to the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) on a public interest litigation challenging the October 15, 2025, notification on reducing the buffer zones of stormwater drains by amending the revised master plan-2015.

A division bench of Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice K S Hemalekha passed the order on Tuesday after hearing the petition filed by Janadhikaara Sangharsha Parishath (JSP). The petitioner also sought the court's directions to the GBA and BDA to immediately identify, demarcate and notify buffer zones around all primary, secondary and tertiary drains in Bengaluru Metro region.

The petition, represented by Janadhikaara Sangharsha Parishath co-president and managing trustee Adarsh R Iyer, requested the court to direct the agencies to remove all encroachments identified by the Comptroller and Auditor General and submit periodic reports to the court.

The petitioner expressed concern that implementation of the new norms as per the notification in question would permanently damage the buffer zones of the existing stormwater drains and lakes, which will be highly detrimental to the environment.

It was also stated that the petitioner submitted detailed objections to the draft notification on September 30, pointing out scientific, environmental, legal and policy flaws of the draft notification issued by the urban development department, the risk to public safety and human life etc, owing to flooding in the city. Without considering the objections, the final notification was issued on October 15, 2025, the petitioner stated.

App launched for meat shops, collection of animal waste

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

WITH no accountability for animal waste generation, and no data on existing legal meat shops that generate animal waste in Bengaluru, Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited (BSWML) has launched the Automatic Animal Waste Management System (AAWMS) mobile application to track meat shops. Within 24 hours of the launch of the application on Monday, 3,045 registrations were recorded.

Speaking to TNIE, BSWML Chief Executive Officer Karee Gowda stated that registration will close on June 5 and once the agency has a record of the applications, it will be easy to track the shops and monitor their daily animal waste generation. "Fish, poultry and mutton stall waste will be collected and sent to the rendering unit on the city outskirts to make chicken feed and other pet feed," said Gowda, adding that agencies will be fixed and work awarded for waste collection.

Around 250 tonnes of animal waste is generated in Bengaluru on a daily basis, and with a slight increase in meat consumption on weekends, there is also an increase in waste.

Gowda said waste was earlier mixed with wet waste and ended up on street corners or in drains. Now shops will have to give it to selected agencies. "From June 10, every meat shop has to give animal waste to selected agencies, who will send vehicles. Failing to comply with rules would mean loss of trade licence," he said.

So far, Bengaluru West City Corporation tops the list with 893 meat shops, followed by North with 677 stalls, Bengaluru South with 555, East 510 while Central has 410 meat stalls.

SWM unit in Doddaballapur

BSWML got 30 acres registered under its name in Doddaballapur for an integrated solid waste management centre that can house segregation, shredder, rendering unit, incinerator and others under one roof. "We want to set up the comprehensive unit on 100 acres. In the first phase, we got 30 acres on Monday," said Karee Gowda.

With DKS at helm, citizens hope GBA polls a matter of time

SANATH KADALAYIL @ Bengaluru

WITH the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) election deadline set by the Supreme Court, and DK Shivakumar being sworn in Chief Minister today, concerned citizens and local party representatives are hopeful that elections to the five city corporations will be held without any more delays.

Speaking to TNIE on the recent political development and its ramifications on local polls, Kathyayini Chamraj, Executive Trustee at CIVIC-Bengaluru, said, "Any more delay in local elections will affect local communities, especially the urban poor, from having access to local elected representatives, who usually respond to their needs. Ward committees and area sabhas meant for local planning and monitoring of funds and works will also be absent." She added that bureaucrats administering the city corporations will only be accountable to their higher-ups in the GBA and state government.

Srikanth Narasimhan, founder of Bengaluru NavaNirmana Party, said, "Our long-standing demand over the past five-and-half years is that as per the constitution, municipal elections should be held on time. In fact, if elections are delayed by even a day, it is unconstitutional." The city has not had a mayor or corporators since 2020. He added that in the absence of local elected representatives, there has been no focus on civic amenities, no accountability for things going from bad to worse, and no platform for planning the right solutions for the city's woes.

"This delay has resulted in the city's situation worsening every passing day. Any further delay will take things to a point where deterioration starts becoming irreversible. Enough of excuses, we want the election to be held on time," he further stated.

Priya Chetty-Rajagopal, a civic voice in Bengaluru, said, "I think local governance is what the Constitution eventually meant to happen. There's a lot we can do when we're decentralised. Even though the GBA seems to be decentralised, just try to access your commissioners. Your elected representatives will always represent democracy. Your bureaucrat has other issues."

The common gripe of all the respondents was that this is an unconstitutional harm done to the city's people. However, more than anything, they hope for an end to the uncertainty and the resumption of local politics.

West City chief: SIR aims to remove ineligible voters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BENGALURU West City Corporation Commissioner KV Rajendra said the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) aims to remove the names of ineligible voters from the electoral roll.

At a meeting with officers and staff of Vijayanagar, Basavanagudi and Padmanabhanagar Assembly constituencies on Tuesday to review preparations for SIR, Rajendra said the exercise is to ensure that eligible voters are not left out of the list and Booth Level Officers (BLOs) have the most responsibility. They must understand the processes clearly and start working with advance preparation, he added.

He said the mapping process is very important, and BLOs, supervisors, electoral registration officers (ERO) and assistant electoral registration officers (AERO) must complete it properly. Training should be provided to the new BLOs.

"Honest effort is required for processes on mapping, un-mapping, re-mapping, etc., in the remaining two months. BLOs should take into confidence booth level agents appointed by political parties, seek their assistance and complete the processes. BLOs, supervisors, EROs and AEROs must arrange for facilities like internet, at the polling booths," he said.

SIR has commenced and the role of BLOs will be crucial for the next five months, said Joint Chief Electoral Officer Raghavendra. "SIR is entirely technology-based and during the exercise, BLOs are likely to face stress due to physical and mental exertion. Therefore, it is essential to realise their responsibility, formulate a systematic plan, and start working," he said.

Horoscopes By Holiday

HOLIDAY MATHIS

03rd June : The Cosmic Menu In the best restaurants, the menus are often well-laid out, easy to read, descriptive and fun. But the menu of life isn't usually like that, if it appears at all. More often we observe the options and lay out the menu ourselves. As Mercury and Neptune square off, poke around to see what's available. Ask questions. Wake up to the full delicious array.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Just because something works on paper doesn't mean it will in real life. The logical solutions won't be enough to fix what goes wrong. The key ingredients for success today: creativity, vision, empathy and patience.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
People make choices that don't seem quite right to you. Of course, you don't have full access to their reasons, their history or what they need to learn for themselves. You still feel pulled to step in.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
There's a point in which enjoyment tips into "too much," and unfortunately, that line isn't always so easy to see. Getting carried away can be part of the fun, but it's only really fun if there is a safety net.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
Your offer is changing. Can you put it into words yet? There's something you're delivering that will be better accepted and compensated with the right description. Play with the wording, style and tone. It takes time to get this right.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
No matter what was lost in the past, today is still yours to win. Just lean into your natural tendencies. They won't steer you wrong. The afternoon is for troubleshooting and problem-solving. With a bit of adjustment, you'll make it work.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
There's plenty of noise and not enough signal today, posing a challenge to clear communication. But if anyone can sidestep the pitfalls, it's you. Expect misinformation. Check sources. Stay out of the arguments; they aren't worth it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
Collaboration is the way to multiplied results. Not just more hands, but more ideas and shared energy. And there's a bonus layer: Letting others share credit deepens the satisfaction. So stay open to input. You will be both influential and influenced.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
It's a day of threes. You'll move three things out of the way. There will be a shift in the plans, priorities and expectations. You'll delay one thing, say no to another and rethink a third.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You'll master the fine art of being a boss without being bossy. It's a tightrope walk to be sure, but as long as you're paying attention to the feedback others give you, you'll maintain your balance and cross to the other side.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
The problem you couldn't solve last week comes back around. This time, approach from a different angle. Consider that the details may be less important than you were making them. This is something that just needs to be done, perhaps imperfectly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Recommit to what you want. Go after it daily. Like the river that cuts through rock, this is not about how powerful or sharp you are; it's about what you can do over time with persistence.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
You'll make major progress with a project. An easy, relaxed state of mind allows you to focus well and get an impressive amount of work done. Also, upgrading some aspect of your technology will give you a thrill.

Toddler slapped to death by stepdad for not eating

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

A two-year-old boy, who was making a fuss to eat, was allegedly slapped to death by his stepfather at Muthurayaswamy Layout in Tavarekere police limits on Sunday evening. A case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder has been registered against the accused.

The deceased child, Rakesh Kumar Mukhi, was slapped by Dipu Singh (22). The incident occurred at a rented shed on 1st Cross, Muthuraya Swamy Layout in Seegehalli village of Tavarekere.

Rakesh's mother Kunthala Mukhi and Dipu had shifted to Tavarekere from Odisha just three months ago. Dipu was staying at his sister's house in Tavarekere.

Kunthala was feeding the boy around 6.30 pm on Sunday. But as he was restless and kept crying, Dipu took him and slapped hard, killing him on the spot. A shocked Kunthala raised an alarm and called out to Dipu's sister Kandai Singh. The family then informed the landlady, who called her 30-year-old son KC Pavan Kumar over phone and asked him to check. Kumar rushed to the tenant's house, saw the boy dead and filed the complaint with the police.

"The accused is the boy's stepfather. He was arrested and remanded in judicial custody. The boy's biological father is in Odisha. The boy's mother, after deserting her husband, had come to Tavarekere with the accused three months ago. Dipu's sister Kandai and her family have been staying in Tavarekere for the last three years. Dipu was working at a plastic factory in the vicinity. We are conducting an investigation to ascertain if the intention of the accused was to actually kill the boy to get rid of him," said an officer.

A case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder under Section 105 of BNS has been registered against the accused.

Cyber Command seeks 127 hosting agencies' help to curb online gambling

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the ban on 8,750 betting applications across the country, Karnataka State Cyber Command has written letters to 127 web-hosting agencies seeking their cooperation in monitoring and blocking other gambling websites and newly emerging platforms. The Command Centre, with the support of 37 Internet Service Providers (ISPs), has blocked several websites and URLs in five days, before the IPL final.

Speaking to TNIE, ADGP of Cyber Command, M Chandrashekar said that the Command Centre will carry out the mission in three phases. In the first phase, the sleuths have blocked the URLs and will continue to monitor new URLs and domains. In the second phase, the police are contacting web-hosting agencies, the intermediaries under Indian law, to ensure that such illegal activities do not take place or provide hosting services to illegal online gambling and betting applications. He said that discussions will be held with all intermediaries, as the third phase of the operation is to trace the proceeds of betting activities and identify the real perpetrators and beneficiaries behind the betting operations.

If there is an illegal website, intermediaries may claim that they have no information about it. The police are asking them not to host such applications

- A source

A source said that there is a provision called 'safe harbour' for intermediaries, under which they enjoy legal immunity. "If there is an illegal website, they may claim that they have no information about it. However, the police are now informing them not to host such applications and will take legal action if they failed". Most of the websites are hosted outside the country, and the police are yet to receive replies from them. The Internal Security Division and private players have also helped disrupt the betting operations, a source added.

Chandrashekar added that this time the police blocked the mirror domains of betting applications, making it harder for operators to continue their activities. Operators often alert users to place bets through their other applications using the same user IDs and passwords. For example, 1xBet, one of the major betting brands, operates through more than 1,000 URLs under names such as '1x Partner', '1xBit.com' and others.

The ADGP urged citizens to alert the Cyber Command if they come across any illegal betting applications operating online.

₹10cr supari to kill Reddy, says accused

WHEN he opened the doors of his vehicle, one of the accused reportedly got in and threatened Reddy at gunpoint. The accused told him to drive towards the Karnataka Housing Board Layout off Hosur Main Road in Attibele. Two more men in a red car reportedly followed the victim's car.

"The accused told Reddy that a supari of Rs 10 crore had been given to kill him, and demanded Rs 3 crore to release him. Reddy reportedly agreed to give them Rs 2 crore. Around 4 am, they allowed Reddy to go and gave him one of their mobile phone numbers. But the entire incident looks strange and mysterious," said an officer.

The Attibele police registered a case of kidnap, along with Sections of Arms act and other sections of BNS. The accused are being interrogated.

Will continue to work with sincerity, commitment: DKS

● Says he knows the road ahead will not be easy ● Remains profoundly grateful for the Gandhi family's trust, encouragement ● New 'Yuva Yuga' will start

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS Legislature Party (CLP) leader DK Shivakumar, who will take oath as the Chief Minister of Karnataka on Wednesday, said he will continue to work with sincerity and commitment to build a progressive, inclusive, and prosperous Karnataka that reflects the values they collectively stand for.

Taking to social media platform X, the CM-designate stated that under the leadership of the Gandhi family and with the blessings of the people of Karnataka, he will continue to work with sincerity and commitment. He said the Gandhi family has played a defining role in his political journey, not merely through leadership, but through the faith they placed in him at different stages of his life.

Earlier, speaking to a news agency in New Delhi, Shivakumar said, "The faith and confidence the people of this country have shown me, I am very much obliged, and I have to do a lot of hard work and deliver. I know the roads will not be so easy. It will be difficult, but still I have to manage things. I hope the people of Karnataka have confidence in me. I have to do my job. I'll do it very sincerely and with a lot of dedication."

"I often reflect on Shri Rajiv Gandhi avaru, who saw potential in a young worker even before I could see it in myself. His encouragement gave me the confidence to dream bigger and dedicate myself to public service. The greatest leaders are those who identify possibilities in others and inspire them to rise beyond their own expectations. Rajiv Gandhi did exactly that for me," he posted on X.

He said he was aware of the challenges ahead as "the world is seeing India through Bengaluru and Karnataka... I will have to take every section of the society together: from the farmer to the woman, to the youth... and a new 'Yuva Yuga' will start." Shivakumar said senior Congress leader Sonia Gandhi taught him another important lesson in leadership: true leaders do not stand by you only during moments of success; they stand beside you during your most difficult times, offering strength, encouragement, and unwavering support.

Shivakumar stated that the Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha, Rahul Gandhi, has been a constant source of guidance and inspiration. "His willingness to listen, his conviction in democratic values, and his vision for a more inclusive and compassionate India continue to motivate leaders like me. His support has been a strong pillar throughout my public life," he stated. He said Priyanka Gandhi's guidance and encouragement have always been valued.

"For me, the Gandhi family represents different dimensions of leadership, recognising potential, standing by people in difficult times, listening with empathy, and inspiring others through conviction and service. As someone who began as a grassroots worker and has been entrusted today with the responsibility of leading Karnataka, I remain profoundly grateful for their trust and encouragement," he stated.

WHO WILL MAKE IT TO DKS SARKARA?

THE list figures some key members of the outgoing ministry who are considered close to Siddaramaiah. Satish Jarkiholi is likely to be made KPCC president and will also likely be given a ministerial berth, sources said.

The alleged audio leak seems to have spoiled the chances of former minister Zameer Ahmed Khan, sources said.

It was speculated that Parameshwara – who was home minister in the Siddaramaiah government – may be considered for the deputy chief minister's (DCM) post. Though there was a proposal for two DCMs, there was no clarity on it.

The sanctioned strength of Karnataka's ministry is 34, including the CM. As far the first list, the party high command has only struck a caste and regional balance. The remaining vacancies are likely to be filled after the June 18 polls to four Rajya Sabha and seven Legislative Council seats, which will give way to further negotiations and demands for inclusion by various ministerial aspirants. However, several ministers from the previous cabinet may not be retained when the ministry is expanded in the next phase, the sources added.

Intense lobbying was witnessed among ministerial aspirants over the last couple of days, with many travelling to the capital to push their case before the high command.

Shivakumar will be CM for the remaining term of one year and ten months, up to the 2028 Assembly polls.

The oath-taking ceremony is expected to draw senior Congress leaders from across the country, including the party high command, chief ministers from Congress-ruled states, and leaders from alliance partners.

The deeply religious Shivakumar, who vows by the dictum that 'efforts may fail but not the prayers', has deep faith in his deity 'Ajjayya Swamy' to bring good fortune and is likely to take oath in the deity's name. He has also insisted on the presence of prominent religious heads of all faiths from across the state at the ceremony and to bless him on the occasion. Though invitations were limited to attend the ceremony at Lok Bhavan, thousands of party workers are expected to arrive in the city.

Meanwhile, the silicon valley of India, Bengaluru, is all decked up to witness its poster boy acquiring the top job. Some business honchos are already comparing Shivakumar with former CM, late S M Krishna, over giving impetus to Bengaluru's development on the lines of Singapore.

Whatever names are circulating in the media... none of it is official. Tomorrow (Wednesday) after 10 am or in the noon—the leaders in Delhi will send the names to me. We have all met, discussed, and conveyed our opinion. The final decision will be taken by the leaders in Delhi. I will forward the list to Lok Bhavan
—DK Shivakumar, CLP leader, told media after landing in B'luru on Tuesday

BIG ANNOUNCEMENTS?

Shivakumar is likely to make some big announcements for the people of the state immediately after taking over as CM. They include 'vidhyarthi ratha', a dedicated free bus service for students who were complaining of inconvenience to travel in KSRTC buses due to huge rush because of 'Shakti' guarantee scheme, Rs 1 per litre incentive for dairy farmers, and a job guarantee for the youth by announcing a time-bound recruitment to fill the vacancies in the government, sources said.

In 2013, soon after taking over as chief minister, Siddaramaiah had announced 'Anna Bhagya', earning him the moniker 'Annaramaiah'.

From student neta to CM: Doddalahalli remembers its huduga

"THE games we played needed physical strength and calculated aiming, which Shivakumar had mastered. In many ways, he brought in the same blend of skills and calculated moves to scale up his political career," Shivakumar's childhood friends said. They recalled their summer holidays, where they jumped into and swam in multiple open wells that were there then. "The idea of entering politics came only after Shivakumar stepped into college. Student elections were allowed in colleges then, and that was his initiation," his friends said.

Though his friends had an inkling that he would achieve something big in politics, they had never thought that he would become a chief minister one day.

Nagesh S, who has a tailoring shop in the village, said Shivakumar's elevation to state's top post has brought him immense joy. "If we are not proud of our son of soil, who else will be? While HD Deve Gowda, born in Haradanahalli in Hassan district, becoming Prime Minister was an achievement, Shivakumar's ascent from Dodahalahalli to the chief minister's office is no mean achievement."

Residents of Kanakakapura said Shivakumar's hard work paid off. "In 2008, Shivakumar contested from Kanakapura constituency and won. Till then, the constituency had many problems. But once he got elected, he transformed it, with developmental works. We have good roads and parks that are no less than those in Bengaluru. He has done extensive work in irrigation to help farmers," villagers said. They were confident that the entire state would witness similar development work with Shivakumar at the helm. He would be keen to leave a lasting legacy, they predicted.

A firm believer in God, his prayers were answered

Those who grew up with Shivakumar said he visited temples regularly and had a firm faith in God from his childhood. From the Pataladamma Temple, which is the 'grama devata' (village deity) of Doddahalahalli, to Maramma Temple, Shivakumar visited them all. His favourite was the Shivaladappana Temple located on a hilltop. Shivakumar's relatives said he has abstained from non-vegetarian food for years, as part of a personal vow to become CM. His friends said his constant prayers, accompanied by hard work, paid off.

Fashion-conscious from the beginning

The chief minister-designate, known to flaunt luxury international brands, has cultivated a signature look and he was known to be fashionable even in his younger days. Shivashankaraiah said Shivakumar was always conscious of what he wore and had a swagger while visiting the village in his crisp attire. After entering college, he got himself a Yezdi Roadking bike, which was a luxury then, and visited the village riding it.

'Couldn't have got CM post without bro'

It would not have been easy for Chief Minister-designate DK Shivakumar to climb the political ladder without his brother DK Suresh, former MP, who heads Bangalore Milk Union Limited. Doddahalahalli residents call them Rama and Lakshmana.

Though Suresh worked in Shivakumar's shadow, not a single decision was taken without him. Suresh strived day and night to see his brother become chief minister. Even during family gatherings, brothers would be busy discussing what they should achieve next.

CM'S CHAIR TO FACE EAST AS PER VAASTU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Chief Minister's chamber (Room No. 323) on the third floor of Vidhana Soudha is set to undergo minor modifications ahead of DK Shivakumar assuming charge as the state's Chief Minister on Wednesday.

A day before the swearing-in ceremony, Shivakumar's vaastu consultant, VV Aradhya, a noted astrologer and vaastu expert, visited the chamber and spent over 30 minutes examining its interiors. According to sources, he suggested a few changes, including altering the position and direction of the CM's chair. Currently, the chair faces north (facing Lok Bhavan), a seating arrangement used by caretaker CM Siddaramaiah. Sources said Aradhya has advised that the chair be repositioned to face east (facing High Court).

The consultant has also reportedly suggested installing a portrait of Ajjayya. Shivakumar is known to be a strong devotee of the historic Kadasiddeshwara Mutt, popularly known as Ajjayya Mutt, at Nonavinakere in Tumakuru district. At present, Ajjayya's portrait was there in the DCM's chamber where Shivakumar was sitting for last three years.

Interestingly, sources said Shivakumar has also been advised to face east while taking the oath of office at Lok Bhavan during Wednesday's swearing-in ceremony. They say it is auspicious to face east for any new venture or while one sits to do pooja and homa. Sources also said Shivakumar believes in directions and he always enters Vidhana Soudha from the north gate as per his astrologer's advice.

DEPUTY TO CM, DKS FIFTH LEADER TO GET ELEVATED

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru:

DK Shivakumar, who will take oath as Karnataka Chief Minister on Wednesday, will be the fifth Deputy CM to be elevated to the top post. Karnataka has had 12 Deputy CMs so far, of whom only five became Chief Minister -- SM Krishna, JH Patel, Siddaramaiah, BS Yediyurappa and now DK Shivakumar. Siddaramaiah served twice as DCM.

The induction of Deputy CMs started in Karnataka in 1993 with the appointment of SM Krishna in the M Veerappa Moily government. The post of DCM is not mentioned in the Constitution. In 2024, the Supreme Court had ruled that there is nothing illegal about appointing senior leaders of a ruling party or coalition as DyCM.

Political scientist Prof Sandeep Shastri told TNIE that the post of Deputy Chief Minister is often offered as a "consolation prize" to leaders aspiring to become Chief Minister, but who are unable to secure the top post. "Though a Deputy CM holds the same rank as Cabinet minister, the designation carries greater political significance and visibility. The post is also used to strike a balance in political, regional and caste equations, ensuring representation for communities or regions that may not be reflected in the Chief Minister's profile," he said.

In Karnataka, after SM Krishna served as DCM in the Congress government, JH Patel was appointed HD Deve Gowda's deputy. Later, Siddaramaiah was inducted in the late 90s. Both Patel and Siddaramaiah served as DCM in the Janata Dal government. Siddaramaiah was inducted again as DCM during Dharam Singh's tenure in 2004-05, and after him, late MP Prakash served as DCM. In 2006, when the BJP-JDS coalition government was in power, BS Yediyurappa served as DCM for more than a year.

Interestingly, when BJP was in power, there were more than one DCM. In 2012-2013, when Jagadish Shettar was CM, the BJP government had two Deputy CMs -- R Ashoka and KS Eshwarappa. Subsequently, when Yediyurappa became CM in 2019, Ashwathnarayan, Govind Karjol and Laxman Savadi were made DCMs. G Parameshwara served as DCM in the JDS-Congress coalition government in 2018-2019.

Shivakumar, sworn in DCM in 2023, served for 3 years and 9 days. Interestingly, Siddaramaiah holds the record of being DCM for three years, 52 days, the highest in Karnataka for any leader holding the post.

SPEAKER UT KHADER LIKELY TO BECOME MINISTER

BENGALURU: There is a buzz of UT Khader, the current Speaker of the Assembly, being inducted into the Shivakumar cabinet. Khader, five-time MLA, is likely to take oath along with Shivakumar. He was first elected in the 2007 bypoll from Ullal and subsequently won the 2008, 2013, 2018 and 2023 Assembly elections. Following delimitation, Ullal was renamed Mangaluru Assembly constituency. Khader served as Health and Family Welfare Minister (2013–2016), Food and Civil Supplies Minister (2016–2018) in the previous cabinet. He also served as Urban Development and Housing Minister (2018–2019) in the Congress-JDS government. He was elected Speaker in May 2023. ENS

SATISH TO GET KPCC CHIEF POST AND CABINET BERTH?

BELAGAVI: Sources indicate that Congress MLA from Yamakanmardi, Satish Jarkiholi, will be sworn in as a cabinet minister on Wednesday and is also set to be appointed president of the KPCC. However, despite securing a cabinet berth, Jarkiholi is unlikely to retain the Public Works Department portfolio that he handled in the previous government headed by Siddaramaiah. Sources said Jarkiholi's dual role as minister and KPCC president had encountered stiff resistance from a section of the state Congress leadership. Nevertheless, Shivakumar is understood to have personally backed Jarkiholi's demand and convinced the party leadership to approve the arrangement, underlining the political importance of the influential north Karnataka strongman in the new power structure. Another notable change is likely to involve Laxmi Hebbalkar. The Belagavi district leader, who served as Minister for Women and Child Development in the outgoing cabinet, is expected to be appointed Political Secretary to the Chief Minister. ENS

After Siddu's exit, his MLC-son Yathindra set for cabinet berth

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

WITH the formation of the new cabinet under CM designate DK Shivakumar scheduled for Wednesday, Congress MLC Dr Yathindra Siddaramaiah's name is said to be cleared by the Congress high command and is among those expected to be accommodated in the cabinet. While the official list of ministers is yet to be released, informed sources confirmed that Mysuru is set to retain a significant voice in the cabinet with induction of Yathindra in the first phase.

The induction assumes significance as Yathindra is poised to become the principal political face of Mysuru in the government following the exit of his father Siddaramaiah as CM. A qualified pathologist, Yathindra completed his MBBS and later earned an MD degree before entering active politics.

He represented the Varuna Assembly constituency between 2018 and 2023 and subsequently moved to the Council and emerged as the caretaker of his father's Varuna constituency. Known for maintaining a low profile while remaining active in organisational affairs, Yathindra is expected to be entrusted with a key portfolio if inducted.

Political leaders in the Mysuru believe his elevation to the cabinet would not only ensure continuity of Siddaramaiah's influence in the government but also signal the Congress leadership's intent to promote a younger generation of leaders and also be a major voice and representation from Mysuru region.

A section of Congress workers and Siddaramaiah loyalists have intensified their demand for Yathindra to be appointed as a Deputy CM. However, both Siddaramaiah and Yathindra have remained guarded on the issue. While neither has publicly commented on the demand for a DCM position, Yathindra has maintained that he has been assured a place in the cabinet.

CBI FILES CHARGESHEET, EX-MIN NAGENDRA AMONG 30 ACCUSED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) filed a chargesheet in connection with misappropriation of funds of the Karnataka Maharishi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Limited (KMVSTDCL) before the competent court here on Tuesday. The CBI investigation has established the role of 30 persons, including former ST Welfare Minister B Nagendra, who allegedly received illegal gratification of ₹1.20 crore, routed into bank accounts of his family members. He was also the beneficiary of a benami vehicle purchased using diverted funds of the ST Corporation.

"The CBI completed investigation and filed three separate chargesheets with regard to misappropriation of funds in three entities (KMVSTDCL, ST Welfare department and Karnataka German Technical Training Institute). Then minister B Nagendra figures as accused in all three chargesheets," the central agency stated in a press release.

The case was registered based on a complaint lodged by Union Bank of India (UBI), naming three officials of UBI MG Road Branch, Bengaluru, and others. Investigation was monitored by the Karnataka High Court through regular status reports. During investigation, fraud committed on two other state government entities -- ST Welfare Department and KGTTI -- also came to light and were brought to the notice of the court, which on July 1, 2025, ordered that CBI expand the investigation to cover frauds involving these two entities as well.

The CBI probe unearthed a meticulously planned conspiracy involving Nagendra, his close associate Nekkanti Nagaraj and Padmanabha JG, MD of KMVSTDCL.

"Satyanarayana Varma of Hyderabad played a crucial role in executing the fraud. Varma had previously executed a similar fraud in Chhattisgarh. He conspired with one Etakari Satyanarayan, chairman of First Finance Credit Cooperative Society Ltd., Hyderabad, in opening 18 bogus bank accounts in the names of fictitious business entities using forged registration certificates and fabricated KYC documents. The MD and Accounts Officer of KMVSTDCL shared specimen signatures and sensitive banking information with Varma through Nekkanti Nagaraj and other accused. Forged rubber seals/stamps of the MD and AO of KMVSTDCL were fabricated through a graphic designer in Hyderabad and used to execute fraudulent banking transactions. Approximately ₹187crore were pooled into KMVSTDCL's UBI account by the MD and AO. A sum of ₹89.63crore was fraudulently diverted through forged cheques and RTGS transactions and diverted funds were further layered through approximately 600 bank accounts and ultimately converted into cash, bullion and luxury vehicles for the benefit of the accused. UBI's MG Road Branch officials actively facilitated these transactions in violation of banking norms. Nagendra is the beneficiary of the benami vehicle purchased using diverted funds of KMVSTDCL and the fraud amount was received by Nekkenti Nagaraj and his relatives," the release stated.

In 2023-24, tenders worth ₹13.95 crore for smart computer labs and roti making machines were awarded by the department to SKR Infrastructure, Bengaluru, a firm of K Srinivas Reddy who is closely connected to Nagaraj. Investigations established that Nagendra received illegal gratification of ₹1.20crore through Nagaraj, routed into the accounts of the minister's sister, brother-in-law, personal assistant, and a farmhouse owner in Ballari. Nagaraj himself received ₹5.72crore from SKR Infrastructure and its sister concerns, the CBI added.

Investigation also revealed that skill development training work worth ₹4.90crore was awarded by the SC/ST Nomadic Tribes Development Corporation to KGTTI, at the instance of the minister, and sub-contracted without any tender process to Sadguru Education Trust and Sadguru Solutions, which was further sub-contracted to Skillpoint Training & Services, Guntur. Investigation established that ₹64lakh was paid as illegal gratification to Nagaraj's family, and ₹15.50lakh to Prakash N, section officer, ST Welfare secretariat.

Former Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh interacts with former minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan at the latter's residence in Bengaluru on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Suresh meets Zameer, pacifies him

Bengaluru: CM-designate DK Shivakumar's younger brother DK Suresh called on former minister Zameer Ahmed Khan at the latter's residence in Bengaluru on Tuesday, evoking curiosity. The leak of an audio tape in which Zameer, in conversation with a party leader, Mohammed Siraj, allegedly hatches a plot to defeat Davanagere bypoll Congress candidate Samarth Shamanuru, had spelled doom for his prospects of making it to the first ministerial list. Suresh held talks with Zameer and pacified the latter, saying he may be considered for a cabinet berth during expansion, according to sources. ENS

Cong Davanagere unit seeks action against Zameer, Siraj

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Davanagere

ANGER has erupted in the Davanagere district Congress over the viral audio in which former minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan is allegedly heard telling former Karnataka Muslim Development Corporation (KMDC) Director Mohammad Siraj to ensure the defeat of the party candidate in the recent bypolls to Davanagere South Assembly constituency.

KPCC spokesperson and former KSIC chairman D Basavaraj and former Davanagere Mayor Chaman Sab told reporters that Zameer should be expelled from the Congress.

"The SDPI candidate, who came from Madikeri, distributed money. How did someone who had no money to come to Davanagere get crores of rupees? Congress workers told me that that candidate distributed Rs 2,000 per vote. Who funded him?" Basavaraj said, adding that they should not blame the AI technology now. Basavaraj said that the audio clip should be sent to the FSL for investigation. Former Mayor Chaman Sab challenged Zameer to take an oath if the audio clip is fake. "Activists from Chamarajpet have come and campaigned for SDPI. Their one-point agenda is to ensure a win for the BJP. A former corporator of Bengaluru came and worked against the Congress candidate," he said. Meanwhile, BJP's Srinivas T Daskariyappa, who lost the bypoll by a slender margin, said, "My name is mentioned in the audio. Siraj met me last year, and not during the bypoll. The voters have given me 64,000 votes. I am confident of winning the elections in the future, and the victory is not out of reach for BJP in Davanagere South."

Belagavi man ends life, names police officers in death note

BELAGAVI: A suicide case has triggered a controversy in Gokak after a man allegedly named a former DySP and a Police Sub-Inspector in his death note, accusing them of failing to provide justice and subjecting him to harassment. The deceased, identified as Ravindra Danavvagol of Bendigeri village in Gokak taluk, was found hanging at his residence. According to police, Ravindra was reportedly distressed over the non-repayment of a loan amounting to Rs 8 lakh that he had allegedly lent to two persons. Ravindra further alleged that he was threatened and harassed by the officers, leaving him mentally distressed. The allegations have sparked concern as the death note directly names the police officers.

ALAND VIOLENCE

BJP urges Guv to stop withdrawal of criminal cases

LOP in Legislative Council says the state government is trying to appease minorities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OPPOSITION BJP has sought Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot's intervention to revoke the state government's decision to withdraw criminal cases against those allegedly involved in communal violence to disrupt the worship by devotees at the Raghava Chaitanya Shivalinga in Aland town of Kalaburagi district.

Speaking to mediapersons after submitting a memorandum to the Governor, Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council, Chalavadi Narayanswamy, said the state government decided to withdraw cases to appease the minority community. He said withdrawal of cases against those involved in attacks on police personnel and officials will adversely affect public confidence in the criminal justice system and demoralise the police force.

"The brazen act of the Government of Karnataka in arbitrarily and lackadaisically withdrawing serious criminal cases pending against the accused has severe adverse repercussions on the enforcement and administration of criminal law in the state," the BJP leaders stated in a memorandum submitted to the Governor. The move raises substantial questions concerning public interest, victims' rights, prosecutorial independence, and the maintenance of the rule of law, the BJP leader said.

"This minority appeasement has the potential to embolden anti-social elements in different parts of the state. The Congress government has set a dangerous precedent," Narayanswamy said.

He said Sri Raghava Chaitanya Mandir, which has this 800-year-old Shivalinga, is a holy and divine place which is visited by people belonging to all sections of society, he said. While desecrating the temple was most heinous, the withdrawal of cases against the rioters is equally outrageous, Narayanaswamy said.

On Monday, several BJP leaders, including the party state unit president BY Vijayendra, took part in a rally in Kalaburagi to protest against the state government's decision to withdraw the cases against those involved in violence on the day of Shivaratri in 2022 near Ladle Mashak Dargah in Aland town.

This minority appeasement has the potential to embolden anti-social elements in different parts of the state. The Congress government has set a dangerous precedent

State legislature to go fully digital in 6 months: Khader

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

ASSEMBLY Speaker UT Khader on Tuesday announced that the state legislature will be fully digitised within the next six months, moving towards a paperless system. The initiative aims to streamline legislative operations, enhance efficiency and reduce costs.

Khader said the government has collaborated with the National e-Vidhan Application (NeVA) project to implement the digitisation of both Legislative Assembly and Legislative Council. The project is estimated to cost Rs 78 crore for the Assembly and Rs 52 crore for the Council. The implementation will be closely monitored by officials from the NeVA and a state-level monitoring committee.

According to Khader, the shift will significantly reduce the use of paper, printing expenses and logistics requirements. Legislators will be able to access agendas, questions, answers and bills in e-format, facilitating quicker and more efficient information retrieval. The project is also expected to improve administrative efficiency and generate substantial savings in both time and costs.

As part of the initiative, iPads will be installed at legislators' desks in both Houses, which will be securely stored once the sessions conclude. In addition, the attendance system will be fully digitised, replacing the manual process.

To further assist legislators and visitors, two interactive kiosks will be installed on each floor of the Vidhana Soudha. Managed by the in-house IT team, they will provide details about offices operating on each floor, facilitating easy navigation. Khader said legislators will be trained to adapt to the new system, ensuring a smooth transition.

Legality of minimum wage order challenged

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Employers' Association and Ethereal Machines Private Limited have moved the High Court, challenging the legality of a notification issued by the labour department on May 22, fixing minimum wages. On Tuesday, Justice Jyoti Mulimani posted the matter to June 9. The court asked the petitioners to implead the Union government as a respondent and seek its response. They alleged that the Labour Department had exercised powers under a statute that no longer exists, rendering the notification non est in the eyes of law. ENS

Kodavas seek tax exemption for Ain Mane

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madikeri

THE United Kodava Organisation (UKO) has urged the government to exempt Kodava traditional houses known as Ain Mane from property tax.

Manju Chinappa, the president of the UKO, said complaints have been received about the Gram Panchayats imposing exorbitant taxes on Ain Manes in the district. He demanded immediate withdrawal of these taxes and complete tax exemption to Ain Manes in Kodagu. He said Kodavas consider Ain Manes as the divine abode of their ancestors and deities. "The elders of the Kodavas, who followed the joint family system, had built large Ain Manes centuries ago. Family worship and rituals are being conducted there for generations," Chinappa said.

Although joint families have faded out, the Ain Manes are still being maintained despite many challenges, and a family is assigned to maintain each of these traditional houses, he said. "These Ain Manes are considered divine abodes of the entire clan. Maintaining the Ain Manes at present is a big challenge, and it is condemnable that the local bodies are imposing such high taxes," Chinappa said.

He also warned that if the tax is collected by force, a strong agitation will be launched in the coming days.

PETA: Ban close-contact elephant tourist activities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PEOPLE for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) India has sent a letter to Union Minister for Environment, Forest and Climate Change Bhupender Yadav, to ban close-contact elephant tourism activities following the recent death of a tourist at Dubare Elephant Camp in Karnataka, and an attack on a mahout by a captive elephant at Dudhwa Tiger Reserve in Uttar Pradesh.

The letter urges an immediate nationwide prohibition on elephant rides, bathing experiences, selfies and other close-contact tourist activities involving captive elephants to promote safe, ethical, observation-based tourism focused on free-ranging elephants in the wild. It also requests the introduction of mechanical elephant safaris that demonstrate life-like features of the animal while maintaining touristy and cultural experiences without troubling living elephants.

"Tourism should not be at the cost of animal suffering or human safety. When elephants lash out, often both humans and elephants pay the price," said PETA India's vice-president of policy Khushboo Gupta. "Acting decisively to end close-contact captive elephant tourism and transitioning to safe, ethical observations of elephants in nature is the need of the hour."

The letter also highlights that elephants in captivity, including those used for tourism, are typically controlled through fear and physical punishment. Sharp weapons are always kept nearby and the animals are chained for long periods when not in use. When elephants attack humans, beatings and other punishments can follow, which only make the animals more frustrated and upset.

TN HC ACQUITS FOUR IN DOUBLE MURDER CASE, ORDERS ACTION ON COP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madurai

ACQUITTING four persons in a 2012 double murder case in Dindigul due to a slipshod investigation, the Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court on Monday ordered departmental action against the then Thadikombu police inspector who investigated the case.

Justices N Anand Venkatesh and KK Ramakrishnan, who passed the order on a batch of appeals filed by the accused, pointed out that even the amputated part of the victim's arm was not recovered by the investigation officer.

Four suspects — Selvaraj, Selvapandi, Muthukumar and Thoongan alias Urathevar — had challenged the conviction and life sentence imposed on them by a Sessions Court in Dindigul in 2023 before the HC bench. According to the prosecution, the deceased, Kannan and Periyasamy, were relatives and Kannan was married to the daughter of Selvaraj, one of the accused. The suspects in the case developed enmity with the victims after the marriage between Kannan and Selvaraj's daughter ended in divorce. On May 18, 2012, when the victims were on their way to a Tasmac shop in Thadikombu, the four accused, along with three others including Kannan's ex-wife, allegedly came to the spot in an autorickshaw and threw chilli powder on the victims' faces before attacking them with sickles.

After the attack, both were rushed to hospital in separate ambulances. While Kannan died on the way, Periyasamy succumbed to his injuries five days later. A case was registered against all the seven accused, but only four were found guilty by the trial court and the other three were acquitted.

Hearing the appeals, the judges noted that the prosecution's case solely hinged on the eye-witness statements of Kannan's parents and the dying declaration of Periyasamy. Kannan's parents, who were residents of Vedasandur, claimed to have received a phone call stating that the accused were chasing their son and Periyasamy in Thadikombu, after which they arrived at the spot and witnessed the whole incident. However, the person who informed them was not identified, and there were contradictions in their statements. The judges also pointed out the 10 to 15 km distance between Vedasandur and Thadikombu.

Citizens should be custodians of environ: CS

Bengaluru: Chief Secretary Dr Shalini Rajneesh on Tuesday stressed that environmental protection was not just the responsibility of the government. "The public needs to move away from being just consumers and become custodians of the environment," she said at the inauguration of a two-day national workshop on 'Climate, Pollution and Health: Pathways to a Sustainable Future in India', being organised by the Diveka Climate Change Centre of the Indian Institute of Science (IISc). She added that polluted air and water were severely affecting women, children and farmers. The workshop brings together scientists, policymakers, industry representatives, environmental experts and public health professionals to find scientific solutions to the challenges of climate change and pollution. "Today's young generation needs to understand that nature is not just a commodity, it is the basis of our life. Young people should become the pioneers of environmental change through innovation and technology. Everyone has a right to nature. Therefore, the government, industry, citizens and scientists need to work together," Rajneesh said. ENS

Karnataka targets 6.1 GW wind power capacity by 2030, survey on

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AS Karnataka and the country gear up to expand renewable energy generation and meet ambitious clean energy targets, the National Institute of Wind Energy (NIWE) is undertaking a detailed study to identify potential locations for wind power projects.

According to available data, Karnataka's coastline falls under Grade-3, indicating lower potential for wind energy generation. Officials at the institute said the highest wind energy potential has been recorded along the coasts of Gujarat, Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh, while Kerala, Maharashtra and Karnataka have comparatively lower potential.

An official from NIWE said the key challenge along Karnataka's coastline is the limited availability of land suitable for installing wind turbines. He further said that only about one kilometre of land from the coastline is available for turbine installation, which is inadequate. While hilly terrains are ideal for wind generation, they are often not economically viable. The planning of wind energy projects is based on the northeast and southwest monsoon cycles. The stronger and more consistent wind patterns in Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh make them more suitable for wind power generation compared to the coastal regions of Maharashtra and Kerala, the official explained.

As of June 1, 2026, Karnataka generated 1,828 MW of wind power against an installed capacity of 8,323 MW.

"A roadmap has been prepared to increase renewable energy generation capacity to 10 GW by 2030, of which 6.1 GW will come from wind energy and the remaining from solar power. A study is currently underway to identify potential locations for future projects. At present, around 7.9 GW of wind energy resources have been harnessed against the state's estimated potential of 126 GW," an official from Karnataka Renewable Energy Development Limited (KREDL) said.

Wind turbines in Karnataka are currently installed in Davanagere, Chitradurga, Ballari, Vijayapura, Koppal, Gadag, Belagavi and Raichur districts. The districts with the highest potential for wind energy generation are Chitradurga, Davanagere, Koppal and Gadag.

Officials said wind turbines of varying capacities, incorporating the latest technological advancements, have been installed across forest, private and commercial lands in the state.

The KREDL official explained that while a wind turbine requires only about 10x10 metres of land for installation, substantially larger areas are needed for transporting turbine components, including towers and blades. Additional land is also required for establishing substations.

Consequently, Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited (KPTCL) has been involved in the process of identifying and approving sites for wind power projects to ensure the availability of substations in the vicinity. Officials are also examining multiple locations across the four high-potential districts to maximise land utilisation and expand wind energy generation capacity.

'1 in 4 Malayali men drinks liquor'

MS VIDYANANDAN @T'Puram

ONE in every four Malayali men consumes alcohol, the latest round of the National Family Health Survey (NFHS-6) has revealed, while also highlighting a significant uptick in liquor consumption among Kerala's male population.

As per the survey report for 2023-24, alcohol consumption among men in Kerala showed a relative rise of 14% from four years ago in 2019-20, when the last NFHS report came out.

The NFHS-6 report released last week showed that 22.7% of men in Kerala aged 15 and above consume alcohol, up from 19.9% in the previous round in 2019-20. The national average was 18.9%, marginally up from 18.7% in the previous round. Liquor consumption among women in Kerala remained negligible at 0.3%, but was still marginally up from 0.2% in 2019-20.

Among all states and union territories, Arunachal Pradesh topped in liquor consumption at 50.5%, followed by Telangana at 43.9%. Kerala was in the 19th position.

The latest report reveals a reversal of the declining trend seen since 2005-06. Male alcohol consumption, which stood at 45% in 2005-06, had fallen to 37% in 2015-16. Both the surveys were done in the 15-49 age group and showed a decade-long declining trend, which got reversed in the latest survey. Since the fifth round, the survey is being conducted in the 15-plus age group with no upper cap.

There was a slight drop in rural-urban gap among drinkers, with the latest round revealing that 23.7% of rural men and 21.5% of urban men consume alcohol. In the previous survey, the numbers were 21% and 18.7%, respectively. The survey finding does not seem to align with sales data from Kerala State Beverages Corporation (Bevco).

CHANGE SIGNALLED IN TN, OLD PROBLEMS PERSIST, FOLLOW-THROUGH VITAL

MANY agree that the Tamil Nadu government under Vijay deserves time to settle in and deliver results. Its moves against mining cartels, mismanaged liquor outlets and fraudulent tenders have raised expectations, while clarity of intent has reinforced early optimism. Though several sectors continue to grapple with inertia, corruption and bureaucratic rigidity, the government has begun addressing long-standing governance failures. The political backdrop remains fluid, with Vijay still engaged in coalition management and legislative consolidation even as opposition voices, including BJP leader Annamalai, continue to command public attention.

The review of minor mineral quarries and the enforcement action that followed have been widely seen as a necessary first step in tackling illegal mining and environmental degradation. But its impact will depend on whether it evolves into sustained regulatory discipline, including cancellation of unlawful leases and consistent oversight, rather than episodic crackdowns that lose momentum. In the power sector, attention has turned to procurement and tendering processes. The Tamil Nadu Power Distribution Corporation's directive to its 12 regional units to form committees for vetting cost estimates before tenders are floated is intended to improve scrutiny and curb opacity. Yet such procedural redesign will matter only if it results in genuine transparency in bidding and execution rather than becoming another layer of paperwork.

Education presents a deeper structural challenge. State universities are under strain from acute faculty shortages that have weakened academic functioning and governance. At the University of Madras, 67.6 percent of faculty posts are vacant, while at Madurai Kamaraj University, 96 percent of professor positions remain unfilled. Adding to the governance vacuum, 15 state universities are operating without regular VCs. These gaps reflect a weakening of institutional capacity and require planned recruitment and leadership rebuilding. Healthcare faces similar pressure. Despite Tamil Nadu's relatively strong public health record, hospitals and primary health centres are struggling with staff shortages and infrastructure constraints, particularly in districts where access gaps are widening.

Beyond these sectors, the broader challenge is administrative credibility and fiscal resilience. Restoring efficiency, strengthening accountability and improving revenue generation will be critical to sustaining reform. Without a stronger financial base, even well-intentioned welfare commitments will remain constrained. The real test lies ahead. Early interventions have created cautious optimism, but only sustained implementation will show whether this becomes real reform or another cycle of unfulfilled intent.

ODISHA'S RAIN CONCERN, READY FARMERS FOR RISK

THIS could be a year of great discomfort for farmers in Odisha. Fresh from a season when it posted a record 150 lakh metric tonnes food grains production, the state is now staring at headwinds. The south-west monsoon is already delayed and the projections are not good either. Forecast of a deficit rainfall in the monsoon core zone of which Odisha is a part, must worry the state government. According to the India Meteorological Department, the probability of below-normal monsoon rainfall is 43 percent. With the mega El Niño predicted to form during this critical period, the challenges can mount quickly unless timely measures are taken. Pre-monsoon rainfall has been below average and the farming community is already in a tizzy. Yet there is very little on-the-ground information campaign to sensitise farmers about what the season has in store.

Fact be told, if the long-term weather outlook holds, the government would have its hands full. Odisha's tryst with natural calamities is well-known and if the monsoon fails, challenges would be far greater if the administration is not in a state of readiness. The scarcity of fertiliser is already being felt with the Indian Farmers Fertiliser Cooperative plant facing an ammonia shortage that has impacted production of diammonium phosphate and urea, due to the West Asia crisis. In another two months' time, when agriculture activities would be at an advanced stage, things can really get out of hand.

Odisha has been a rice-focused state, so much so that it has led to a glut. Last kharif season, it procured well over 77 lakh MT paddy. The number of farmers who enrolled for the procurement went up to a record 18.85 lakh because the BJP government has been providing an additional input assistance of ₹800 per quintal over and above the MSP. While this has driven up the farmer participation, crop diversification has been hit. Under such circumstances, if the weather gods don't shower mercy, the agriculture sector could be under tremendous pressure. At present, the confidence level on the ground is very low with price rise impacting the bottomline of farmers. Much of it can be controlled if the government firms up a comprehensive crisis management plan that includes both information and technical support for cultivators on the impending climate change risk and provides stage-by-stage guidance and insurance support. Routine advisory should be chucked; alacrity must be the need of the hour.

QUICK TAKE

THE PLASTIC TRAP

RECENT American experiments with low-plastic housing show greener construction is possible, though rarely easy or cheap. Builders in Connecticut have replaced vinyl roofs, PVC siding and synthetic insulation with wood, metal and hemp fibres, proving it's possible to reduce toxic plastic. Rising awareness after devastating fires in Los Angeles and the UK's Grenfell has exposed the health dangers of burning plastics inside homes. But sustainable alternatives remain expensive, poorly advertised and difficult to source. Governments, builders and manufacturers must invest in safer materials and transparent construction standards. Indian researchers should now focus on developing affordable replacements for harmful plastics, as people increasingly cannot even identify which common building materials contain plastic.

As America retreats from its role as the principal outside balancer, middle powers must decide whether the Quad can fill part of the gap

QUAD AND THE MIDDLE POWERS' SHARED DILEMMA

MANISH TEWARI

MP, lawyer, former Union I&B minister and author of A World Adrift

SOURAV ROY

THE US Secretary of War, Pete Hegseth, speaking at the Shangri-La Dialogue in Singapore, outlined the Trump administration's approach to the Indo-Pacific in the following terms: "...the era of the United States subsidising the defence of wealthy nations is over. We need partners, not protectorates. We seek alliances built on shared responsibility, not dependency...Alliances only work when they are true partnerships. It is a two-way street. You don't have a strong alliance unless everyone has skin in the game. No freeloading. Alliances are not judged by the number of flags, but by the number of formations. We don't need more conferences. We need more combat power. I'm sorry to say this here: less Shangri-La, more ships, more subs".

The question, therefore, is where does it leave the Quad given that a new Anglo-Saxon military alliance called AUKUS exists concurrently?

It was the German geopolitician Karl Haushofer who first gave cartographic coherence to the Indo-Pacific in the 1920s, though his vision—of Japan, China and India, liberated from colonial domination, aligning with Germany against Anglo-American imperialism—bears no resemblance to the contemporary Quad. The current construct was christened by former Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe.

Within eleven months of assuming the premiership in September 2006, during his 'Confluence of Two Seas' address to the Indian Parliament, Abe mooted the idea of the Indian and Pacific Oceans as a single, interlocking strategic space where freedom and prosperity would be mutually reinforcing. That vision became the philosophical load-bearing beam upon which the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue (Quad) would be constructed.

Quad's first iteration collapsed by 2008. Australian Foreign Minister Stephen Smith undercut the grouping during a visit to Beijing in February that year. The Kevin Rudd government also withdrew from the Malabar naval exercise, not reversing the decision until 2020.

The decade that followed saw Beijing's belligerence intensify not only in the high Himalayas but also in the South China Sea. The expansion of its naval reach into the Indian Ocean fundamentally altered the strategic calculus of all four Quad members.

The grouping reconvened on the sidelines of the ASEAN Summit in Manila in 2017. Two years later, on the margins of the United Nations General Assembly, the Quad held its first ministerial-level meeting. Australia rejoined the Malabar exercise. In March 2021, Quad leaders met virtually at their first summit. Since then, there have been three leaders' summits and multiple ministerial meetings.

At the 2026 meeting in New Delhi, the Quad foreign ministers agreed to augment regional maritime domain awareness through the Indo-Pacific Maritime Surveillance Collaboration.

To understand what the Quad is requires a willingness to resist both the over-claiming of its proponents and the casual dismissal of its detractors. When Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi likened it to "sea foam", suggesting it would quickly dissipate, he was perhaps engaging in performative posturing. The sea foam has not evaporated. But it would be equally misleading to characterise the Quad as a nascent Asian Nato.

The paradox at the heart of the Quad is that it seeks to uphold a rules-based order through a need-based, preference-driven form of engagement. The Quad operates through convergence rather than obligation. It can facilitate, coordinate and signal, but it cannot compel or guarantee. For a grouping whose object is to ensure freedom of navigation throughout the Indo-Pacific, these limitations are not trivial.

Oxymoronically, the case for the Quad's strategic utility is stronger than its critics acknowledge. The hub-and-spoke security architecture connecting Washington bilaterally to Tokyo, Seoul, Canberra and Manila while those spokes had limited direct connections was always more brittle than it appeared.

What can emerge from the Quad's existence is something more resilient: a networked security architecture in which US allies and partners develop relationships with one another, sharing situational awareness, conducting exercises and aligning diplomatic positions in ways that do not depend entirely on the unsteady anchor of American commitment.

The Quad could provide India access to advanced technological cooperation with three of the world's most innovation-intensive economies. The US leads the world in AI research and patent filings; Japan is a global pioneer in robotics and precision manufacturing; Australia has emerged as a significant node in quantum computing research. India, with its digital infrastructure and skilled workforce, offers resilient technology supply chains.

The Quad's working groups on critical and emerging technologies—semiconductors, AI, quantum computing, clean energy and next-generation telecommunications—are central to the grouping's long-term strategic significance. Its capacity to coordinate technology governance, standards-setting and supply-chain resilience may prove more consequential than a naval exercise.

Concurrently, the Blue Dot Network, launched by the US, Japan and Australia in 2019, is a framework for infrastructure investment that presents a market-based alternative to China's debt-laden Belt and Road Initiative (BRI). The Asia-Africa Growth Corridor, a joint Japan-India initiative launched in 2017, represents part of this counter-BRI architecture. The Quad's non-military public goods agenda is its principal instrument for regional legitimacy, helping secure the goodwill and strategic orientation of middle- and smaller-sized Indo-Pacific powers.

The Quad's most immediate challenge is that the national perspectives of its members do not naturally converge; they require sustained diplomatic and political investment across changes of government.

The trajectory forward is clear enough, even if the political will to follow it remains unevenly distributed. The Quad requires something architecturally more robust than the current summit-driven, working-group-dependent mode: permanent secretariat-level coordination, measurable deliverables and predictable funding commitments. It must deepen engagement with more Indo-Pacific nations to build a broader coalition of stakeholders whose active alignment with a free and open Indo-Pacific is ultimately indispensable to the realisation of that vision.

America is beating a retreat globally in the name of strategic realism. It is no longer willing to shoulder the responsibility as the single biggest outside balancer of power. The Thucydides Trap that Xi Jinping alluded to is closing portentously. The middle powers must get their act together.

WFH IMPERATIVE, NOT PERK

CHANDRASEKHAR SRIPADA

Clinical professor, Indian School of Business and author of Shaping the Future of Work: Building Flexible Work Options and Unleashing the Human Capital of Bharat

EVERY few years, India is ambushed by the same emergency. Crude prices spike. The rupee wobbles. Petrol stations see long lines. Panic spreads. Governments scramble—subsidies, price controls, urgent diplomatic calls to Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries. And then, when the pressure eases, we return to business as usual and await the next fire. Trying to solve this problem only from the supply side is not a great idea. We need to look at demand. Among the many ways to manage it is reducing fuel consumption for the office commute. The pandemic recently forced the world's largest social experiment and proved that a significant slice of the workforce could operate productively from home. Despite that evidence and lived experience, we have not converted experience into policy.

Digitally savvy India is uniquely positioned to treat remote work as a national strategy for creating inclusive, enabling employment.

India's oil crisis is structural, not cyclical. In 2024, India's oil and gas import bill stood at approximately $143 billion, accounting for close to 89 percent of our crude oil needs. The office commute is a significant driver of road-fuel demand. Here is the arithmetic that matters: India's IT-business management and knowledge economy sector alone employs over 54 lakh workers directly, with the broader digital economy supporting upwards of a crore. A 2024 survey found that 44 percent of Indian workers commute by private car, averaging 10-15 km each way. A conservative estimate puts the fuel consumption at around 1.2-1.6 litres per commuter every day. If just 20 percent of India's one crore knowledge workers shifted to a three-day-per-week hybrid model, commuting reductions would eliminate approximately 2.4 to 3.2 billion litres of petrol and diesel consumption annually. At current prices, that translates into foreign-exchange savings of $2 to $3 billion a year—simply by redesigning the workweek.

The most persistent objection to remote work is that people do not work when unsupervised. The data disagrees.

Employees in hybrid arrangements worldwide report a 47 percent increase in productivity compared to full-time office work. A 2024 Zoom global study found that 84 percent of employees feel more productive in remote or hybrid settings. The Deloitte Global Workforce Trends Report 2025 notes that 72 percent of organisations believe commuting convenience directly affects productivity and retention. According to TomTom's Traffic Index 2024, Bengaluru commuters lose over 130 hours annually to congestion—hours that could otherwise be spent working or recuperating.

Another frequent argument against remote work is that culture cannot be built unless people congregate in offices. A 2024 analysis of Trust Index Survey data covering 13 lakh employees found that cooperation does not require co-location.

AFP

> Despite lived experiences and energy panics, India has failed to enable remote work as policy. Evidence largely disagrees with all major objections while metros continue to inflate. The public sector can show the way in setting up norms in workers' deliverables

A PayScale study covering more than 150,000 responses found that remote work is less influential in explaining job satisfaction and turnover than workplace attributes such as feeling appreciated, communication quality, managerial effectiveness and development opportunities. Culture is a function of leadership, trust, communication and shared values—not physical proximity. It can no longer be left to osmotic absorption in an office; it must be cultivated through shared values, role modelling, communication, virtual events and periodic in-person gatherings.

India Inc forces people to migrate to Bengaluru, Mumbai or Delhi-NCR to find work. This migration inflates metros, strains infrastructure and hollows out smaller cities. Remote work breaks this trap. A 2024 Nasscom report found that employees in Tier-2 cities demonstrate 28 percent higher retention and 19 percent better job satisfaction than their metro counterparts. When India Inc hires a skilled professional with a competitive salary to work remotely, the benefits ripple outward. Small towns develop, women are included and empowered and the misery of migration is mitigated.

What should be done? Accelerate BharatNet. Over 2.5 lakh gram panchayats are now connected via high-speed fibre. Completing last-mile connectivity in Tier-2 towns is the infrastructure prerequisite for distributed work.

Tax incentives for remote-first companies. Firms maintaining a threshold proportion of hybrid employees in non-metro locations should be eligible for GST or corporate tax concessions. Savings from reduced urban infrastructure spending will more than offset the incentive.

Government as first mover. Union and state governments employ millions of knowledge workers. A phased hybrid-work policy for public-sector roles—where operationally feasible—would signal intent and build digital-governance capacity. India Inc must adopt performance frameworks. HR policy must shift from hours worked to deliverables delivered. The technology already exists. The nature of work has changed repeatedly through history, from hunting and gathering to agriculture, factories and offices. Now is the time to leverage ubiquitous digital technologies to get work done from anywhere, not only the office.

India has the digital infrastructure, talent base and a pandemic-era proof-of-concept. We know remote work reduces oil dependence, cleans the air, unlocks Tier-2 talent, brings women back into the workforce and improves productivity. What we lack is not evidence but the ambition to treat a commuting habit as a national policy problem. The office will not disappear—but the assumption that every knowledge worker must be in one every day is costing India in dollars, pollution, talent and lives. It is time to change that assumption by design, not by the next crisis.

'CBSE tendering for OSM faulty'

Whistleblower student from Jharkhand briefs Parliament panel on alleged irregularities

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

HOURS before the government shunted out two top CBSE officials, Sarthak Sidhant, a whistleblower student from Jharkhand affected by the CBSE's online marking system, made a presentation before a parliamentary panel on Tuesday on alleged irregularities in the tendering process for vendor selection for online marking in the Class XII exams.

Amid a row over the CBSE's on-screen marking system (OSM), the committee headed by Congress MP Digvijay Singh had summoned senior officials of the board and the Ministry of School Education to discuss OSM and the problems faced by students. However, the CBSE officials did not answer queries raised by panel members on the alleged irregularities in the vendor-tendering process for online marking in the Class XII exams, and instead said that they would submit a written response later, sources said.

Sarthak, who appeared in the exams, pointed out the anomalies in the tendering process of the CBSE to select venders for online marking and put forth a set of questions for the board, sources said. He also presented a seven-page copy of his findings before the Parliamentary Committee for Education, Women, Children, Youth and Sports, who heard him and demanded answers from CBSE.

Sarthak Sidhant appears before the House panel to make a presentation | EXPRESS

Sarthak's presentation was made in the presence of now transferred CBSE Chairman Rahul Singh and Secretary, School Education, Sanjay Kumar, along with other officials of the Ministry of Education and the board.

Queries raised by the student on system anomalies and the lack of background checks before handing over the contract for OSM led the panel chairman and some members to demand answers from the board officials.While the officials answered some of the questions, they did not give replies to specific queries raised on why the contract was awarded to a firm without background checks and why norms were changed arbitrarily at the last minute. The CBSE officials said they would made a written submission on the issues raised.

The issue of going ahead with online marking without proper system checks or trial runs and without training teachers was also raised by the panel. Besides, the chairman and some members demanded that accountability be fixed and action taken against those responsible for the anomalies.

The CBSE officials informed the panel that the board's system server, which was down, is now running fine. They told the panel that students can apply up to June 6 for revaluation and that there is nothing to panic, sources said, adding the board asserted there is no need to extend this window as there is sufficient time to apply.

Some members sought grace marks or early evaluation.

June 6, 7 dates set for glitch-hit CUET candidates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE 3,765 students who could not take up their Common University Entrance Test (CUET) UG 2026 exam on May 30 due to a technical glitch can appear for their exams on June 6 and June 7, said a senior official of the National Testing Agency.

"Depending on the subject they have chosen, the student can appear on June 6 or June 7 whenever the exam for the specific subject is held," the official said.

Additionally, students whose exams were postponed on May 28 due to Bakrid too will be able to take up their exams during the same period, he said. "So, roughly around 67,000 students will take up this Computer Based Test (CBT) on those days," he added.

The updated admit cards for the affected students can be downloaded from the official portal, the NTA said on X late Tuesday night

A total of 15,68,866 students had registered for the exam. Technical service provider TCS iON, is carrying out a root-cause analysis into the glitch.

MHA tightens rules for foreigners seeking stays beyond 180 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has amended the Immigration and Foreigners Rules, 2025, making it mandatory for foreign nationals on visas exceeding 180 days to register before the expiry of their permitted stay, if they intend to remain in India beyond that period.

The amendment, as notified by the Centre, replaces an earlier provision that allowed foreigners to register within 14 days after completing 180 days of stay in India. Under the revised rules, registration must be completed before the expiry of the 180-day period.

The notification states that in Rule 12 of the Immigration and Foreigners Rules, 2025, the phrase "within fourteen days after the expiry of one hundred and eighty days of his arrival in India" has been substituted with "any time before the expiry of the stipulated period of one hundred and eighty days".

The revised provision applies to foreigners holding visas valid for more than 180 days but carrying a condition that each individual stay should not exceed 180 days. Such visitors seeking to stay in India beyond the prescribed period—either on a single occasion or cumulatively during a calendar year - will now have to register before the completion of 180 days.

Amendment a relief to children born in India

Earlier rules required parents to electronically inform the registration officer within 30 days of the child's birth. Under the amended rules, this requirement will not apply where either parent is an Indian citizen and opts to retain child's Indian citizenship.

Officials said the amendment clarifies that extensions beyond the stipulated stay period would be considered only in emergent circumstances, tightening the framework governing long-term stays by foreign nationals.

The notification also introduces relief for children born in India to one or both foreign-national parents. Earlier rules required parents to electronically inform the registration officer within 30 days of the child's birth to access visa-related services, including issuance of a new visa or exit permit, through the designated online portal or mobile application.

Under the amended rules, this requirement will not apply where either parent is an Indian citizen and opts to retain the child's Indian citizenship. However, if the child subsequently acquires the citizenship of a foreign country while residing in India, either parent must notify the registration officer within 30 days of the change in citizenship status.

The MHA has also revised reporting obligations and administrative procedures applicable to hospitals, nursing homes and other medical institutions that provide accommodation or lodging facilities to foreign nationals.

The latest changes are part of a broader overhaul of citizenship and immigration regulations. Last month, the Centre proposed amendments to the Citizenship Rules, 2009, requiring certain applicants to declare whether they possess or have surrendered passports issued by Pakistan, Afghanistan or Bangladesh.

Even earlier, the government notified the Citizenship (Amendment) Rules, 2026, introducing electronic Overseas Citizen of India (e-OCI) cards, fully online application processes and stricter provisions governing dual passports held by minors.

India takes strong objection as Pak, EU joint statement mentions J&K

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA on Tuesday strongly rejected references to Jammu and Kashmir in a joint press communique issued after the eighth round of the European Union-Pakistan Strategic Dialogue, asserting that the Union Territories of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh are integral parts of India and warning against such comments on the issue.

External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal was responding to a joint statement issued following talks between European Union High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy Kaja Kallas and Pakistan Deputy PM and Foreign Minister Ishaq Dar in Islamabad.

The communique stated: "The Pakistan side briefed on the issue of Jammu and Kashmir. The EU side briefed on Russia's war against Ukraine. Both sides expressed support to peaceful resolution of conflicts through dialogue and diplomacy, in accordance with the principles of the UN Charter."

Reacting sharply, Jaiswal said New Delhi viewed the reference as unwarranted. "We categorically reject such unwarranted references in the Joint Press Communique on matters internal to India. The UTs of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh are integral and inalienable parts of India. Those who have no locus standi on such matters should desist from making any comment on them," he said.

'Reference unwarranted'

Reacting sharply, Jaiswal said New Delhi viewed the reference as unwarranted. "We categorically reject such unwarranted references in the Joint Press Communique on matters internal to India. The UTs of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh are integral and inalienable parts of India.

The latest diplomatic protest comes just days after India lodged a similar objection to references made by China and Pakistan in a joint statement issued during Pakistani Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif's visit to Beijing. On May 26, Jaiswal had stated that India "categorically rejects unwarranted references" to Jammu and Kashmir in the China-Pakistan joint statement.

The issue surfaced during the European Union-Pakistan Strategic Dialogue held in Islamabad on Monday. While Kallas and Dar largely focused on regional developments, including the conflict involving Iran and broader geopolitical issues, the Pakistani side also raised Jammu and Kashmir during the discussions.

India has consistently maintained that Jammu and Kashmir is an internal matter and has opposed any third-party references or interventions. New Delhi's position remains that all outstanding matters with Pakistan must be addressed bilaterally and in accordance with existing agreements.

NIA probes Hamas role in Pahalgam

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

IN a significant development in the Pahalgam terror attack investigation, the National Investigation Agency (NIA) has formally flagged the need to examine possible links between Pakistan-backed terror groups and Hamas.

In its charge sheet, the NIA said further investigation is required to establish whether the accused organisations—Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) and its proxy The Resistance Front (TRF)—have any connections with the Gaza-based Hamas, as well as other globally designated terrorist outfits, including Al Qaeda and its affiliates.

According to probe officials, their suspicion is based on the fact that they found some similarities in the modus operandi between October 7, 2023 attacks against Israeli revelers and April 22, 2025 attack on tourists in Baisaran meadow of Pahalgam.

The disclosure marks what is believed to be the first time India's premier anti-terror agency has named Hamas in an ongoing terror probe while examining its potential operational linkages with Pakistan-based groups.

Similarities in modus operandi led to suspicion

According to investigation officials, their suspicion is based on the fact that they found some similarities in the modus operandi between October 7, 2023 attacks against Israeli revelers and April 22, 2025 attack on tourists in Baisaran meadow of Pahalgam.

According to the charge sheet, officials said, investigators are seeking to determine the nature, extent and operational dimensions of any such ties as part of a broader effort to map the international networks linked to the accused organisations.

On 22 April 2025, terrorists killed 25 Indians—24 tourists and one Kashmiri local—as well as a Nepalese tourist at the Baisaran meadows in Pahalgam before fleeing the spot. Eyewitness accounts indicate victims were singled out on the basis of religion, and shot at close range in front of their families.

The probe aims to establish whether global terror entities played any role in facilitating, inspiring or supporting terrorist activities in Jammu and Kashmir, they added.

The reference to Hamas assumes significance amid intelligence inputs gathered after the Pahalgam attack. Officials familiar with the probe said Indian agencies have noted increased interactions between Hamas and Pakistan-based terror outfits, including LeT and Jaish-e-Mohammed in recent months.

Security agencies have also examined whether the Pahalgam attack bore tactical similarities to Hamas-style operations. Investigators have previously pointed to parallels in planning, target selection and execution, drawing comparisons with Hamas's October 7, 2023 attack on Israel, the officials said.

While investigators continue to pursue financial trails, digital evidence and cross-border networks linked to the attack, the NIA has indicated that establishing possible Hamas linkages remains a key unfinished aspect of the investigation.

The investigators believe the findings could offer important insights into emerging cooperation between Pakistan-backed terror groups and global jihadist organisations, they added.

'Laws flouted': Cong slams govt over Odisha protest against bauxite mining

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Congress on Tuesday targeted the Centre over protests by villagers in Odisha's Koraput district against alleged violations of the law to "bulldoze clearances" for bauxite mining, and said Tribal Affairs Minister Jual Oram should be concerned as to why such agitations are taking place in different parts of the state.

Kalinga Alumina Ltd is being accused of illegally diverting about 400 acres of forest lands over which agitationists have traditional and spiritual rights guaranteed under the Forest Rights Act, 2006, Congress leader Jairam Ramesh said. "The Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh governments have constituted Task Forces to institutionalise RSS role in the implementation of the Panchayat (Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act, 1996 and Forest Rights Act, 2006. Odisha will soon be the third state," he said in a post on X.

"These Task Forces subvert the basic democratic structure of implementation of these two laws passed by Parliament. The Akhil Bharatiya Vanvasi Kalyan Ashram, an RSS affiliate, is the driving force behind this hijacking of statutory provisions. Both PESA, 1996 and FRA, 2006 emerged out of people's movements. Their essential character in letter and spirit is being deliberately sabotaged by such Task Forces which have executive responsibilities as well," Ramesh said.

BJP livid over Tharoor's Vande Mataram remark, says song not 'optional'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CONGRESS leader Shashi Tharoor's remarks questioning the need to sing all five verses of Vande Mataram at the beginning and end of official functions have drawn a sharp response from the BJP, which accused the opposition party of capitulating to the Muslim League, an ally of the ruling coalition in Kerala.

"Vande Mataram is India's national song—not a political choice and not optional. If states begin selectively ignoring national protocols for political appeasement, the very idea of national unity is weakened," BJP national spokesperson Shehzad Poonawalla said in a post on X. "Shashi Tharoor says it is an unnecessary imposition to sing all the stanzas. Vande Mataram in its complete form consists of six stanzas, yet you describe it as an unnecessary imposition."

Poonawalla claimed that the Congress was displaying the same mindset that had previously resulted in the national song being restricted to only two stanzas.

"Jawaharlal Nehru acted under pressure from Jinnah. At the time, he argued that Muslims would be offended. Today, Congress is once again capitulating to the same Muslim League mindset. The very same Muslim League is now governing alongside them," he claimed.

Another BJP spokesperson Pradeep Bhandari said, "The issue is not with Vande Mataram. The issue lies with those who are uncomfortable in uttering it."

On Monday, the Congress MP had told reporters that while everyone respects Vande Mataram, making the full version compulsory at every official function was difficult to justify.

'Zero tolerance': NMC calls for safe injection practices to stop infections

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE National Medical Commission (NMC) has directed all medical colleges and institutions to mandatorily implement safe injection practices to prevent transmission of blood-borne infections, including HIV, Hepatitis B (HBV), and Hepatitis C virus.

Stressing "zero tolerance" for any practice, which causes serious breaches of patient safety, the NMC said, "Strict adherence to safe injection practices is a non-negotiable patient safety mandate."

In an advisory, NMC Secretary Dr Raghav Langer cited data and evidence from international and national settings that depict unsafe injection practice may result in outbreaks of HIV and other blood-borne infections.

"Such events are entirely preventable through strict adherence to standard infection prevention and control practices," the advisory said.

"In view of the above, all the medical colleges are hereby advised to ensure full compliance to prevent the avoidable transmission of blood-borne infections and adhere strictly and comply with the National Guidelines for Infection Prevention and Control," the advisory added.

NACO norms mandatory

Dr Langer said measures such as hand hygiene, implementation of mandatory safe injection practices using only sterile, single-use needles and syringes with strict prohibition of reuse under all circumstances need to be enforced.Further, hospital authorities were directed that they must ensure post-exposure prophylaxis as per National AIDS Control Organisation (NACO) guidelines.

> Any practice which can cause serious breaches of patient safety, such as reuse, vial sharing without precautions, recapping, and improper sharps disposal, must have zero tolerance —NMC

Dr Langer said measures such as hand hygiene, implementation of mandatory safe injection practices using only sterile, single-use needles and syringes with strict prohibition of reuse under all circumstances need to be enforced across all facilities.

"All sharps and injection-related waste need to be segregated and disposed of as per Biomedical Waste Management Rules, 2016," the advisory said.

It also said that all medical colleges may "progressively adopt safety-engineered auto-disable syringes.

"The training for healthcare workers with competency assessments should be provided periodically. Any needle-stick injury/cluster of infections should be reported for investigation," it added.

A handful of leaders accompanies Mamata during her dharna against attacks on Abhishek

Only 6 of 78 MLAs join Didi stir

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

ONLY six out of 78 Trinamool Congress MLAs and five MPs turned up at the protest held by former CM Mamata Banerjee at central Kolkata on Tuesday against post-poll attacks on party workers and leaders, bringing to the fore discontent within the party after its massive defeat to the BJP in the assembly elections.

The TMC won 80 out of 294 seats in West Bengal but the party's strength in the Assembly came down to 78 after the party leadership suspended two dissident legislators Ritabrata Banerjee and Sandipan Saha on charges of anti-party activities. Sixty legislators had skipped a meeting called at the party supremo's residence on Sunday.

Mamata on Tuesday held her day-long dharna at Esplanade to protest against attacks on TMC national general secretary and her nephew Abhishek Banerjee, MP Kalyan Banerjee and other leaders. The programme was also intended to be a show of strength for the TMC chief at a time when the party is reeling under crisis.

The former CM asserted that she would not abandon TMC workers in "these difficult times", referring to large-scale arrests of leaders on charges of corruption, intimidation and extortion, and alleged torture of party workers after TMC's defeat in the Assembly polls.

Won't abandon workers in difficult times: Mamata

The former CM asserted that she would not abandon TMC workers in "these difficult times", referring to large-scale arrests of leaders on charges of corruption, intimidation and extortion, and alleged torture of party workers. Mamata reached the dharna site after the TMC's appeal to hold the protest at Rani Rashmoni Road was turned down.

Mamata reached the dharna site at Esplanade's Y-channel after the TMC's appeal to hold the protest at the adjacent Rani Rashmoni Road was turned down by the Kolkata Police. "We were not permitted to hold our programme at the place we requested. At the alternative site, the police did not allow us to set up a stage or use microphones," she said, addressing the crowd using a hand-held megaphone.

"We will move court if other parties are allowed to hold political programmes at the venue where we were denied permission to protest, or if they are allowed to hold meetings with microphones. Law cannot be imposed with discrimination," the former CM said.

"The men in uniform are being used by the BJP dispensation to do things they are not supposed to do," she alleged.

The protest was marked by intermittent chaos, with TMC workers shouting slogans amid the former CM's speech. The TMC supremo was seen accompanied by the party's old guards Firhad Hakim, Madan Mitra, Kalyan Banerjee, Sobhandeb Chattopadhyay, Chandrima Bhattacharya and Dola Sen, amid the conspicuous absence of most of the fresh faces who won the Assembly seats on TMC ticket.

Mamata alleged that the recent assault on Abhishek was carried out in a planned manner. "Had a TMC worker not supplied Abhishek with a helmet, the injury from the stone hurled at him could have turned fatal," she alleged.

Meanwhile, BJP MLA and minister Tapas Roy claimed that the TMC is heading towards a split. "Trinamool Congress will gradually disappear from the political landscape of West Bengal in coming days. There is growing dissatisfaction among many TMC leaders and legislators," Roy told reporters. He quit the TMC and joined the BJP in 2024.

Earlier, senior TMC MLA Sobhandeb Chattopadhyay asserted that a majority of the party legislators would remain with the Mamata Banerjee, and the old guards would continue to retain control of the organisation. Within an hour after Roy's claim, suspended TMC MLA Ritabrata told reporters in the assembly that the party has been "hijacked by I-PAC and it no longer belongs to Mamata Banerjee."

Srinagar airport likely to suspend flights twice a wk for 3 mnths, 15 days in Oct

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

TOURISM stakeholders in Kashmir are facing fresh anxiety and apprehend significant booking cancellations as Srinagar Airport is likely to suspend flight operations every Monday and Tuesday from July to the end of September, followed by a 15-day complete closure from October 1 for planned runway maintenance works.

According to an advisory issued by Srinagar Airport, the runway will remain unavailable every Monday and Tuesday from July 1 to September 30, 2026, as part of a scheduled maintenance programme being undertaken by the Air Force. The advisory further states that airport watch hours during this period are proposed to be restricted from 8 am to 5 pm.

Authorities have also proposed complete closure of runway operations from October 1 to October 16 for repair work. Airport officials said the plan is currently in the planning stage and that detailed schedules will be communicated through official channels once formal approval is granted.

The announcement on suspension of flight operations has come at a time when Kashmir is witnessing a strong revival in tourism activity.

Srinagar Airport is witnessing heavy passenger traffic, reflecting the growing influx of visitors to the Valley. On June 1, the airport handled 72 flights, including 36 arrivals and 36 departures. A total of 12,406 passengers travelled in 72 flights, comprising 6,348 arrivals and 6,022 departures.

Tourism stakeholders apprehend that the proposed suspension of flights for two days every week over three months, followed by a continuous 15-day closure, would adversely affect tourist arrivals and the tourism industry.

Sajad Ahmad Kralyari, Secretary General of the Travel Agents Association of Kashmir (TAAK), said the tourism sector has made a strong recovery, tourist footfall has increased substantially, and there is 100% occupancy in Gulmarg and Srinagar.

Mann's morning walk that never took off

Recently, the Chief Minister's Office gave a call to a Deputy Commissioner around midnight saying that the CM Bhagwant Mann wanted to interact with morning walkers thus he was considering an early-morning walk in the city. The officer reportedly began making preparations before dawn as immediately the district administration sprang into action and went into an over drive mode. The security arrangements, route planning and logistics were quickly set in motion. Just then as suddenly as this proposed interaction with morning walkers had appeared, the plan was shelved and the much-anticipated walk never took place.

Girls' question prompts convention change

A 17-year-old Gagandeep Kaur of Tahirpura village questioned Punjab CM Bhagwant Singh Mann, which made him change a convention. She got the CM to announce that the Punjab School Education Board would stop using age as a tiebreaker to rank students with identical scores. Her poser exposed a convention that, hitherto, many accepted without examining it closely. She had scored 98% in the Class 10 PSEB exam, equal to two other students of her school. Her question stemmed from her sense of being treated unfairly. "We have to face discrimination based on gender, caste, community and marks, which is wrong," she said.

Himachal cops to penalise VVIP cars too

After protests by the lawyers, the Himachal Pradesh Police have challenged vehicles belonging to several VVIPs, including state PWD Minister Vikramaditya Singh and his mother Pratibha Singh, who is a former Congress state president, as her car was stopped by the protesting lawyers on the sealed road in Shimla. Cars of senior IAS and police officials were also challaned. The lawyers were upset over being barred from using the sealed road without a valid permit. They were stopping all the vehicles on the road and were checking whether they possessed permits. If the vehicle did not have a valid permit, they forced the police to issue a challan.

85-year-old gets jail term in 1992 murder case

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AFTER an ordeal of more than three decades, an 85-year-old man from Bihar's Vaishali district, was awarded three years rigorous imprisonment by a district court on Tuesday, a day after he was held guilty in a 1992-attempt to murder case.

The convict, Deep Rai, looking frail due to age-related problems, was assisted by two policemen to reach the courtroom. Rai, a resident of Juravanpur in Vaishali district, was speechless after the court pronounced the verdict.

Additional district and sessions judge, Manoj Kumar Tiwari, had reserved its order in the case after completing the hearing on Monday. After his conviction, a video went viral showing the man being escorted by two people to the prison.

Deep Rai, the only surviving accused among the five named in the FIR was held guilty under the Arms Act in the May 10, 1992, attempt to murder case and sentenced to undergo three years in prison.

According to prosecution story, on May 10, 1992, the victim Adalat Rai's family filed a complaint at Raghopur police station, stating that he and his wife were attacked by the accused, in which they sustained serious injuries.

Spl provision for Twisha's mother-in-law in jail due to high threat perception

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE named accused in model-actor Twisha Sharma's May 12 suspected dowry death case – her husband Samarth Singh (34) and mother-in-law and former judge Giribala Singh (63)—were sent to 14-day judicial custody by a judicial magistrate first class (JMFC) court in Bhopal on Tuesday. As the CBI did not seek extension of remand from the court, the judge sent Giribala and Samarth to judicial custody at the Bhopal Central Jail till June 16.

The legal team for the accused, led by advocate Enosh George Carlo, submitted before the court the concerns regarding the safety of the former judge and her son inside the jail. The counsel submitted that there was a strong possibility of many of the inmates at the Central Jail having been pronounced guilty and awarded punishment in criminal cases or some undertrials in cases being denied bail by Giribala during her tenure as the Bhopal District and Sessions Judge (2021-2023). It might endanger the safety of both the accused at the jail. He sought secured place for the two accused in the jail. "We didn't oppose the submissions by the defence counsel, as it appeared to be a valid concern," Anurag Srivastava, the counsel for Twisha's family, told journalists.

Issue with crime scene reconstruction

In the court, Giribala raised the issue of secrecy of human-sized dummy-based crime scene reconstruction by CBI at her house on Monday being compromised due to the absence of any cover (curtain), leading to the live media/TV channel coverage of the critical procedure.

Considering the submissions related to the mother-son duo's security at the Central Jail, the JMFC Court directed the authorities to ensure proper security for the two accused and house them separately away from other inmates.

The CBI counsel stated before the court that since forensic reports were awaited and the statements of witnesses were to be recorded, it could again approach the court for fresh remand of the accused, if need arose for further probe.

58L farmers to get benefit as ₹36.5K cr loan waiver okayed

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Maharashtra cabinet on Tuesday decided to waive off the farmers' crop loans but withheld the announcement due to the MLC election code of conduct. While the state has decided to waive up to ₹2 lakh in loans for the farmers, those who are not defaulters will be granted ₹50,000 as an incentive or award money. This farm loan waiver decision will benefit over 58 lakh farmers in the state.

Earlier, Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis had said that his government would take the farm loan waiver decision in June 2026.

As per the cabinet, the farm loan waiver will be executed once the MLC election code of conduct is over. There are a total of 65 lakh bank accounts of the farmers who have taken the crop loan amounting to ₹36,585 crore, and of them, 58 lakh farmers are eligible for this farm loan waiver scheme.

Sources said that the state election commission (EC) has asked the state not to make an announcement of the farm loan waiver decision. "The state government had sought advice on whether they can take the decision of farm loan waiver and make the announcement. However, the EC conveyed that the state government can take the decision, but it cannot announce and execute it because of the election code of conduct in place. Therefore, the announcement of the farm loan waiver has been withheld," said a source in the state election commission.

Up to ₹2L to be waived, ₹50k incentive to non-defaulters

While the state has decided to waive up to ₹2 lakh in loans for the farmers, those who are not defaulters will be granted ₹50,000 as an incentive or award money. As per the cabinet, the farm loan waiver will be executed once the MLC election code of conduct is over. There are a total of 65 lakh bank accounts of farmers who have taken the loan.

Ajit Nawale, secretary of All India Kisan Sabha, welcomed the cabinet decision. He said that the state government has already taken a decision on farm loan waivers, so there is no need for an announcement now.

"Now, the significant thing is the implementation of the farm loan waiver. The state government should ensure that the waived-off decision and its money should be credited to the bank by the end of June 2026. The reason is that June is the last month to repay the crop loan; otherwise, their names will figure in the defaulter list and lose the eligibility to get a new loan. Therefore, farm loan decisions have to be executed as early as possible if the state government is keen to help the farmers to raise the loan for this Kharif season," Nawale said.

Woman arrested in connection with MP honey-trap racket an HIV patient

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

A middle-aged woman whose arrest led to the busting of an alleged honey-trap racket in Madhya Pradesh's Bhind district has turned out to be an HIV/AIDS patient, police said.

On May 23, the woman, while claiming that she was suffering from acute pain in the legs, requested a 60-year-old farmer in Bhind to drop her home. The farmer did it. While thanking him for the help, she requested the man to come into her house for tea. She then allegedly honey-trapped him and later started threatening to use the obscene/objectionable videos for implicating him in a false rape case.

She along with other members of the racket demanded ₹7 lakh from the farmer, failing which they said they would destroy his life. The farmer gave them ₹5,000, but they demanded more, after which he was preparing to sell his land.

Hunt on for men involved

"Probe suggests that 6-7 men seen in the videos could have come in physical contact with the HIV-positive woman. We're now trying to identify those men, after which they would be tested for the possibility of having contracted HIV/AIDS infection," Bhind SP Suraj Verma said.

He, however, later reported the matter to police, after which the woman was arrested. When she was taken to Bhind government hospital for medical examination, it was found that she was HIV positive and under antiretroviral therapy (ART) for the last 3 years, police said.

Based on the woman's questioning, three other operatives of the racket—two men and a woman—were arrested. Analysis of their mobiles and laptop revealed obscene/objectionable videos of 15-16 men, who are suspected to have been honey-trapped.

"Probe suggests that 6-7 men seen in the videos could have come in physical contact with the HIV-positive woman. We're now trying to identify those men, after which they would be tested for the possibility of having contracted HIV/AIDS infection," Bhind SP Suraj Verma told this newspaper.

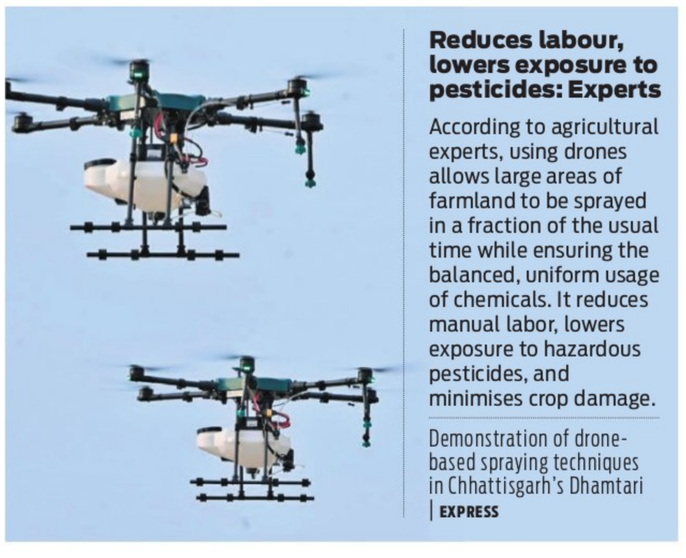
Co-op societies using drone sprayers for yields

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN a milestone towards modernising agricultural practices, Dhamtari is stated to have become the first district in the country to provide drone sprayer facilities to farmers directly through Primary Agricultural Credit Co-operative Societies (PACS).

The initiative, conceptualised under the supervision of Dhamtari Collector Abinash Mishra, was initially launched at the Loharsi cooperative society in the district. Later, trained drone pilots from several selected cooperative societies successfully demonstrated the technology, showcasing how drone-based spraying ensures the precise application of fertilisers and pesticides, drastically cuts input costs, and saves critical time for farmers.

The Collector emphasised that integrating advanced technology with cooperative societies is a revolutionary step for the rural economy.



Reduces labour, lowers exposure to pesticides: Experts

According to agricultural experts, using drones allows large areas of farmland to be sprayed in a fraction of the usual time while ensuring the balanced, uniform usage of chemicals. It reduces manual labor, lowers exposure to hazardous pesticides, and minimises crop damage.

Demonstration of drone-based spraying techniques in Chhattisgarh's Dhamtari | EXPRESS

"Drone technology has the potential to transform the agricultural sector. It will help our farmers work with higher efficiency at a lower cost," Mishra said. He added that consistent efforts are underway to establish Dhamtari as a model district for agricultural innovation, ensuring even small-scale farmers can leverage scientific techniques to boost their productivity and income.

A key highlight of this initiative is its collaboration with Common Services Centres e-Governance, a cornerstone of the Digital India initiative. By empowering these PACS entities to function as CSCs, the initiative turns local cooperatives into multi-purpose service hubs. Moving forward, rural communities will not only get access to cutting-edge drone services but also a suite of digital and government services under one roof.

According to agricultural experts, using drones allows large areas of farmland to be sprayed in a fraction of the usual time while ensuring the balanced, uniform usage of chemicals. It reduces manual labour, lowers exposure to hazardous pesticides, and minimises crop damage caused by stepping into dense fields. Furthermore, the deployment of local drone pilots is opening up new avenues for skill development and employment for rural youth.

Bangladesh foreign minister elected as president of 81st session of UNGA

UNITED NATIONS

BANGLADESH's Foreign Minister Khalilur Rahman was on Tuesday elected as the President of the 81st session of the UN General Assembly in a closely-contested election.

Khalilur Rahman

Rahman and Cyprus' Special Envoy for Multilateralism Andreas Kakouris were vying to lead the 193-member General Assembly in its 81st session, which will commence in September. In the closely contested election, the Bangladeshi diplomat secured 99 votes against Kakouris' 91 from 190 members present and voting, surpassing the 96-vote majority needed for victory. Rahman takes over the baton from current General Assembly President and former German Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock, only the fifth female president of the organisation in its 80-year history. The UNGA hall erupted in applause as Baerbock announced the result. Rahman raised his hands in prayer after his victory was declared.

"Having obtained the required majority," Rahman "has been elected President of the General Assembly at its 81st session," Baerbock said, extending congratulations to her successor. Bangladesh Prime Minister Tarique Rahman congratulated Khalilur Rahman.

Meanwhile, Rahman, said he will uphold the world body's work on human rights and engage all member states during his tenure. "As your president, I will dedicate myself to rebuilding trust, nurturing consensus and opening space for good faith negotiations that will lead to outcomes for all that are owned by all," Rahman said in his first remarks to the General Assembly after being elected. "I'll be President of all of you. I will engage all member states in the course of my work. I will not let my personal views interfere with my work as the PGA. I will seek common ground without ignoring differences," he added.

Ceasefire hopes bleak as Israel, Hezbollah clashes continue despite Trump intervention

BEIRUT

ISRAELI drone strikes on southern Lebanon on Tuesday killed eight people, including two children and their father, a day after US President Donald Trump said Israel and the militant group Hezbollah agreed to dial back fighting. Hezbollah, which is backed by Iran, continued launching dozens of projectiles and drones toward Israeli soldiers in southern Lebanon and civilians in Israel.

The ongoing hostilities — despite Trump's announcement and a nominal ceasefire that began in April — are deepening displacement for Lebanon's conflict-weary population. They also are a significant sticking point in negotiations to extend a ceasefire in the US-Israeli war in Iran, as the Islamic Republic wants any such deal to end fighting in Lebanon, too.

Two semiofficial Iranian news agencies reported on Tuesday that the country cut off communication with mediators facilitating the ceasefire talks.

Another round of talks between Israel and Lebanon began on Tuesday in Washington, where Lebanese negotiators are set to seek a full ceasefire that will prevent future attacks. The talks began in April and were the first in more than three decades between the countries, which have no formal diplomatic relations. Hezbollah has rejected direct talks, counting on pressure from Iran.

The planned talks come days after Israeli ground troops made their deepest incursion into Lebanon in 26 years and Israel then threatened to strike Beirut's southern suburbs, causing panic in the Lebanese capital as thousands fled.

Israel vows retaliatory strikes

Israel warned Tuesday that its US ally would not restrain it from striking Hezbollah's bastions in Beirut's suburbs if the Iran-backed group continues to target northern Israeli towns.

"If Israeli towns continue to be attacked, we will evacuate and strike the Shiite Dahiyeh quarter in Beirut, Hezbollah's stronghold," Defence Minister Israel Katz told a conference.

"The United States endorsed this principle and conveyed it to the Lebanese government and all relevant actors."

Trump hails talks, rebukes Bibi

"There will be no troops going to Beirut, and any troops that are on their way have already been turned back," Trump said, after what he described as a "very productive" call with Netanyahu, later adding in a social media post that he hoped Israel and Hezbollah would stop fighting "for eternity!" According to Axios, however, Trump called Netanyahu "fucking crazy" and accused him of putting Iran peace talks at risk. "Likewise, through highly placed representatives, I had a very good call with Hezbollah, and they agreed that all shooting will stop — that Israel will not attack them, and they will not attack Israel," Trump said. Agencies

Hormuz turmoil disrupts Afghan trade routes

KABUL: Afghanistan is facing severe trade disruptions after border closures with Pakistan and conflict around the Strait of Hormuz blocked its two main supply routes. Aid agencies and businesses have been forced to reroute shipments through Central Asia at far higher costs. The World Food Programme said nutritional supplements for malnourished women and children have run out, forcing clinics to turn people away. Traders reported freight costs soaring several-fold, with some shipments stranded for weeks. While over 60% of Afghanistan's trade now passes through Central Asia, businesses warn prolonged disruptions could cripple imports, exports and humanitarian operations. The disruptions have also affected humanitarian aid deliveries, with relief agencies warning that prolonged route closures could worsen food insecurity and increase costs for essential supplies across Afghanistan.

Israel's defence exports hit record $19.2 bn amid global demand surge

JERUSALEM

ISRAEL has broken its defence export record for the fifth consecutive year, registering USD 19.2 billion in sales in 2025, nearly 30 per cent increase compared to the previous year, the defence ministry said on Tuesday.

The country's defence exports have doubled in five years and quadrupled in a decade, propelled mainly by exceptional demand for rockets, missiles and air defence systems, the ministry said in a statement.

In 2025, an all-time record for government-to-government agreements was also set, totalling approximately USD 10 billion. It accounted for over half of total deal volume for the year, the statement said.

Israel's Ministry of Defence (IMOD) Director General, Maj Gen (Res) Amir Baram, and the Director of the Ministry's International Defence Cooperation Directorate (SIBAT), Brig Gen (Res) Yair Kulas presented Defence Minister Israel Katz with the 2025 defence exports report.

> There is a clear and unmistakable thread connecting the IDF's battlefield achievements, the extraordinary capabilities of Israel's defence industries, and the success of Israeli defence exports around the world
> Israel Katz, Defence Minister

Israeli defence industries signed hundreds of contracts worldwide, 53 per cent of them worth USD 100 million or more, the report said. "Missile, rocket, and air defence systems continued to lead in 2025, accounting for over a quarter of total deal volume", it said.

"Another notable surge was recorded in observation and optronics systems, rising to 22 per cent from 6 per cent the previous year," the ministry said.

The unprecedented growth comes at a time when Israel has been fighting on multiple fronts since October 7, 2023, when Hamas militants attacked from Gaza. "There is a clear and unmistakable thread connecting the IDF's (Israel Defence Forces) battlefield achievements across all fronts, the extraordinary capabilities of Israel's defence industries, and the success of Israeli defence exports around the world," Defence Minister Katz said.

"The fact that Israel continues to break defence export records even in the midst of a third year of war speaks to the tremendous respect and confidence the global community has placed in Israel's defence establishment. PTI

Russia intensifies aerial assault on Ukraine, 18 killed

KYIV

RUSSIA launched hundreds of drones and dozens of missiles against Kyiv and other Ukrainian cities overnight, killing at least 18 civilians and wounding 131 others, authorities said Tuesday. Russian President Vladimir Putin has escalated Moscow's aerial campaign in recent weeks in an apparent bid to take advantage of Ukraine's shortage of US-made air defense systems and persuade an increasingly pessimistic audience at home that Moscow is prevailing in the 4-year-old war.

Emergency rescue crews digging through the wreckage of apartment buildings pulled out the bodies of a 3-year-old child as well as those of a woman and her 8-year-old son in the central Ukrainian city of Dnipro, officials said. The attack stretched past dawn, with explosions reverberating across cities. Officials said 12 people were killed in Dnipro and six in Kyiv. Residents of the capital have been on edge for days after Russia warned last week that a massive aerial attack was coming and told foreign diplomats to leave. None appeared to heed the call and no embassies immediately reported damage Tuesday.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy appealed for more US and European support, describing the massive overnight attack as "an explicit statement by Russia: If Ukraine is not protected from ballistic missiles and other missile strikes, those strikes will continue."

> Putin shifts war narrative
> Putin is keen to generate some positive news from the conflict that began with Russia's February 2022 invasion of its neighbour and hasn't gone according to plan.Western officials and analysts say Ukrainian drones are pinning down Russian troops, choking supply lines in occupied Ukraine and disrupting Russian oil facilities that provide vital revenue for Moscow.

At least 79 people were wounded in the capital, emergency services said. Iryna Salikova, 37, spent the night lying in a bathtub for protection with her 3-year-old daughter, as blasts reverberated across the city.

"Our window was broken. A cobblestone flew into the children's room," Salikova said, although they weren't hurt. "Thank God we're alive. Today we're alive, today we're lucky."

Russia unleashed 73 missiles and 656 drones across Ukraine, according to the country's air force, with the main targets including Kyiv, Dnipro and the eastern cities of Poltava, Kharkiv and Zaporizhzhia. Ukrainian air defense forces destroyed or suppressed 40 missiles and 602 drones. Dnipro Mayor Borys Filatov proclaimed on Wednesday would be a day of mourning for the 12 dead in his city. That announcement came 20 minutes before Filatov said another drone had struck a residential building there about 2.40 pm. AP

Bill Pulte gets intelligence role despite no experience

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump has tapped Bill Pulte, head of the Federal Housing Finance Agency, to be the acting director of national intelligence — elevating a real estate scion without any clear national security credentials to a key post as the US remains at war with Iran.

Trump made the surprise announcement Tuesday on social media that Pulte would be replacing Tulsi Gabbard, the former Hawaii congresswoman who had served as the director of national intelligence. Trump said Pulte will keep his other positions even as he fills in for Gabbard, who resigned last month after revealing her husband's cancer diagnosis.

Bill Pulte | AP

The Republican president cited Pulte's work at the FHFA and his role as chair of the mortgage giants Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac as indicating that his real estate work would overlap with the skills needed to coordinate 18 federal agencies tasked with aspects of foreign and domestic security. "William has deep experience managing the most sensitive matters in America, the safety and soundness of the Markets," Trump posted on Truth Social. It is unclear what national security expertise Pulte brings as the US faces conflicts in West Asia, Ukraine and emerging AI challenges. AP

India to replace wholesale inflation with PPI

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA will soon adopt the Producer Price Index (PPI) as its primary framework for measuring inflation and pricing trends, gradually replacing the wholesale price index (WPI), commerce ministry said on Tuesday. The government will run both indices in parallel for five years before discontinuing the WPI.

Unlike the WPI, which captures price movements only for traded goods, the PPI will cover both goods and services and include separate output and input price indices. The transition process is already underway. The government will release WPI and PPI data simultaneously over the next five years, after which the WPI will be phased out entirely.

As per the ministry, the move is aimed at aligning India's inflation measurement framework with international best practices and recommendations of the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

The Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) said the new producer price indicators, including the Output Producer Price Index (Output PPI) and the Service Producer Price Index (Service PPI), will be released from June 15. "The new inflation framework will see WPI, Output PPI and trial Input PPI released every month, while the Service PPI will provide a quarterly snapshot of price trends in the services sector," DPIIT said.

Currently, seven sectors have been included in the service PPI. The ministry has sought data from finance ministry, including the GST department, and the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI) to expand coverage by incorporating additional services.

The ministry said the PPI framework would allow the use of the double-deflation method, improving the measurement of real economic growth while avoiding double counting by separately accounting for changes in input and output prices. The PPI is also considered more consistent with the structure of national accounts.

WPI, PPI difference

WPI and output PPI are compiled on the basis of prices received by the producers. In WPI, weights are based on GVO estimates taken from national accounts. In output PPI, weighting diagram is based on supply table of national accounts

Benefits of PPI over WPI

PPI is consistent with national account framework and aligned with global best practices adopted by advanced economies. Availability of output PPI and Input PPI explains how inflation experienced by producer on input items are passed via the output being produced

GAMING COS LOOK TO DIVERSIFY, EXPAND OVERSEAS

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S leading gaming companies are ramping up investments in e-sports, game publishing, digital entertainment and international markets as regulatory and tax pressures continue to reshape the domestic online gaming industry.

The recent Supreme Court verdict upholding the government's decision to levy 28% GST on full face value of bets has emerged as the latest setback for the sector, which had already been hit by the Centre's move to ban real-money online gaming in 2025. Industry estimates suggest the sector's tax liabilities could exceed ₹2 lakh crore, including pending tax demands, penalties and interest.

The ruling comes at a time when several gaming companies have begun diversifying beyond real-money gaming, which was once the industry's primary revenue driver.

Companies like Dream11, Mobile Premier League (MPL), Games24x7 and Zupee expanded rapidly over the past decade as millions of Indians embraced online gaming platforms offering cash prizes. Strong investor interest, rising smartphone penetration and affordable mobile data fuelled the sector's growth.

However, companies with broader business models are increasingly seen as better positioned to withstand taxation-related challenges.

Nazara Technologies, one of India's few listed gaming companies, has built a diversified portfolio spanning e-sports, mobile gaming, sports media and game publishing, while also expanding its international footprint. Earlier this year, the company agreed to acquire a 50% stake in European gaming firms Bluetile Games and BestPlay Systems for ₹918 crore, strengthening its publishing and distribution capabilities.

GST on full face value of bets has emerged as setback for the online gaming sector

Dream Sports, the parent of Dream11, has expanded beyond fantasy sports through investments in sports technology, content and gaming ventures. MPL has diversified into skill-based mobile games, publishing initiatives and overseas markets, while Games24x7 has increased its focus on technology-led gaming products powered by AI alongside its core gaming platforms.

The industry's revenue profile has changed dramatically following regulatory action against real-money gaming.

Korea surpasses India as sixth largest stock mkt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE underperformance of India's equity market has started eroding its global standing. After Taiwan surpassed India as the fifth most valuable global market in terms of market capitalisation, the Indian stock market has now slipped below the South Korean market and now sits in seventh place.

The total market cap of Korea-listed firms has jumped to $5 trillion, while India's has declined to $4.8 trillion, as per Bloomberg data. The change comes as the Korean stock market's valuation has surged 85% this year while the Indian market has seen capital erosion.

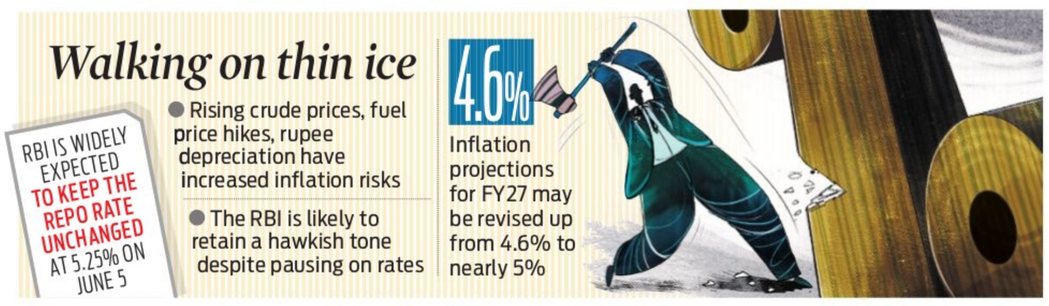
The change also comes as global investors are favoring the AI trade, befitting companies like Samsung and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co (TSMC). Semiconductor giants Samsung Electronics Co. and SK Hynix Inc together account for a significant share of Korea's Kospi index while TSMC accounts for 40-50% of Taiwan's market cap.

The AI and semiconductor firms have lifted the overall equity market in their respective countries. South Korea's KOSPI index has advanced about 100% in 2026, while Taiwan's mainboard index is up 55%. US benchmark Nasdaq is up 21% in the same period. In contrast, the Indian benchmark Nifty50 has declined over 10% so far in 2026. The shift places Taiwan as the world's fifth-largest equity market. The US remain the largest market, followed by China, Japan, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

Mint Road observers expect MPC to hold key rates amid global risks

Central bank faces difficult choice between inflation and growth as crude oil prices go up

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai



Walking on thin ice
RBI IS WIDELY EXPECTED TO KEEP THE REPO RATE UNCHANGED AT 5.25% ON JUNE 5
Rising crude prices, fuel price hikes, rupee depreciation have increased inflation risks
The RBI is likely to retain a hawkish tone despite pausing on rates
4.6%
Inflation projections for FY27 may be revised up from 4.6% to nearly 5%

MOST Mint Road observers are expecting the monetary policy committee (MPC) to hold key policy rates at the forthcoming meeting scheduled for Friday even as it is expected to revise upwards the inflation forecast and downwards the growth numbers.

Since governor Sanjay Malhotra took charge in December 2024, the RBI panel has cut repo rates four times beginning February 2025 to 5.25%. But given the drought and inflation spectres, the central bank faces a difficult choice now. Its biggest worry is inflation as the crude oil price shock due to the West Asia war has upended all the fiscal maths of oil importing countries. "We expect the MPC to hold rates steady, but signal its readiness to respond should inflation risks intensify, and second-round pressures begin to emerge," StanChart bank said in a note.

While the percolation of the energy shock to real sector is still unfolding, the RBI to flag a cloudy Brent crude outlook amid a large drawdown in energy inventories and lingering geopolitical risk, they added.

This, in conjunction with rising risk of El Niño, could tilt the RBI to raise FY27 inflation forecast, while adding downside risk to growth. We expect FY27 inflation to average 5.1%, incorporating a moderate El Niño impact.

Madhavi Arora, chief economist at Emkay Global, doesn't expect the rate-setting panel to tweak repo rate upwards. "We expect the MPC to hold rates steady this week, while signalling readiness to respond should inflation risks intensify and second-round pressures begin to emerge. While the percolation of the energy shock to the real sector is still unfolding, the RBI is likely to flag a cloudy Brent outlook amid a drawdown in energy inventories and lingering geopolitical risks. This, in conjunction with the rising risk of El Niño, could lead the RBI to raise its FY27 inflation forecast, while adding downside risks to growth. Given the rupee weakness, the RBI is likely to reiterate the clear delineation between monetary and forex policy under the inflation-targeting regime."

Any future rate hike would be aimed at curbing domestic demand pressures or anchoring inflation expectations, rather than defending the INR, Arora said. Forex volatility will continue to be managed through reserves and regulatory measures, she added. "We will watch for policy measures aimed at encouraging USD inflows, including incentives for external borrowing and other capital flow channels."

India's May fuel exports hit 4-yr low due to domestic demand

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Production shifts toward LPG

The Kepler report noted that decline in India's export was also caused by a production shift towards the higher liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) output at the expense of other fuels such as petrol and diesel

INDIA'S exports of fuels, including petrol, diesel and aviation turbine fuel (ATF), fell to their lowest level in nearly four years in May due to rising domestic demand. As per a report, the decline was aimed at ensuring adequate domestic supplies amid the conflict in West Asia and ongoing refinery maintenance.

The report, citing data from Kpler Ltd, noted that outbound shipments of products including diesel, petrol and jet fuel averaged about 878,000 barrels a day last month, the lowest since October 2022 and down 31% from a year earlier.

The conflict, which has been ongoing for over 90 days, has led to the near closure of the Strait of Hormuz, disrupting the flow of crude oil and fuels to global customers, including India. India, which imports 88% of its crude oil needs, relies heavily on this route, about 40% of its crude oil imports, 50% of LNG and 90% of LPG.

The report noted that India's export decline was also caused by a production shift towards higher liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) output at the expense of other fuels. LPG is a politically sensitive household fuel used by millions of consumers for cooking, and India imported about 90% of its needs from the Middle East prior to the war.

"This shift reduced the availability of export barrels, with gasoline and gasoil exports seeing the largest impact," said Sumit Ritolia, modeling and refining manager at Kpler.

India's refiners increased LPG production last month to a record 52,000 tonne a day, Sujata Sharma, Joint Secretary in the Petroleum Ministry, said last week.

OYO parent PRISM secures Sebi nod for ₹6,500 cr IPO

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TRAVEL and hospitality firm PRISM (parent company of OYO) has received approval from the capital market regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) to raise ₹6,500 crore through its proposed initial public offering (IPO), according to people aware of the development.

The company had filed its Confidential Draft Red Herring Prospectus (DRHP) with the market regulator at the end of Dec 2025 as part of its listing plans. The filing followed shareholders' approval at an Extraordinary General Meeting (EGM) held on December 20, 2025, where the firm received consent to raise up to ₹6,650 crore via a fresh issue of equity shares.

The proposed IPO is expected to value the company at around $7–8 billion, according to people familiar with the matter.

The company has appointed Axis Capital, Citibank, Goldman Sachs, ICICI Securities, SBI Caps, JM Financials, InCred Capital and Intensive Fiscal Services as the book-running lead managers for the IPO.

The company will now file a public Updated Draft Red Herring Prospectus (UDRHP-1) which will be open for public comments for 21 days. As per sources, the company is planning to file this by early July. Sources said PRISM is currently evaluating market conditions and broader listing timelines while it prepares to file its UDRHP-1.

The development comes as PRISM strengthen its presence across its key markets, India, the US, and Europe and increases its focus on self-operated hotels and the growth of premium brands such as Sunday Hotels & Pallette Hotels.

Godrej Industries enters wealth management biz

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GODREJ Industries Group on Tuesday announced its entry into the wealth management business with the launch of Godrej Wealth, setting a target of managing ₹1 lakh crore in assets under management (AUM) by 2031 as it seeks to tap India's expanding affluent and high-net-worth investor segment.

The new venture will be housed under Godrej Investments, a subsidiary of Godrej Industries Group, and will operate alongside Godrej Capital, the group's lending business, forming part of its broader financial services platform. The company plans to expand the wealth management business to 35 locations across the country over the next five years.

The launch comes at a time when India is witnessing strong wealth creation, rising financialisation of savings, increasing entrepreneurship and a growing transfer of wealth across generations.

India adds 371.5 MW data centre capacity in 2025

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

INDIA'S data centre industry continued its rapid expansion in 2025, adding 371.5 MW of live capacity during the year, up from 361.6 MW in 2024, according to the India Data Centre Market Update 2025 report by Knight Frank India.

Total operational capacity rose to 1.6 GW in 2025, and the sector is likely to grow at a compound annual growth rate of 30% over the next five years.

The report noted that India's operational data centre capacity has increased five-fold from 296 MW in 2016. Mumbai and Bengaluru together accounted for 174 MW of the capacity added in 2025. The report said the country's data centre ecosystem is poised to play a key role in supporting India's ambition of becoming a trillion-dollar digital economy. The sector currently has 322 MW of capacity under construction, expected to become operational over the next few years.

JAPAN

FACTORY GROWTH SLOWS AS COST PRESSURES SURGE

Japan's manufacturing sector expanded in May at a slower pace, as record export order growth was offset by surging costs driven by the Middle East war and inflated output from stockpiling, a private survey showed on Monday. The final S&P Global Japan Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index stood at 54.5 in May, down from April's over four-year high of 55.1 and matched the flash reading. A PMI above 50.0 indicates expansion, while below that level signals contraction. Among PMI sub-indexes, factory output rose for the fifth consecutive month, though the rate of expansion slowed from April. Some respondents attributed the production gains not just to increased sales but also to efforts to expand inventory levels.

CHINA

FACTORY ACTIVITY SLOWS IN MAY

China's manufacturing sector activity slipped to its weakest reading in three months in May as the fallout from the Iran war and entrenched domestic weakness raise fresh doubts about Beijing's growth ambitions. The country's factory sector lost momentum last month, as per official figures published on Sunday, renewing questions about how long the world's second-largest economy can withstand a global energy crisis and stubborn problems with demand at home. The official manufacturing PMI, released jointly by China's NBS and the China Federation of Logistics and Purchasing, fell to 50 in May, down 0.3 points from April.

MALAYSIA

MANUFACTURING PMI SLIPS TO 49.9 IN MAY

Malaysia's manufacturing sector recorded a slight deterioration in business conditions in May, with the S&P Global Malaysia Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) easing to 49.9 from 51.6 in April. The latest headline reading marked a return to contraction territory after two consecutive months of improvement in the health of the Malaysian manufacturing sector. S&P Global said historical relationships between the PMI and official data suggest that the headline figure, which remained close to the 50.0 no-change mark, points to further solid increases in both official manufacturing production and gross domestic product (GDP) midway through the second quarter.

Adani Group capex at record ₹1.53 lakh cr in FY26

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ADANI Group companies reported a record capital expenditure of ₹1.53 lakh crore ($ 16.1 bn) and an all-time high EBITDA of ₹94,834 crore ($10 bn) in the financial year 2025-26.

The investment programme, which the Ahmedabad-based port-to-power conglomerate claims is the largest annual capex undertaken by an Indian corporate group lifted the portfolio's gross asset base to ₹7.85 lakh crore ($ 82.8 bn), with nearly 80% of spending directed towards energy, utilities, transport, and logistics businesses. Consolidated EBITDA rose 5.6% year-on-year, as per the group's annual results and credit compendium released on Tuesday. 'Core infrastructure' platform contributed 87% of this.

"FY26 marks an important inflection point for the Adani Portfolio, as Adani Portfolio companies began its next phase capex cycle. The scale of capital deployment during the year is comparable to the asset base we had built over our first 25 years, reflecting both the infrastructure opportunity before India and the group's confidence in its long-term growth trajectory," said the group in a statement.

Several strategic assets entered operations during FY26 and since, including 5.1 GW of renewable energy capacity and 1.38 GWh of battery energy storage systems (now increased to 3.37 GWh) in the energy & utility vertical, Navi Mumbai International Airport, Guwahati Terminal and the Ganga Expressway (April 2026) in the transport & logistics vertical and copper smelter in the primary industries vertical.

Bahutule appointed India's spin bowling coach

Former India leg-spinner Sairaj Bahutule was appointed as the spin bowling coach of the men's national team, having worked in the India U-19 and India A set-up earlier. "The BCCI is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr Sairaj Bahutule as the Spin Bowling Coach of the Indian Cricket Team (Senior Men)," the BCCI said in a statement.

'MEETING EXPECTATIONS OF EX-CHAMPS NOT MAIN GOAL'

Gukesh's coach Gajewski backs the 20-year-old world champion to bounce back to his best

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Oslo

OVER the last year, a number of former world champions have taken aim at D Gukesh's perceived lack of form, lack of titles and lack of big wins. The cacophony — the white noise so to speak — has been led by Garry Kasparov, Magnus Carlsen and some of the other elite GMs have run with the brief.

To all of those GMs, the Gukesh camp issued a message on Tuesday. "I don't think meeting the expectations of former world champions is his main goal," says Grzegorz Gajewski, Gukesh's primary coach. Considering the Indian world champion has seldom used any of his social media platforms to respond, this is the clearest sign yet that he hasn't been too bothered with the comments aimed at his throne since becoming world champion on that surreal Singapore night in December 2024.

PADDY & GUKESH IN TOUCH

Gajewski revealed that Gukesh and Paddy Upton, the mental conditioning coach who was with him in 2024, are 'talking'. "They have been in touch," he said.

But the Pole, who has been by Gukesh's side in some capacity or the other since the Wijk aan Zee event in 2023, conceded that performances 'have been disappointing'. However, he says 'it has been full of lessons, challenges'. "His Classical results have been disappointing," he says just after dropping his ward on the eighth round of Norway Chess. But he's careful to balance that statement. "People understand that he achieved a certain level... many thought that he was overperforming for a 17-year-old, after that he's been fairly underperforming. I think it's just a matter of time for him to stabilise."

The World No. 20 has lost a ton of rating points since becoming champion (almost 50 in the last year alone) but Gajewski says he can see certain changes over the last few weeks. 'Changes' in this context is over-the-board as well as away from the playing hall. "The way he has been performing here, there is optimism," he says. "It's not perfect, obviously, it's not matching our ambitions but it's better. There's an improvement." When asked to explain, the 40-year-old says it's about his 'resilience'. "He had a couple of good games in Tata Steel and that was it. Rest of the tournament was bad, Prague was also bad. Here it's not like he has played great chess, it's normal. It's not been his A game for sure but it's easy to perform well when it's your A game. For me, the important thing is for him to keep his level regardless."

Even within this answer, the resilience is of two types. One, this ability to fight past below-par results and keep at it. And, two, the ability to convert losing positions to wins. It's what he did against R Praggnanandhaa in one of the earlier rounds in Oslo. At one point, he was down on time and against the engine as well but he put forth a sequence of strong moves and was a move from checkmate when his compatriot resigned.

Off the board, he's also 'happier'. "Anyone who watched him during the rest day will know that for sure. He's also very sharp." The 2732-rated player, who has already put in the full team of seconds for the World Championship match against Javokhir Sindarov, hasn't had a lot of time to focus purely on training because of the calendar. It's one of the reasons why he decided to pull out of the Grand Chess Tour.

While Gajewski refused to comment on the pull-out itself — "I'm not allowed to divulge those details" — he says it has been easier to find the balance between competitive matches and working on new ideas since deciding to withdraw.

"Finding the balance is a constant struggle in the current calendar," he says. "After we withdrew from the GCT, it has become a little easier for him but the last year was crazy but he also gained a lot of experience."

Praggnanandhaa beats Carlsen once again

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Oslo

JUST as a very pleasant summer day in Norway's capital was starting to give way to something colder, R Praggnanandhaa created heat on the chess board to take down Magnus Carlsen for a second time in the same tournament.

The Indian 20-year-old, who had beaten the Norwegian World No. 1 with the white pieces last week, repeated the same trick, this time with the black pieces. With this victory, he also joins one of the very few players to have beaten the 35-year-old five-time world champion thrice in Classical chess. The signs about Carlsen being in danger were there even before the start of round eight. In his customary pre-round small interview with the local broadcaster, he admitted to feeling shit.

R Praggnanandhaa | MICHAL WALUSZA / NORWAY CHESS

And he played a very uncharacteristic match from start to finish. In the end, after he equalised a dicey-looking position, he walked his king into a forced checkmate as long as the young Indian could spot it. And Pragg, who himself has been having an up and down tournament, spotted the continuation. After 47 moves, it was level. Seconds later, the mood changed in the commentary box as experienced broadcasters couldn't keep their excitement down. The eval bar jumped from 0.0 to #7— a blunder of the highest order — after Carlsen's move to Kf4. WIth just 44 seconds on the clock, his opponent had to find 48. Qd4. And Pragg found it immediately. As soon as he played it, Carlsen's already shaky body language dropped. He fiddled around with the king for two more moves but he had already realised that his king was about to be barbecued on the board. The win moves Praggnanandhaa to third on the table with two rounds to go. Carlsen, who collected a fourth Classical loss in eight, will hope this isn't the start of something terminal.

Results: (R8) R Praggnanandhaa bt M Carlsen; (Rd 7; Monday) R Praggnanandhaa bt A Firouzja, M Carlsen bt V Keymer (Armageddon), D Gukesh bt W So (Armageddon) D Deshmukh bt K Humpy (Armageddon), A Muzychuk bt J Wenjun (Armageddon), B Assaubayeva bt Z Jiner.

Delighted Dubey ready for international challenge

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

ON the back of a record-breaking Ranji Trophy season last year – where he scalped 69 wickets – Vidarbha's left arm spinner Harsh Dubey earned his first IPL contract midway through the 2025 campaign. Donning the Sunrisers Hyderabad jersey, he played three matches and gained valuable experience. A year later, his place in the franchise was cemented and with continued performance, Dubey earned a call-up to the Indian senior team for the one-off Test and three-match ODI series against Afghanistan later this month.

"It feels very great to be part of the Indian team. When I first got the news, I thought I was still dreaming of getting selected for the Indian team. It took five minutes for me to sink in and think that yes, I am there in the squad," he told this daily after the IPL eliminator.

He opened up on how his family sacrificed a lot for him in his journey towards getting selected for India. "I think there are a lot of people who sacrificed for me and they have put effort in me. So I think this is great for everyone I feel. Their good wishes and blessings helped me perform," he added.

Harsh Dubey (L) played his first full IPL season for SRH this year | BCCI

The spinner credited his time playing matches at the TNCA first division, adding that it improved his skill set. "It was a very good experience as I learnt to bowl on different wickets against good quality teams. The quality of the Chennai league was good and it automatically made me improve my game," revealed the 23-year-old.

That experience, also translated into good performances in first-class cricket. "It played a big role in my selection. For the last two seasons in Vidarbha I have been performing consistently across formats. I also got to lead Vidarbha, after which I had a fruitful India 'A' stint. So all this will come in handy, if I get an opportunity to play for the country," he said.

While the butterflies in his stomach keep him excited in the lead-up to the series, Dubey said that he is mentally ready to grab the opportunity.

"If I get an opportunity I will grab it with both hands. I am mentally prepared to play for India. Winning the Ranji Trophy is not easy and once you are part of the (winning) process, you get to learn a lot, adapt a lot and also handle the pressure and expectation. The quality of first-class cricket in our country is good and last season almost all the top players participated and this prepares you for international cricket. Plus, the India 'A' experience too gave a glimpse of what to expect in international cricket. I think India 'A' was the last step before playing for the country," he explained.

LEGEND SPEAKS

Shuttlers should be consistent & winning more, says Padukone

SAPTARSHI C @ Bengaluru

INDIAN badminton is at a stage where balancing performance, recovery, and long-term development has become more important than ever. Speaking about the current state of the sport, India legend Prakash Padukone stressed the need for the country's leading shuttlers to manage their schedules more carefully.

"The players need to do much better than what they are doing now, especially the support they are getting now; they should be winning more tournaments and be much more consistent," Padukone, the first Indian to win the All England Open in 1980, told this daily.

Referring to elite players such as Lakshya Sen and Ayush Shetty, the former World No 1 said that constantly chasing ranking points by playing numerous tournaments may not always be the best approach, highlighting the importance of rest, recovery, and targeted preparation for major events. "They need to be more selective with the tournaments they play and focus on performing well in those events. If they consistently reach semifinals, it will earn them the ranking points they need," he said. While expressing optimism about the future of Indian badminton, Padukone highlighted an area of concern in the women's game. He noted that while the technical abilities of Indian women shuttlers are on par with international standards, there remains a significant need to improve their physical conditioning. "If women are losing out on tournaments, a lack of strength could be one of the reasons. They need to focus a little more on physical parameters. They need to build a combination of strength, endurance, agility and power to be more consistent at the highest level," Padukone stressed. While addressing a press conference in Bengaluru on Tuesday during the announcement of a partnership between Shriram Finance and the Padukone School of Badminton (PSB), Padukone stressed the importance of change in mindset — focussing on wins rather than rankings.

"Rankings are important, but players need to focus on winning major tournaments such as the All England Open and the Asian Championships. Success in those events will naturally improve their rankings," he said. His comments highlighted the importance of a balanced, long-term approach.

Ex-India coach believes schools key in growth of basketball

ENS @ Chennai

FORMER Indian basketball team coach Veselin Matic felt that bringing basketball closer to schools will transform the sport in the country. The Serbian believed that the schools already are equipped with facilities and coaches to train children. "My idea is to bring a sport closer to school because schools are much better organised than sports clubs," he said in a virtual interaction.

Matic — who was in the country as part of the International Sports School Organisation (ISSO's) PE Educator upskill program in Delhi which concluded on Tuesday — also believed that the country does not have enough coaches for the players they produce and said they need to upskill. "The only coaches who work professionally are those in the Sports Authority of India (SAI). And then the rest are in state academies. There are few in Tamil Nadu, Punjab and Maharashtra. Why can't we bring an initiative centered around schools?" he said. Many great basketball players have been found as talents through the college system in the United States of America (USA). It has served the developmental pipeline for the National Basketball Association (NBA). Europe has a strong club system, where prominent outfits like FC Barcelona and Real Madrid establish youth academies.

While Matic vouched for schools to develop basketball players in the country, he believed that there is talent in colleges too. "I think about (the college system) it but it is important we begin with schools because that is where the facilities are."

ISL from Sep 1: AIFF's tentative calendar

NEW DELHI: The top tier Indian Super League is set to run from September 1 to April 11 as per the All India Football Federation's (AIFF) tentative calendar for the 2026-27 season, with the Federation Cup slated from April 20 to May 10. According to the tentative calendar, the ISL will return to a full seven-month season after a truncated one this year due to administrative issues. The Indian Football League (IFL), the second tier of men's football, could begin from October 9.

Scaled-down CGM tournament to return with eight Grandmasters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE fourth edition of the Chennai Grand Masters, India's biggest elite Classical chess event, is set to be scaled back. The competition, scheduled to run for a week from July 16, will only comprise eight players (down from 10).

The organisers are still working out on the Challengers section for the event but as of now, the working assumption is that this year's tournament will only consist of the Masters section.

Quantbox will return as the title sponsor but some of the persisting geopolitical issues have affected the tournament. With Chennai also not having the greatest connectivity to European cities, that has also thrown a spanner into the works.

The packed nature of the calendar has also meant a truncated space to work with. But it's understood that the organisers didn't want to compromise on the quality of the field.

So, just like the first few years, the average rating of the roster will be above 2700 ELO. Like last year, it's learned that the tournament will be held in a hotel.

The ticketing processes will begin in due course. There are plans to have a fan zone as well as allowing the paying public access to live commentary.

It's also understood that one of the big Chennai-based GMs will be part of the all-men elite field. One of the eight players, though, could be M Pranesh, who topped the Challengers section last year. In April, the teen was a vital member of the R Vaishali camp during her win at the women's Candidates in Cyprus.

GCL fights for calendar space with Olympiad

The fourth edition of the Global Chess League (GCL) will stay in India. But the franchise-based league, to be held in a south Indian city over the first two weeks of September, will have to fight with the Olympiad for space.

It's why some of the players may have to choose if they want to be involved in the FIDE-approved league before flying out to Samarkhand to feature in the Olympiad, a blue-riband FIDE competition. As it stands, GCL is finishing on September 13 while the Olympiad is scheduled to start two days later.

Second seed Zverev brushes off Jodar to reach last-four stage

AGENCIES @ Paris

ALEXANDER Zverev laid down a marker at the French Open on Tuesday with a straight-sets victory over rising Spanish star Rafael Jodar to book his spot in the semifinals.

With the crushing 7-6 (3), 6-1, 6-3 win over the 19-year-old, Zverev advanced to his fifth Roland Garros semifinal in the last six years. The second seed is considered the heavy favourite to win his first Grand Slam title, following the shock early departures of top seed Jannik Sinner and 24-time Major champion Novak Djokovic last week in Paris.

Zverev has finished runner-up three times in Grand Slam finals, including at Roland Garros two years ago.

"I want to win the matches that are ahead of me, that is my goal, that is my aim," said Zverev, who has only dropped one set en route to the last four.

"I just want to keep going, but yeah, we'll see."

Kostyuk takes giant step

Meanwhile, Marta Kostyuk beat compatriot Elina Svitolina to reach her maiden Grand Slam semifinal and become the first Ukrainian woman to reach the last four at Roland Garros in the professional era.

Kostyuk, the 15th seed, overcame Svitolina 6-3, 2-6, 6-2, and will take on Russian teenager Mirra Andreeva on Thursday for a place in the final.

Earlier on Monday, Aryna Sabalenka overpowered fellow four-time Grand Slam champion Naomi Osaka in the women's singles last 16.

World No 1 Sabalenka was too strong for a battling Osaka, winning 7-5, 6-3. The Belarusian will next face Diana Shnaider.

MYTHS & FACTS

THE FACT

Most birds do not abandon their chicks simply because a human has touched them

Touching a baby bird will cause its mother to abandon it

THINK AGAIN

WHAT'S REALLY HAPPENING

1. A common belief is that parent birds can smell human scent on their chicks and reject them. However, most bird species rely far more on sight and sound than smell when caring for their young
2. If a nestling falls from its nest, wildlife experts generally agree that it can be returned safely. In most cases, the parents will continue feeding and caring for it as normal
3. However, excessive disturbance near a nest can stress parent birds and may cause them to avoid the area. The real risk is repeated interference, not human scent

WHY IT MATTERS

- This myth can discourage people from helping young birds that have accidentally fallen from their nests
- Understanding how birds actually care for their young can improve wildlife rescue efforts and give vulnerable chicks a better chance of survival

WHAT IF

What if lightning never existed?

LIGHTNING does far more than light up the sky. It naturally converts atmospheric nitrogen into compounds that enrich soil and support plant growth. It is also a major trigger of wildfires, which help many forests and grasslands by clearing dead vegetation, recycling nutrients and stimulating seed germination.

Some scientists believe lightning may have helped produce the organic molecules needed for life on early Earth. The Miller-Urey experiment showed that electrical sparks can generate amino acids, the building blocks of proteins, under certain conditions. Without lightning, Earth's ecosystems and chemistry would be far less dynamic.

Could microbot 'surgeons' repair the spine?

SURGERIES on injured spinal cords could see a revolutionary change with a new method devised by ETH Zurich researchers using nanoparticles with magnetoelectric signals that conduct the surgeries. The researchers' new approach combines therapeutic stem cells with magnetoelectric nanoparticles, which are magnetically guided to the precise site of an injury and stimulate stem cells to accelerate repair. The team created a biohybrid microrobot by combining live neural progenitor cells (NPCs) with specially engineered nanoparticles. These nanoparticles are devised with two layers — an inner layer responding to magnetic fields, and the outer layer converting this response into electrical signals. By combining these special nanoparticles with the progenitor cells, the researchers fabricated what they call "NPCbots". The NPCs are derived from induced pluripotent stem cells (iPS cells) — adult cells reprogrammed to regain stem cell properties. In the spinal cord, these cells can develop into various types of nervous system cells. Researchers have tested the NPCbot-guided procedure in zebrafish and mice with promising results, though further studies are needed before it can be tried in humans.

A scientist's INDIAN DREAM

Dr G Satheesh Reddy talks to TNIE about his early life, DRDO journey and India's hypersonic ambitions

FROM working under Dr APJ Abdul Kalam on India's early missile programmes to leading the Defence Research and Development Organisation, former DRDO chairman Dr G Satheesh Reddy has been at the forefront of the country's defence trajectory. In an interaction with TNIE, he reflects on his journey, India's growing self-reliance in defence technologies and the future of warfare.

Q Tell us about your journey from a remote village to becoming one of India's leading missile scientists

I was born in a remote village in Nellore district, where we had no electricity until around Class 6. My mother had a dream that I would become an engineer, and I eventually became the first from my village to do so. After moving from Telugu medium to English medium, I overcame my fear of speaking English, chose to stay in India and joined DRDO, a decision that changed my life.

The turning point came when I joined Hyderabad's missile laboratory and met Dr APJ Abdul Kalam. After speaking to me about my background and giving me a book on rocket science, he assigned me to the navigation group, a decision that shaped my entire career.

Under Dr Kalam's leadership, the country launched the Integrated Guided Missile Development Programme, including Prithvi, Agni, Akash, Trishul and Nag. I had the opportunity to work on the early Prithvi and Agni programmes and witness his leadership firsthand. His vision, ability to inspire people and commitment to self-reliance laid the foundation for India's missile capabilities and paved the way for programmes such as BrahMos.

Q For a layperson, what makes BrahMos different from other missiles?

Generally, missiles are ballistic in nature, meaning they follow an elliptical path. If you throw a stone, it also follows an elliptical path. A ballistic missile rises to a certain altitude and then follows such a trajectory towards its target.

A cruise missile is different. It flies continuously at a very low altitude, like an aircraft, sometimes as low as 100 metres. Because it flies low, enemy radars find it much harder to detect due to horizon limitations. Within cruise missiles, there are subsonic and supersonic variants. The American Tomahawk is subsonic, travelling below the speed of sound. BrahMos is a supersonic cruise missile, travelling at nearly three times the speed of sound while flying at low altitude. That combination of speed and flight profile makes detection and interception extremely difficult.

Q Why is BrahMos so difficult to intercept?

It is difficult, very difficult. That is why the next generation is hypersonic missiles, which travel at around Mach 6, six times the speed of sound. India is also working in this area. Hypersonic systems use a scramjet engine, and recently the indigenous scramjet engine was successfully tested for 1,200 seconds, a major achievement that gives us tremendous confidence about future hypersonic missile capabilities.

Today, I can confidently say that India has become self-reliant in missiles and has also developed strong capabilities in radars, sonars, torpedoes, AWACS, tanks, guns, armoured vehicles and ships. It has been a journey of three to four decades, but India has progressed on a very fast trajectory.

Q Which areas are critical for India's next phase of defence self-reliance?

There are still gaps in areas such as aero engines, ship propulsion systems, advanced sensors, detectors and specialised materials, though significant R&D is underway to reduce import dependence.

The confidence of the Armed Forces in DRDO today is far higher than it was a decade ago. At the same time, there is always a balance between the Armed Forces' need for immediate capabilities and the time required for indigenous development.

India is focusing strongly on self-reliance in advanced technologies, including hypersonic missiles, while development cycles have reduced from nearly 10 years to around four years. Indigenous content in the Armed Forces has risen from about 30% to nearly 65%, and I believe it could reach 80% within the next five or six years.

Private industry and startups are playing a major role, particularly in drones and cybersecurity, with nearly 90% of the drone ecosystem driven by startups. Defence spending has grown from about ₹2.5 lakh crore in 2013–14 to ₹7.85 lakh crore today, while defence exports reached about ₹39,000 crore in 2025–26, reflecting India's transition from a major importer to a growing exporter of defence equipment.

Q Why is aero-engine development, particularly the Kaveri programme, so challenging?

Engine development is an extremely tough task. It involves advanced materials, processing technologies, manufacturing technologies and numerous subsystems. All of these are highly complex areas.

Regarding Kaveri, I strongly believe that any development programme succeeds best when there is a stable application requirement. When the Kaveri programme started, it was intended for the LCA.

However, both the country and the LCA programme were evolving. Over time, the LCA's requirements changed significantly, and the specifications Kaveri was originally designed for no longer matched the final aircraft requirements. As a result, we had to use an imported engine. But let me tell you, Kaveri itself has been developed. The dry version, producing around 47 kilonewtons of thrust, can be used for applications such as UAVs and similar platforms.

At missile laboratory in Hyd, Dr Kalam handed me a book on rocket science & placed me in navigation group, shaping my entire career— G Satheesh Reddy

Q Many IIT graduates choose the private sector over DRDO or ISRO. How do you view this trend?

Students who get into IITs are undoubtedly bright, but that does not mean those who study elsewhere are not. Take Dr APJ Abdul Kalam himself; he was not from an IIT. Many IIT graduates have also joined DRDO and ISRO, including leaders such as Avinash Chander and Venugopal.

What has changed is the ecosystem. Today, nearly 75% of IIT graduates stay in India, while startups, incubation centres such as T-Hub and T-Works, venture funding and mentoring have created new opportunities. India now has around 2.35 lakh startups, nearly 90% led by young people.

Q Looking back, what have been the most memorable and challenging moments of your career?

Mission Shakti was the most memorable and defining moment of my career. It was also the most stressful, but successfully delivering on that mission was immensely satisfying. Another turning point was being posted to DRDL under Dr APJ Abdul Kalam, which shaped my career. While there were disappointments, particularly failed tests, I believe failures are the greatest teachers.

The bench or the keyboard: Why science must embrace AI

A recent incident caught my attention: a journal rejected a research paper solely because the authors used AI as a writing aid. It raises a larger and increasingly urgent question — how far should academic institutions go in restricting the tools scientists use to communicate their work? A scientist's core obligation is to observe, hypothesise, experiment and draw inference. Writing is the vessel for that inference, not the science itself. Unlike novels or literary journalism, research papers demand clarity, accuracy and accessibility. If AI can provide those qualities while freeing researchers to spend more time on scientific work, its value deserves consideration.

Resistance to AI in scientific writing intensified quickly after ChatGPT's release in 2022. Journals including Science, Nature and JAMA initially imposed restrictions, while ethics bodies such as ICMJE and COPE excluded AI from authorship.

Yet history shows that transformative tools are often first met with suspicion. Concerns about hallucination, accountability and integrity are legitimate, but restriction alone is not a solution. AI systems are rapidly improving in factual grounding and source accuracy.

Academic publishing exists to advance knowledge, not police tools. The challenge is not prohibition, but building transparent frameworks for responsible AI use in science.

Ahead of DK Shivakumar's swearing-in today as Karnataka CM, CE explores the attention around his luxury fashion choices and what such style signals in politics

Power Dressing 2.0

ON Wednesday, DK Shivakumar is set to take oath as Karnataka Chief Minister in what is being described as a relatively low-key ceremony. Even so, the conversation around him has been anything but quiet. In the days leading up to it, his public appearances have drawn attention for their luxury touches, with accessories and designer labels circulating widely on social media.

What was once seen as individual style in politics is now read as part of a wider visual language around image and public perception. Fashion consultant and curator & advocate for Indian textiles Prasad Bidapa points to a sharp shift in how political dressing is consumed these days – visibility has changed everything about how leaders are seen and remembered. "Political dressing has become far more strategic than it was a decade ago. Earlier, clothing was largely functional and symbolic like khadi kurtas, white shirts, Gandhi caps and regional attire communicated ideology and identity," he says, adding, "Today, every public appearance is amplified on social media. Politicians are far more conscious of fit, colour, grooming and overall presentation."

But why do discussion around luxury brands generate so much public interest, especially when the involved are politicians? Entrepreneur-designer Michelle Salins, puts accountability on clothing which often communicates values. "Citizens expect politicians to understand ordinary lives and realities. So when a politician is associated with ultra-luxury brands, people question whether they align with their lifestyles. That's why luxury brands generate so much discussion in politics," she says, while Bidapa opines that the lens of public scrutiny functions differently for celebrities and politicians, with the latter being naturally scrutinised closely for they represent public institutions. He says, "Visible luxury can sometimes become controversial. However, there is a distinction between conspicuous consumption and celebrating craftsmanship. When a politician wears a magnificent handwoven textile created by Indian artisans, the conversation shifts from personal wealth to cultural pride, heritage preservation and support for traditional livelihoods."

Independent creative director and stylist Aryan Gaurav Naidu, points out how politicians have 'added layers'. "Former CM Siddaramaiah was recently spotted wearing Coach socks; DKS is often seen in Louis Vuitton and Dolce & Gabbana accessories. It has become a common sight among senior leaders" opines Naidu, who names Kangana and Rahul Gandhi as the best-dressed politicians.

On Stage, Off Script

At public events, political appearances often carry a strong visual imprint, where clothing choices stand out as much as the occasion. In Tamil Nadu, now CM, actor-politician Vijay drew attention during his swearing-in ceremony when he appeared in a black suit. The look stood out in a setting where most attendees wore white or traditional attire. The choice also carried a cinematic quality for many observers with the formal styling and screen-like presentation reminding some of his film personas. In contrast, Rahul Gandhi has gradually changed his public appearances over time. He moved from a white kurta-based dressing in earlier years to more casual combinations such as polos and chinos during public interactions and campaign events. PM Narendra Modi, on the other hand, in often associated with sharply-tailored traditional wear that has become part of his public identity, while Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has frequently drawn attention for her choice of sarees, including handloom and region-specific weaves worn during key moments such as the Union Budget presentation.

WARDROBE PLAN FOR DKS

Bidapa outlines an idea for DKS built around formal tailoring and Indian textiles, aimed at creating a consistent public appearance. "I would combine elegance, authority and Indian heritage. Beautifully-tailored white shirts and bandhgalas would remain central, but I would introduce exceptional handloom elements like Kashmiri Pashmina shawls, fine Eri silk jackets, handwoven stoles and bespoke textiles from across India," he says, adding that the focus would be on discipline in dressing, using clothing that highlights craftsmanship and structure.

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BEPUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1 Kempegowda founded Bengaluru with the imperial permission of Vijayanagara Emperor Achyutharaya by raising a mud fort in the vicinity of the present city market area in the year 1537. The fort he erected had eight prominent gates, and the streets within were designated based on the trading activity, namely Doddapete, Chikkapete, Akkipete, Balepete, Upparpete, Aralipete, etc. Which small province, today a prominent residential suburb in the north of Bengaluru, was Kempegowda, the chieftain and feudatory, while founding Bengaluru: Yelahanka or Begur?

2 Tipu Sultan was barely 13 when he accompanied his father, Hyder Ali, on his Malabar mission in 1763, from which he emerged to be known as the 'Tiger of Mysore', the most powerful ruler of southern India. During his reign, Tipu enhanced the trade activities in Bengaluru, promoted silk trade, setup sericulture hubs, and invited weavers and designers from different parts of the country. Tipu actively developed Lalbagh and completed the works of a grand Palace in 1791. Tipu also strengthened the military aspects of the city, manufactured rockets and built armory. Which burgeoning locality today on the northern outskirts of Bengaluru was where Tipu Sultan was born: Hoskote or Devanahalli?

3 Wodeyars ruled the erstwhile Kingdom of Mysore from 1399 to 1947, perhaps the only royal family in India that has ruled over a Kingdom for more than 5 centuries. The dynasty too had immensely contributed to the growth and development of Bengaluru. Be it the strengthening of the fort, introducing a systematic administration known as 'Attara Kacheri', postal sytem known as 'Anche', literary pursuits and cultural contribution, have elevated the status of Mysore as one of the outstanding Kingdoms in India. Name the palatial heritage bungalow in the city today owned by the Wodeyar family.

Billionaire entrepreneur interviews global equity firm president in new podcast episode

In the latest episode of People by WTF, Nikhil Kamath brought together five voices for a conversation that moved across geographies, generations, and the question of what it takes to build through instability. The episode centres around Martin Escobari, copPresident, General Atlantic, but opens with a group of Columbia students on the call, and a single question. What are you afraid of? The answers: climate, inequality, leaders without moral compass, a world turning inward. The two discussed Escobari's early years growing up in 1980s Bolivia, what it takes to be a successful founder, and mapping the next decade to four global waves: An AI-turbocharged digital transition, healthcare transformation, energy transition and the rise of the new consumer in the Global South. For the final movement, Kamath brought in two more guests. Florian Brand, German, co-founder of Atai Life Sciences and Aniruddh, a physician-turned-founder who runs Karma Global Enterprise. Also featured was Aryan Sharma, a 21-year-old raised in Mumbai who cold-emailed Sam Altman, got the meeting, moved to San Francisco, and started an AI company.

K-alling all stars!

KNOWN FOR GLOBALLY-POPULAR GROUPS LIKE BTS AND KATSEYE, KOREAN ENTERTAINMENT GIANT HYBE'S POP-UP PARK & AUDITION WAS THE HIGHLIGHT OF BENGALURU K-POP FANS' WEEKEND

CAUSE I, I, I'm in the stars tonight, rings out through the walls of the convention centre and a wave of cheers goes through the crowd as they get in position to 'set the night alight' with the steps of Korean boy group BTS' hit song Dynamite. Bass booming, drums kicking and K-pop fans 'rolling on like rolling stones' – the song seems to have predicted the energy thrumming through the Random Play Dance Segment of HYBE India's pop up park held in the city over the weekend. "I'm used to festivals where people hop, wave their hands and vibe to the music. Having a hundred people around you, engaged in the music and dancing to the same steps was a totally new experience," said Narendra Kondappa, a techie, who got his first real taste of K-pop because he tagged along with his friend.

Apart from Random Play Dance, a classic K-pop activity where random K-pop songs are played and fans step up to perform their choreos, the pop up park had a range of performances featuring popular young artistes like DJ Alo, Sarah Black (of Maname fame) and Ranj × Clifr.

Alongside the performance, a range of pop-up stalls made the event a celebration of all things K-culture that have become popular alongside K-pop: K-beauty, K-food and even K-tech. Stalls served ramen, fans could have K-pop karaoke sessions in cars, then get a Korean colour analysis done and be bedazzled in glittery K-pop-style makeup. Freebies and long lines awaited fans at each stall though, as the event sold out on both days with the organisers having to add more tickets to meet demands.

For fans of groups like BTS, Seventeen, Katseye, TXT, Enhypen under the company and its subsidiaries, this was one of the biggest K-pop events the city has seen. For Lochan, a 20-year-old BCA student, who got into K-pop in 2018, an event at this scale would have been unimaginable a few years ago. "Back then, people saw K-pop as 'cringe'. We just had a few fan organised events in Bengaluru, concert film screenings and cover dance groups," she said. Anoushka Ashok, an advertising student, added, "This is the first time we're getting something so official. What I really want to see next is K-pop concerts though!"

This festival of K-culture was happening alongside the K-pop giant's auditions for a new girl group. While not many official details have been revealed, Ashok hopes it will have an Indian touch. "I hope they try to stick more to our roots than keep the group entirely to the K-pop standard. That will be more interesting to see, compared to something similar to existing groups." A representative from the company noted that they have been looking for candidates who show strong potential and star quality and plan to launch them onto the global stage as the next generation of pop superstars following in the footsteps of groups like BTS and Katseye.

While fans were all smiles at the event, some feathers were ruffled by a last-minute venue change to EBISU Convention Center in Chokkanahalli to avoid safety issues from heavy rainfall. "The previous venue had metro connectivity and was better for my friends who lived 15 km away. Some dropped out because they were worried about travelling home from the outskirts. But I'm glad to see there's proper temperature regulation and adequate water available here," said Teja Madhava, a recent graduate.

But with Saturday seeing heavy rainfall and flooding, most were glad for a roof over the festivities, calling it an organisational improvement on the last big K-pop event in the city in 2024, when K-pop stars Suho and Hyolyn performed in the rain. "This is definitely more accommodating and made sense to me because it was announced a few days in advance. We left just before the rain started on Saturday, but imagine if it was open-air," shuddered Ashok.

OVEREATING? HERE'S HOW TO PUT AN END TO BINGE EATING

Binge eating is often because of emotional stress, restrictive dieting, poor meal patterns and unmanaged cravings. A healthier relation with food will help you control this pattern.

STOP SKIPPING MEALS
Restrictive eating often leads to intense hunger later, increasing the likelihood of overeating. Eat balanced meals consistently to stabilise hunger and energy.

INCLUDE PROTEIN AND FIBRE IN EVERY MEAL
Meals low in protein and fiber digest quickly and increase cravings. Therefore, add meals that are protein- and fiber-rich like eggs, yoghurt, fruits, vegetables and oats.

IDENTIFY EMOTIONAL EATING TRIGGERS
Tracking your emotional patterns will help you understand the triggers. This can be your first step towards control.

AVOID THE GOOD FOOD VS BAD FOOD MINDSET
If you are practicing total restriction, it may increase guilt and overeating cycles. Practicing moderation instead of complete restriction will help you.

IMPROVE SLEEP AND STRESS MANAGEMENT
Prioritise 7-8 hours of sleep and include calming practices like yoga or walking. Poor sleep disrupts hunger hormones and increases cravings for sugary, high-calorie foods.

SLOW DOWN WHILE EATING
Chewing slowly and eating without screens can help you improve your satiety. Fast eating reduces awareness of fullness cues.

DON'T KEEP TRIGGER FOODS IN EASY REACH
Try to avoid environments which make unhealthy food easily accessible. Stock healthier snack alternatives and reduce impulsive access to ultra-processed foods.

BUILD SUSTAINABLE HABITS
Extreme dieting after a binge often worsens the cycle. Return to normal eating patterns instead of compensating with starvation or excessive exercise.

SEEK SUPPORT IF NEEDED
Frequent binge eating may require professional support from a nutritionist or therapist.

Artist Saaya Mannathara paints a woman with a thoughtful gaze, lost in a moment of contemplation

Speaking to CE on the sidelines of the Dead Write lit fest in the city, author and former journalist S Hussain Zaidi discusses the changing face of organised crime and questions the larger-than-life image surrounding Dawood Ibrahim

'DAWOOD IS ALIVE & HAVING FUN'

SRUTHI HEMACHANDRAN

FOR decades, Mumbai's underworld has occupied a curious space in public imagination: a world of gang wars, power struggles, police crackdowns and larger-than-life figures whose stories often blurred the line between reality and fiction. Few writers have documented that landscape as closely as author S Hussain Zaidi, whose works have chronicled organised crime and some of its most notorious names.

Dead Write, a recent genre festival by the Bangalore Literature Festival, that brought together voices exploring crime and storytelling, saw Zaidi among its speakers. Talking to CE on the sidelines of the event, the author said his journey into crime journalism had little to do with ambition and more to do with circumstances. "I became a crime journalist by accident. When I applied [for the job], there was no vacancy for civic reporting, or education or politics. The only slot vacant was for crime journalism, and I wanted to become a reporter, so I thought, why not try my hand, maybe I can do this," he recalls.

The unexpected career-turn led him into decades of reporting on gangsters and underworld networks, experiences that later found their way into several of his books. Looking back at the underworld today, Zaidi reveals the landscape has changed drastically. He says, "These days they are not violent or abusive. They don't call or threaten too many people. The manpower they have is much less and new recruitment has stopped. So they are in a way crippled by the police crackdown"

Some of his most memorable encounters came from unexpected people. He recalls meeting a wealthy man whom he initially assumed was a hotelier, before learning that he had quietly been working as an informer. Speaking about it, Zaidi says, "I asked him, 'why are you an informer and how have you made this money?' He said, 'I'm just trying to help the police so that it could be my contribution towards eradicating crime from this city. Because I'm in this business, a lot of people come to my bar and talk. Sometimes I record their conversations or get them on CCTV and share it with the police." The discovery surprised him because the man appeared to have no obvious personal motivation behind his actions.

No conversation around Mumbai's underworld remains complete without the mention of Dawood Ibrahim, a figure who occupies a significant place in several of Zaidi's works. Asked whether the wanted underworld don is still alive, he replies, "Yeah, he is, and having fun," adding that he was believed to be near Karachi. But rather than adding to the 'mythology' surrounding him, Zaidi questions why people had elevated him into something larger than reality. "He's but a human being, a mortal, a gangster. You cannot elevate him to that level. But it is movies that have made him so big. Even he must be laughing at us and saying, 'Oh wow, you guys, thank you for making me so big'," he laughs.

The 58-year-old author of Dongri To Dubai: Six Decades of the Mumbai Mafia, Mafia Queens of Mumbai and Black Friday: The True Story of the Bombay Bomb Blasts, also challenges common assumptions around Dawood's rise. "They always thought that Dawood became a criminal much later in life or by his own efforts. But actually, he was a small-time ruffian, who was used by Inspector Ranbeer Likha to handle the Pathans in those days," he shares. According to him, rivalries and power structures also played a role in Dawood's early rise, with the Pathans' growing influence creating circumstances that helped propel him forward and a don was born, officially.

Zaidi's exploration of the underworld also extended beyond gangsters through Mafia Queens of Mumbai, where he focused on women and their role within that burning world. Speaking about what interested him in those stories, he says, "Women are far more interesting. They are lethal, manipulative and can make men dance to their tunes. Men don't even realise and understand that this 'poor, harmless-looking girl' is actually ruling him and making him do so many impossible things. So, I thought that Mafia Queens should be an experiment." Even after writing about them, Zaidi says he continues to be fascinated by the profiles of these women.

PEDDI FELT LIKE MY OWN FILM: SHIVARAJKUMAR

> As a fan, I want to watch Rajinikanth and Kamal Haasan together on screen. That itself is magic. I do not want anybody else there. But if an opportunity comes, nothing like it. Of course, Nelson will decide, and he knows best-
> Shivarajkumar, actor

Shivarajkumar opens up about working in Peddi, finding emotional resonance with Ram Charan, pan-India recognition, Kannada cinema, politics, and much more

A SHARADHAA

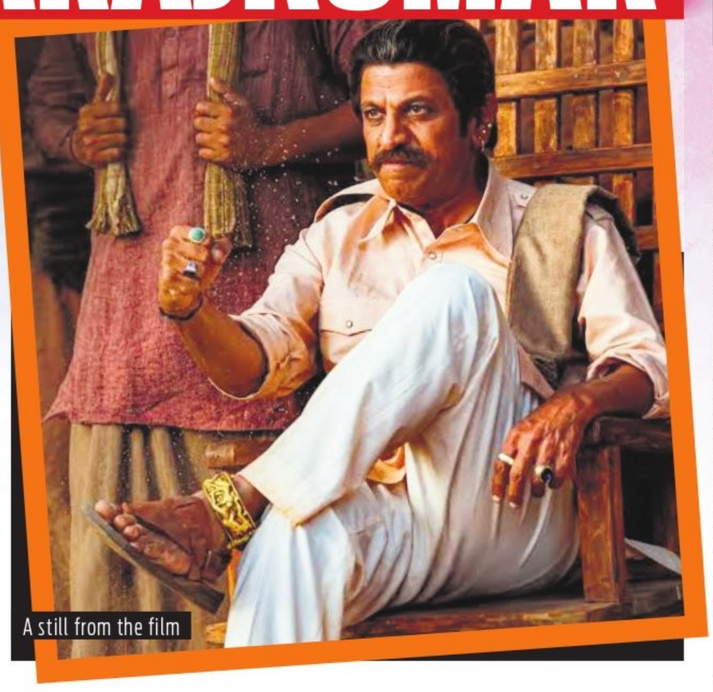
For a star who has spent decades carrying films as a leading man, Shivarajkumar is in an interesting phase of reinvention. After making a memorable impact in Nelson Dilipkumar-Rajinikanth's Jailer and playing a pivotal role in Dhanush's Captain Miller, Shivanna is now gearing up for Ram Charan's Peddi, directed by Buchi Babu Sana and produced by Vriddhi Movies and presented by Mythri Movie Makers. The film, which hits screens on June 4, came to him at a particularly emotional moment because Peddi was among the first projects he resumed after a life-altering surgery.

Shivarajkumar asserts that the road to recovery is not as straightforward as many think. "It took me nearly 1.5 months to settle down. People take recovery lightly, but what I had was a bladder surgery. It is like getting accustomed to a new body," says the actor, who reveals that this road also included the making of Peddi. "The introduction portions of my character were among the first shoots I resumed after surgery. The makers did not mind waiting for me to recover," says Shivarajkumar, adding that he asked the makers of Peddi to move on and cast another actor instead of him to save their resources. However, the team insisted they'd wait for Shivarajkumar to be back.

Even the actor had a change of heart, especially since the film had his 'favourite hero' Ram Charan as the lead. "I like that boy very much. More than a hero, somewhere I felt like I was working with my younger brother," says the actor, who shared a particularly fond memory he had while filming Peddi. "There is one scene where two brothers are talking. When I did that scene with Ram Charan, it genuinely felt like Appu and me were speaking. Even some people on the set felt the same. After that, I did not feel like backing out of the film."

Interestingly, industry conversations suggest that the role was initially imagined differently, with reports claiming that Ram Charan's father, Chiranjeevi, was considered before the Telugu superstar suggested Shivarajkumar for the part. "It was a blessing, and sometimes these things feel like God's message. Rajini sir felt I should do Jailer. In the same way, perhaps Chiranjeevi felt I could play this role," says a rather pensive Shivarajkumar, adding, "There are many common emotional factors between Chiranjeevi garu's family and ours."

Despite his stature and the Rajkumar legacy, it took a long time for Shivarajkumar to venture out of Kannada cinema. "I'd say it came at the right time," points out the superstar. Interestingly, another reason for this recent exploration of non-Kannada films is the kind of love he has been receiving in other industries. "There is so much love I receive across regions. On flights and while travelling, people ask about my health. Audiences from other languages are concerned and shower me with love. I feel lucky."



A still from the film

As an elder statesman of the Kannada film industry, Shivanna also touches upon the conversations surrounding theatre access, and the box-office returns of recent films. "When people say films are not doing well, I also had Bhairathi Ranagal and Ghost that worked," he says, adding, "It is not that people do not want to come to theatres. Films need that pull. Every industry goes through phases." At the same time, he is also pragmatic about the importance of encouraging films from all languages. "I liked how Pawan Kalyan spoke about welcoming films from everywhere. Whether Kannada or any language, cinema should be encouraged," says Shivarajkumar, adding that it is important such chatter doesn't turn confrontational.

"Theatre problems should be handled within the various chambers. Some things are out of our hands. Even if we support or oppose something, it becomes something else altogether. I have faced controversies over the past year, but I believe God is above and will take care," says Shivanna, as he gets back to Peddi mode as he talks about his character in the film, Gournaidu, and how it has left a really strong impression. The role is inspired by the life of the real-life wrestler Kodi Rammurthy Naidu. "I was told about the inspiration, and what I liked was the detailing and preparation."

Shivanna also heaps praise on Team Peddi's ability to cut the viral trailer. "The trailer is cleverly cut and has everyone saying they are a Peddi fan. But Peddi does not become Peddi alone. It is a journey of the people around him, both positive and negative. The people he meets shape him," says the actor, adding that this idea mirrors real life. "Not everything can be positive. There were various circumstances that I had to traverse. Right from my recovery from cancer, difficult phases, meeting good people, interacting with bad people, understanding the society.... Life is a journey."

Despite Peddi being the film he shot during recovery, Shivarajkumar featured in a fair share of action sequences, and he credits the environment around him for acing these scenes. "The love became motivation," he says, adding, "The affection on the sets, from family, friends, industry, and fans, pushed me. It was not emotional pressure. It was genuine care."

Shivarajkumar also speaks warmly about carrying the Kannada identity into other industries. "There is always love for our people," he says. "Everywhere, conversations about Dr Rajkumar happen, and Appu has fans everywhere." The actor also points out that the Peddi set never felt unfamiliar. "I became comfortable with Telugu. Ram Charan made me comfortable. I never felt I was doing an other-language film. It felt like my own film," says Shivarajkumar.

His impact through pivotal roles has also sparked a different discussion. Have Jailer and now Peddi made him realize that a strong character role can have as much impact as a lead role? "It depends on who presents it," he says, crediting Nelson, Buchi Babu Sana, and Arun Matheswaran. "Nelson was the first to make me do a cameo. Cameos rarely create magic, but sometimes they do, like the character Narasimha I played in Jailer, and Suriya as Rolex in Vikram."

Despite having so many years of experience, Shivanna remains amazed by the reach of cinema. "I hear people from North India, Nepal, and Pakistan talking about our films and watching dubbed versions. It depends on how they see an actor," shares Shivarajkumar, who quickly points out that the audiences outside Karnataka are not seeing a new Shivanna. "I have a handful of powerful roles in Kannada too. Tagaru, Bhairathi Ranagal, Ghost, and 45. Even my look in Bail became a talking point. Sudeep recently told me he saw Rajkumar in that look. One superstar appreciating another is not easy."

However, as someone who has carried solo leads for decades, is the superstar really comfortable embracing this transition? "It is okay with me. I want to prove I can fit into both spaces, being a hero and also playing strong, pivotal characters," says Shivarajkumar, who lists out the exciting projects in the pipeline. "There is Bail, the Gummadi Narsaiah project, and a special appearance in Hemanth M Rao's 666 Operation Dream Theatre. I won't be doing cameos for the sake of it. There needs to be some specialty, and that is there in the Hemanth project."

Will we be seeing Shivarajkumar in the upcoming biggie directed by Nelson, which marks the much-awaited reunion of Rajinikanth and Kamal Haasan? "As a fan, I want to watch Rajinikanth and Kamal Haasan together on screen. That itself is magic. I do not want anybody else there. But if an opportunity comes, nothing like it. Of course, Nelson will decide, and he knows best," says the actor, who gradually veers the conversation into politics, especially the meteoric rise of actor-turned-politician Vijay, the current Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu. "Through his films, Vijay always hinted at what he wanted to become," says Shivanna, adding, "He wants to contribute, and he is handling it intelligently. I respect every politician, including Udhayanidhi Stalin, Siddaramaiah, DK Shivakumar, Yediyurappa, and even Prime Minister Narendra Modi. All we look forward to is that whoever comes should serve society." However, he is quick to shut down any insinuations about his political entry. "I do not have the patience. I am happy serving people differently," he says with a smile.

Man, Woman and God

NAMRATA JOSHI

MAN-woman relationships form the core of several stories told on screen. In Haitian writer-director-actor Gessica Geneus's Marie Madeleine, it becomes an uncommon meeting ground as well as a flashpoint for love, friendship, desire, faith and freedom. The Haiti-France-Belgium-Luxembourg-Canada co-production had its world premiere in the Cannes Premiere section of the recently concluded Cannes Film Festival.

It may not quite be the case of sparks flying, but things do get upended and chaotic when Joseph (Beonard Monteau), a man of God in the making, meets a hardened sex worker, Marie Madeleine (Geneus herself), in the most unusual of circumstances, involving blood, a miscarriage, and a hospital. No two souls could be more unlike each other. One doesn't just believe in God but also in evangelising and saving the souls of one's fellow human beings. The other knows no rules and is the personification of recklessness. As spirituality locks horns with hedonism, a beautiful but tenuous and enigmatic bond starts getting cemented between the two. Will Joseph give in to his buried lust for life, or will Marie turn religious? Is it love that the two share or something deeper and defining?

The Biblical reference to Mary Magdalene, the closest follower of Jesus Christ, takes the relationship beyond the carnal, rich as it is with the elements of sheltering, nurturing, and care. If Joseph treats Marie as someone more than a piece of flesh, she encourages his passion for photography and helps him come to terms with his true self, forbidden as his desires might be. It's all about camaraderie and solidarity in their struggles. Set in Jacmel, the film makes Haiti's southern coastal town into a character in its own right. The sea, the churches, the brothels, the queer parades, religious rallies and carnivals, the street and truck art, and the characteristic palette of bright shades get captured with vitality and vividness by cinematographer Nicolas Canniccioni, with Nathania Pericles's production design bringing authenticity and character to the place. Marie Madeleine immerses the viewer into the everyday sights and sounds of Haiti and also makes us come face to face with its political, economic, and social realities, its dysfunctional and corrupt bureaucracy and police, its beliefs and superstitions.

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

Film: Marie Madeleine

Sensuous and tactile, the film pushes the envelope when it comes to the visuals and image-making. For instance, the sense of place in the film pivots on the church and the brothel, interestingly placed right across each other. Only here is it the cloistered church that traps, limits, and intimidates, while the open brothel is all about homecoming that is welcoming and healing. Not just the story and direction, Geneus also brings a great sense of empathy to the film with her candid and flamboyant interpretation of the titular character. You don't just admire Madeleine for her strength and resolve but also feel for her predicaments and vulnerabilities and fall for her easy charm. Monteau is as effortlessly convincing in his repressions, the many interiorities and inhibitions. The two characters (like the church-brothel divide) also help frame the film from conflicting points of view—the sacred and the profane, the righteous and the amoral, the upright and the sinful. However, Geneus uses the polarising device in both cases to turn things upside down, imbuing the disreputable with compassion and high-mindedness with cruelty. How far can religion be allowed to intrude in and determine our identity, sexual orientation, and personal relationships?

The finale plays out as a needless tearjerker and eventually lessens the impact than leaving with a high. However, in the queerest ever Cannes, Geneus's critique of otherising, fanaticism, bigotry and intolerance is aptly loud and clear and universally resonant. It is also poised and elegant in its implicit call for harmony and peaceful co-existence.

Balaramana Dinagalu locks release date

CE FEATURES

NEARLY two decades after Aa Dinagalu became a defining chapter in Kannada cinema's underworld storytelling, director KM Chaitanya is returning to the streets and shadows that once captivated audiences. His latest film, Balaramana Dinagalu, is set for a worldwide theatrical release on June 26.

Adding momentum to the project is KVN Productions, which has stepped in to distribute the film, lending strong backing to the Vinod Prabhakar-starrer as it gears up for release. Rather than revisiting old memories, Balaramana Dinagalu expands the world of Aa Dinagalu through a fresh perspective. Set in Bengaluru of the 1980s and inspired by real incidents, the film follows Balarama, played by Vinod Prabhakar, navigating a city shaped by crime, power struggles, and survival. For Chaitanya, the film marks a return to the gritty storytelling terrain that earned him both critical acclaim and a loyal following.

Produced by Padmavathi Jayaram and Shreyas under the Padmavathi Films banner, the film has quietly built curiosity through its promotional material. The teaser and two songs released so far hint at a raw period crime drama while presenting Vinod in what appears to be one of his most intense screen outings in recent years. Priya Anand, who has worked in Rajakumara, James, and Orange, will star alongside Vinod in the film, which also features Atul Kulkarni, Sharath Lohitashwa, Ashish Vidyarthi, and Bigg Boss fame Vinay Gowda in pivotal roles.

The film brings together an interesting technical team, with Santhosh Narayanan composing music for a KM Chaitanya film for the first time, while cinematographer H C Venu and editor Haridas handle the visual and editing departments.

Sydney Sweeney takes on a new role

CE FEATURES

SYDNEY Sweeney, known for Emmy-nominated performances in the television series Euphoria and The White Lotus, has launched her own production company, Honey Trap. Her production banner has secured a first-look deal with Sony Pictures. Kaylee McGregor, Sweeney's longtime creative collaborator, will serve as president of production and development at the company.

The actor is already developing several projects with Sony. Among them is TriStar Pictures' remake of Barbarella, which will be directed by Edgar Wright. The film is based on Jean-Claude Forest's French comic book series and follows the 1968 cult classic that starred Jane Fonda. The screenplay is being written by Jane Goldman and Honey Ross. Sweeney recently featured alongside Amanda Seyfried in The Housemaid. She is set to reprise her role opposite Kirsten Dunst in the sequel, The Housemaid's Secret.

Ajay Devgn's Drishyam 3 wraps filming

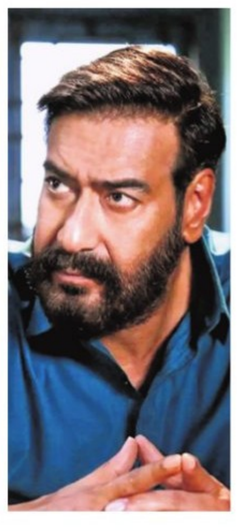
CE FEATURES

ON Monday, Abhishek Pathak, director of Ajay Devgn's Drishyam 3, penned a heartwarming note, marking the completion of the final schedule of their film's shoot. The thriller is now scheduled for a theatrical release on October 2.

The cast of Drishyam 3 also includes Tabu, Shriya Saran, Rajat Kapoor, Ishita Dutta, and Mrunal Jadhav. Jaideep Ahlawat and Prakash Raj join the franchise in addition. Besides directing, Abhishek has also written the film along with Aamil Keeyan Khan and Parvez Shaikh, and produced the film with Alok Jain, Ajit Andhare and Kumar Mangat Pathak.

Interestingly, the third entry of the original Malayalam franchise starring Mohanlal, Meena, Ansiba Hassan, and Esther Anil, released on May 21 and became a commercial success. It became the highest-grossing installment in the franchise and one of the highest-grossing Malayalam films ever made.



'KARNATAKA'S EDUCATION POWERHOUSES'

Tradition of Excellence, Culture of Innovation

NATION BUILDING THROUGH EDUCATION

The National Education Society Of Karnataka Saga

Preamble

Driven by a profound vision to empower society through education, philanthropists Ramachandra Scindhia and MK Narasimhaiah founded the National Education Society of Mysore (NESM) in 1917, which later became the National Education Society of Karnataka (NESK) in 1973 following the renaming of the State of Mysore as Karnataka.

The NES first established the National High School at Tharagupet, Bengaluru, in 1917, which was shifted to Basavanagudi in 1918 under the inspiration and guidance of Annie Besant. The noble mission of delivering quality education to students from every section of society was passionately nurtured and strengthened by visionary educationists such as Kalyana Sundaram, Sampath Giri Rao, SS Bhatt, DG Rangachari, and KCV Krishna Rao, who viewed education as a powerful instrument for social upliftment, character-building, and national progress.

The NES has been led by towering visionaries and distinguished educationists including Krishna Iyengar, BK Garudachar, H Narasimhaiah (popularly known as HN), AH Rama Rao, and HN Subramanya, whose leadership shaped the institution's enduring legacy.

Basavanagudi Campus

In commemoration of the Silver Jubilee celebrations of the National High School in 1944, the NES established National College Basavanagudi (NCB) in 1945 with Sampath Giri Rao as its founding Principal. NCB subsequently emerged as a premier educational centre that initially offered admissions exclusively to boys.

HN, who studied at National High School and obtained his Master's degree from Central College, served NCB as a lecturer from 1946 to 1957. After obtaining his PhD from Ohio State University, he served as the Principal of NCB from 1961 to 1972. During this period, HN founded the Bangalore Science Forum, which continues to conduct weekly public lectures on science-related topics, and also extended admissions to girls.

A staunch advocate of meritocracy, HN strongly believed in merit-based admissions and envisioned the campus as a cradle of excellence in academics as well as extracurricular pursuits.

The NES established the National PU College Basavanagudi in 1951 to extend academic excellence to the pre-university level.

Jayanagar Campus

With the unprecedented surge in demand for admissions at NCB, HN convinced the NES to establish National College Jayanagar (NCJ) in 1965. The demand for admissions at both NCB and NCJ became so extraordinary that police assistance was often required to regulate the massive crowds. Demand far exceeded the available seats, and several highly meritorious students — including those scoring as high as 98% — could not secure admission.

HN became the President of NES in 1977 after serving as the Vice-Chancellor of Bangalore University from 1973 to 1977. During his tenure as President, the NES bifurcated the National PU College Jayanagar in 2001 and developed NCJ parallel to NCB in quality, accessibility, and university ranks.

Dr H NARASIMHAIAH
Founder

Indeed, HN's life became a timeless inspiration to generations, proving that true greatness lies not in status or wealth, but in character, humility, courage, and service to society.

Dr. HN National College of Engineering

HN firmly believed that Science and Mathematics were inseparable pillars of human progress. Guided by this philosophy, he remained cautious about establishing an engineering institution during his lifetime.

Recognizing the changing educational paradigms and the growing interconnection between science and engineering, the NES established Dr. HN National College of Engineering (HNNCE) in 2024 in his revered name. The institution stands as a tribute to immortalize the visionary ideals, values, and extraordinary educational legacy of HN.

With this pioneering initiative, the NES now proudly runs 22 institutions — 11 in Bengaluru and the remaining in rural Karnataka.

The present management of NES firmly believes that merit alone should remain the defining criterion for admissions to HNNCE. To make education accessible to poor and deserving meritorious students, the NES has instituted several scholarships and awards in the names of eminent personalities who contributed to the growth and success of NES group institutions.

NES Management

The present management of NES has been working tirelessly to continue its enduring legacy of excellence amidst growing competition. It fully recognizes that this remarkable journey has been possible only through the unwavering trust, relentless efforts, and enduring support of its stakeholders. The management continues to focus on:

- Academic excellence and institutional leadership through meritocracy
- Student success and well-being
- Financial sustainability and effective resource management

The management gratefully remembers and acknowledges its generations of distinguished alumni such as HD Kumaraswamy, Tejasvi Surya, EAS Prasanna, Anil Kumble, AS Kiran Kumar, TG Sitharam, Vishnuvardhan, Ramesh Arvind, and many others who have excelled across public life, administration, science, sports, arts, and leadership.

The NES also acknowledges the commitment and contributions of its students, parents, faculty, staff, alumni, patrons, and well-wishers, whose collective efforts have played a defining role in building institutions that continue to shape minds, inspire excellence, and serve society with distinction.

The able leadership of Dr. Subramanya, Secretaries Venkatasiva Reddy and Arun Kumar, along with other office bearers, has ushered in a new era of institutional transformation by streamlining administration, strengthening leadership, and bringing greater organizational discipline. Guided by the timeless vision of HN, the management aspires to uphold and expand this extraordinary legacy and take its institutions to even greater heights of excellence and national prominence.

The NES looks forward to restoring the legacy where admission is earned, not offered.

"Hearing Hope : Dr. S.R. Chandrasekhar Institute 49 Years Of Service"

D.R. Chandrasekhar Institute of Speech and Hearing (Dr.SRCISH) is among the leading clinical and academic institutes in India. Established in 1977, Dr.SRCISH has been dedicated to providing services to individuals with communication disabilities, including patients with hearing impairment, voice disorders, stuttering, cleft lip, cerebral palsy, mental retardation, learning disabilities, autism spectrum disorders, and post stroke communication disorders.

In addition to clinical services, DrSRCISH has also taken on the responsibility of manpower development by training professionals in the field of speech, language, and hearing sciences.

The areas of Speech Language Pathology (SLP), Audiology (Aud), and Special Education are rapidly emerging as careers of choice for students seeking challenging and rewarding paths as Speech and Language Pathologists, Audiologists, or Special Educators for children with hear ing impairment.

Dr. S. R. Chandrasekhar Institute-College of Speech and Hearing conducts UG, PG, and Diploma courses recognised by RCI, as well as Ph.D. programmes in the field of Speech and Hearing. Over the years, the Bangalore Speech and Hearing Trust has formed four units to meet its mission and objectives:

1. Dr. S.R Chandrasekhar Institute of Speech and Hearing
2. Dr. S.R Chandrasekhar Institute of Speech and Hearing College
3. Sunaad School for the Hearing Impaired
4. Bangalore Speech and Hearing Research Foundation (BSHRF)

FOUNDER

Dr.SR. Chandrasekhar, a highly reputed ENT surgeon in Bangalore, was born on 5th October 1930 in Mysore. He completed his early education in Bangalore and obtained his medical degree from Madras Medical College in 1956. He later pursued higher studies in England, becoming a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons (FRCS) in 1960 specialising in ENT Retuning to india in 1961 he served as Professor and HOD of ENT at Hubli Medical College Bangalore Medical College, and St John's Medical College

Doctoral Programmes

The college is currently accepting applications for Ph.D. Programs in Audiology and Ph.D. Programs in Speech Language Pathology, affiliated with Bengaluru North University.

BSHRF has partnered with the Center of Doctoral Studies, MAHE, Manipal, to offer a joint Ph.D. Program. Since 2018, BSHRF has been recognised as a Research Centre for the doctoral program by the Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE).

AImost 5 decades ago, in the mid 1970's Dr. S. R. Chandrasekhar, an eminent ENT specialist in Bangalore (Patron in Chief of the Institute) realised the travails faced by parents of children with communication disabilities in availing services. Then, the only recourse was the All India Institute of Speech and Hearing which was not easily acces sible in terms of travel and stay as parents had to spend some days to get their child evaluated. However, there wasn't a miracle cure then as well as now. The child has to undergo long time training following diagnosis. In some cases, there may be a need for schools specially equipped to handle children with disabilities, called "special schools" which are few and far between.

Hearing impairment is a hidden disability and as such was not getting identified early leading to poor language development and further hindering schooling and integration into society. As an ENT, Dr. S.R. Chandrasekhar realized that there were large number of children who need easy access to testing and rehabilitation during the many screening camps that were held in and around the city In order to bridge this gap, he envisaged a clinical facility fitted with state of art technology and competent clinicians who would fill the lacunae in serv ices to the needy Thus the Institute came into being under the aegis of the Bangalore speech and Hearing trust A project by Lions' club of Bangalore East) in 1977. Over the last five decades, our services have multiplied and currently meet the standard of care prescribed for individuals with disabilities across the world.

The Sunaad school for the hearing impaired was started in 1988 as solace to the parents facing extreme difficulties in finding schools to admit their children. A training program for empowering teachers was the first academic course to be initiated by the Institute Diploma in Education of the Deaf (1987). Currently we run one Diploma in Special Education (Hearing Impaired), UG (Bachelors in Audiology and Speech Language Pathology). 2 PG (M.Sc Audiology), M. Sc (Speech Language Pathology), One Post Graduate Diploma in Auditory Verbal Therapy courses recognized by Rehabilitation Council of India (RCI). Recently we have obtained permission from Bangalore North University (BNU) to run the Doctoral program in Audiology and UG courses (B. Sc Psychology), (B. Se Rehabilitation Science). The quality of our academic programs is evident by the B++ grading obtained through NAAC in 2022. Currently we have more than 1688 graduates who fly our flag high at various positions across the world as researchers, professors and clinicians.

The clinical services offered are under the ambit of three departments, that of Hearing Studies, Speech-Language Studies and Psychology On an average 5,000 people utilize all the Clinical services in every month. Over the years these have served Approx 5 Lakhs people with disabilities. Comprehensive audiological and vestibular assess-ments and multiple rehabilitation options ranging from manual communication to fully oral communication methods are offered by the Department of Hearing Studies through the units of Sign Lan-guage, MTC, AVT. A plethora of Speech and Language related issues across the age span are han-dled by the Department of Speech-Language Studies. A well-equipped Voice clinic and Dysphagia clinic are the most sought after The Depart-ment of Psychology offers assessments and treatments for children with Intellectual disabilities, Learning Disabilities, children on the autistic spectrum as well as adults with mental health issues.

Our strength also lies in the fact that we have a very focussed community presence, free as well as paid screening camps are conducted regularly for all age groups. Keeping in mind that early identifi cation is the key to successful integration, the Institute partners with several hospitals for carrying out neonatal hearing screening. Our MOU with Swami Vivekananda Integrated Rural Health Centre, Pavagada, Tumkur District has helped us reach more than 1409 people screened, 138 No's hearing aid issued. Our association with Sri. Madhusudan Sai hospital, Muddenahalli, Dist, Chikkaballapur has helped us reach more than 864 people through screening and 614 Nos. of hearing aids have been distributed over the last year

The Institute constantly strives to upgrade it's facilities and tries to fulfil it's vision of providing "A world without activity limitations for persons with communication disorders". We consider raising awareness about communication disorders, of-fering clinical services that are world class, empowering families with a well designed support system, developing competent, ethical and caring human resources as well as conducting cutting edge re-search to realize our vision are our stepping stones towards achieving the vision of DR. S. R. Chandrasekhar Institute of speech and hearing.

For nearly five decades, a quiet revolution in human connection has been unfolding on Hennur Main Road. Since its founding in 1977, the Dr. S. R. Chandrasekhar Institute of Speech and Hearing (Dr. SRCISH) has evolved from a grassroots initiative into one of India's most vital lifelines for those navigating the complexities of communication disabilities.A Legacy of Voices RestoredWalking through the corridors of the institute, the sounds of progress are everywhere: the rhythmic repetition of a child overcoming a stutter, the focused silence of an audiology booth, and the laughter of a stroke survivor regaining their words. Dr. SRCISH has built a reputation for treating the "invisible" struggles—conditions like autism, cleft lip, and cerebral palsy—that often leave individuals feeling isolated from society.

"Communication is the essence of being human," says onelong-time staff member. "When we help someone speak or hear, we aren't just treating a symptom; we are giving them back their seat at the table."Beyond Clinical Care While its clinical work is legendary—earning the institution the State Award for Best Institution and the prestigious Chanakya Award—Dr. SRCISH is equally focused on the future. Through its affiliation with Bangalore North University, the institute is training the next generation of specialists.With programs ranging from undergraduate degrees in Psychology and BASLP to advanced PhD research, the campus serves as a high-tech laboratory for rehabilitation science. This dual focus ensures that while today's patients receive world-class care, tomorrow's practitioners are equipped with the latest diagnostic tools.

M. S. Engineering College Focuses on Technical Excellence, Industry Readiness and Life Skills

Engineering education today increasingly requires institutions to move beyond conventional classroom instruction and prepare students for rapidly evolving professional environments. At M. S. Engineering College, Bengaluru, the emphasis extends beyond academics to include industry readiness, innovation, leadership development and life skills.

Speaking about the institution's approach, Principal Dr. N. Rana Pratap Reddy says the college follows a framework built around four pillars - knowledge, skills, communication and leadership - while simultaneously strengthening students' ability to navigate life beyond technical education.

Located near Kempegowda International Airport Road at Sadahalli Gate, Navarathna Agrahara, M. S. Engineering College aims to combine engineering education with broader developmental goals that prepare students for both professional and personal growth.

Late K.Muniswamy Raju, Chief Patron

Beyond Conventional Technical Education

According to the principal, engineering education today requires more than subject expertise. The college places significant emphasis on life skills alongside technical training.

Dr. Reddy notes that many students entering higher education face challenges extending beyond academics, including adaptability, resilience and decision-making abilities. The institution's educational philosophy attempts to address these dimensions through a structured approach that combines classroom learning with broader developmental exposure.

Leadership training and communication development form part of this framework, alongside technical competency.

The institution also incorporates case studies of leaders from industry, society and other fields into student engagement activities. Through seminars and structured interactions, students are encouraged to understand leadership journeys and apply relevant lessons within their own educational and professional pathways.

Infrastructure Aligned with Industry Needs

The college says its infrastructure is designed to align with present-day educational and corporate requirements.

Laboratories, computational facilities and research infrastructure form part of the institutional ecosystem supporting engineering education across disciplines. According to the administration, advanced requirements that extend beyond campus capabilities are supplemented through collaborations with research organisations and industrial laboratories.

The objective, Dr. Reddy says, is to ensure students are not limited in exposure when engaging with emerging technologies or advanced research environments.

Industry Collaborations and Practical Exposure

Industry engagement remains another component of the institution's academic framework.

The college has collaborations with organisations across technology and industrial sectors, including Philips, Cisco, General Electric, cybersecurity companies and multiple IT firms.

These partnerships are intended to strengthen practical learning opportunities and improve industry exposure.

The institution also encourages students to engage with real-world challenges linked to broader societal issues. Dr. Reddy points to initiatives aligned with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals as examples of interdisciplinary problem-solving approaches.

Students are encouraged to work on challenges that involve engagement with industries, hospitals, biomedical organisations and corporate institutions. The underlying objective is to build problem-solving abilities that remain relevant across multiple employment sectors.

Bridging Industry Gaps Through Value Addition Programmes

The emergence of Artificial Intelligence and rapidly changing technological requirements continues to reshape engineering education across India.

Dr. Reddy believes conventional university curricula often face structural limitations because affiliated universities must design academic frameworks suitable for institutions with varying student profiles and learning capacities.

To address this gap, M. S. Engineering College has introduced value addition programmes aimed at strengthening industry readiness.

Emerging technology areas such as Generative AI, Large Language Models and Large Vision Models form part of these initiatives.

Faculty members undergo training through NPTEL programmes offered by premier institutions such as IITs and IISc. Based on these learnings, specialised modules ranging from 30 to 40 hours are designed and delivered.

Industry experts are also invited wherever required to supplement faculty-led sessions.

The institution says these programmes aim to create practical exposure through hands-on learning experiences that complement conventional academic instruction.

Innovation and Centres of Excellence

Innovation initiatives form another key area of institutional focus. The college has developed Centres of Excellence in domains including Generative AI, Cybersecurity, innovation and sustainable development.

Students are encouraged to begin innovation-oriented thinking early during their academic journey.

With design thinking increasingly becoming part of engineering education frameworks, students are encouraged to identify societal challenges, study field-level problems, engage with professionals and develop workable technological solutions.

Faculty mentorship supports this process, helping students convert conceptual ideas into practical applications.

According to Dr. Reddy, this approach seeks to move learning beyond theoretical understanding and into solution-oriented thinking.

Startup Ecosystem and Entrepreneurship Support

Entrepreneurship development also forms part of the college ecosystem.

The institution has created incubation facilities aimed at supporting entrepreneurial initiatives, including ventures developed by alumni.

Graduates building startups are provided infrastructure support and institutional space to continue developing products and ideas.

The incubation environment also creates opportunities for interaction between startup founders and students.

According to the administration, this ecosystem enables practical exposure while creating pathways for internships, mentoring and employment opportunities.

Programmes Across Emerging and Core Engineering Domains Academic offerings at the institution cover both emerging technology disciplines and traditional engineering streams.

Programmes are offered in Artificial Intelligence, Machine Learning, Data Science, Cybersecurity, Information Science, Computer Science and Electronics. The institution also continues to maintain focus on core engineering disciplines such as Mechanical Engineering.

The approach reflects an attempt to balance rapidly evolving technological demands with foundational engineering education.

Leadership, Life Skills and Long-Term Development

With 37 years of academic experience, Dr. Reddy says M. S. Engineering College focuses on combining technical education, leadership and life skills to prepare students for careers and meaningful lives.

Vemana Institute of Technology: Celebrating Over Two Decades of Innovation, Academic Brilliance, and Entrepreneurial Spirit

Located in the heart of Bengaluru's bustling tech hub of Koramangala, Vemana Institute of Technology (Vemana IT) continues to establish its legacy as a formidable powerhouse of technical education, research, and enterprise. Established in 1999 under the stewardship of the Karnataka ReddyJana Sangha (KRJS), the premier institute has spent over twenty-five years shaping the future of engineering in India. Named after the revered philosopher, saint, and social reformer "Dharshanika Mahayogi Vemana," whose straight-forward Telugu poems continue to offer timeless wisdom, the institute blends profound moral values with cutting-edge academic excellence.

A Foundation Rooted in Regulatory and Academic Excellence

Vemana IT is fully approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) in New Delhi, affiliated to Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) Belagavi, and recognized by the Government of Karnataka. The institution also holds the prestigious distinction of being recognized under Section 2(f) of the University Grants Commission (UGC) Act, 1956. Highlighting its commitment to strict educational benchmarks, the National Board of Accreditation (NBA) has accredited its core flagship undergraduate programs: Computer Science & Engineering, Information Science & Engineering, and Electronics & Communication Engineering twice.

Adapting continuously to the rapidly shifting industrial landscape, the college offers a diverse range of Bachelor of Engineering (B.E.) programs. Beyond the conventional engineering streams of Civil and Mechanical Engineering, the institute has introduced highly sought-after contemporary programs, including Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning (AI & ML), Computer Science & Engineering with a specialization in Data Science, and Computer Science & Engineering focusing on Cyber Security.

Pushing Boundaries Through Indigenous Research and Labs

Vemana IT truly distinguishes itself from its peers is its robust research ecosystem and state-of-the-art laboratory infrastructure. The college boasts dedicated Research and Development Centers across Mechanical, Computer Science, and Electronics domains, Engineering Mathematics, Engineering Chemistry, Engineering Physics covering advanced themes such as composite materials, low and high-velocity impact engineering, alternate fuels, image processing, internet of things (IoT), and differential geometry.

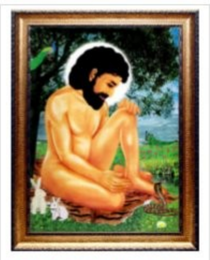
Remarkably, the institution features indigenously designed and developed test facilities that rival national laboratories. These include a custom-built Drop Weight Testing Machine, a Ballistic Impact Test Facility, and a highly advanced Split Hopkinson Pressure Bar. The precision of these systems was showcased on a national stage during the IMTEX 2026 exhibition, where Vemana IT's indigenously designed pressure bar qualified for the 5th place among 35 competing engineering institutions across India.

Further to augment practical engineering skills, established the specialized Texas Instruments Lab, a designated 3D Printing Lab, and a modern PCB & IoT Lab. Recognizing the automotive transition toward sustainability, the college also hosts an advanced Electric Vehicle Lab sponsored by Lucite technologies Private Limited, allowing students to design, simulate, and develop future-ready zero-emission technologies.

An Award-Winning Entrepreneurial Hub and Satellite Center

Innovation at Vemana IT seamlessly bridges the gap between academic theory and economic enterprise. Established in December 2018, the MSME-Vemana Business Incubation Center serves as an official Host Institute approved by the Ministry of Micro, Small & Medium Enterprises, Government of India. The incubator's profound impact on fostering localized entrepreneurship was recognized nationally when it won "The Best Incubator" award at the National MSME Awards 2024, presented at the Capitol Hotel by the Global Council for the Promotion of International Trade (GCPIT) and the Confederation of Indian MSMEs (CI-MSME).

The institution's active Startup Cell currently nurtures a dynamic portfolio of specialized deep-tech firms. Notable among these are Lakshya Space LLP, specializing in aerospace and advanced drone development; Scientegral Labs, focusing on automated healthcare systems; Texnotrait Private Limited, working with ChatGPT implementations, conversational bots, and neural networks; Svadharma Social Innovations; Unplex, developing advanced 3D printing control systems; and Zyntricarobotics, driving breakthroughs in autonomous robotics. Among the student innovations currently drawing industry interest are functional E-Bike conversion kits, a smart solid rocket engine, and automated pest control drone applications designed specifically to boost yield in regional areca nut farms.



Dharshanika Mahayogi Vemana

Simultaneously, the college has looked toward the stars by setting up the Vemana Student Satellite Development Center. Through a landmark Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) signed with the Indian Technology Congress Association (ITCA), the center is actively overseeing the localized design, development, and eventual launch of the proprietary Vemana Reddy Student Satellite. To broaden operational horizons, the institute has built strategic partnerships and MoUs with major organizations including MathWorks, Greeves Automotives, the Drone Federation of India, Grid R&D, and the Karnataka State Council for Science and Technology (KSCST).

Multi-Disciplinary Industry-Academia Global Synergies

The college maintains strong consulting and advisory linkages with both industrial corporations and premium academic institutes. Vemana IT faculty and researchers provide engineering solutions and testing services to corporate heavy weights like GE Health Care for X-ray casing testing, SYSCON Instruments for soil penetration validation, and FRESCO and Supram Industries for conceptual industrial design. On the academic front, collaborative consultancy services are routinely exchanged with premium elite institutions, including the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) Bangalore, National Institute of Technology (NIT) Surathkal, UVCE, BMS College of Engineering, IIIT Bangalore, and Vellore Institute of Technology.

Vibrant Leadership and Grassroots Social Impact

Student life at Vemana IT is remarkably lively and globally connected. The college retains institutional memberships with elite professional bodies like IEEE, ISTE, BITES, and Infosys Springboard. The IEEE Bangalore Section recently honored the campus with the "Outstanding Large Student Branch Award 2025" and the "Outstanding Student Branch Award 2025" for sustained leadership and impactful technical activities. The international status of the branch was highlighted during the high-profile IEEE STEM ON MOVE event, which featured the official launch of the global IEEE MOVE Climate Change Awareness Kit vehicle at the campus by the President-Elect of IEEE Global.

Beyond textbooks and technical forums, the student body is heavily invested in community development through its Social Corporate Responsibility (SCR) outreach initiatives. Programs such as the Gramina Vikasa Shikshana Abhiyan, Swachh Bharath cleanliness drives, and grassroots camps explaining the fundamentals of mathematics and science to underprivileged children demonstrate the college's deep civic commitment.

Concurrently, the campus boasts a decorated National Cadet Corps (NCC) platoon operating under the 39 Karnataka Infantry Battalion. The platoon was recognized as the "Best Institute" for consecutive training years by the NCC Battalion Karnataka and Goa Directorate. Boasting a 100% passing record in the challenging 'B' certificate examination, five elite cadets were selected to represent the institute at national-level camps.

Rounding out the holistic student experience are annual landmark celebrations, including the intercollegiate cultural festival "Vemanotsav" and the spirited annual athletic meet "Vemana Kreedotsav," which continue to serve as major platforms for artistic expression and sportsmanship across the state. As Vemana Institute of Technology charges ahead into the future, its powerful trifecta of rigorous academics, indigenous technological breakthrough, and deep-seated social conscience ensures it remains a definitive model of modern engineering education in India.
